HUGE POLICE ARMY AWES SUFFRAGETTES

British Capital's Whole Force Massed Against Them, Leaving City Unprotected.

LONDON GENUINELY ALARMED

Day of Window Smashing — Night Scene "Like Revolution"—Tree and Chained Woman Moved Together.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 5.—The suffragettes began at dawn yesterday a campaign of wanton outrage which was intended to culminate in a mighty demonstration in the evening in Parliament Square. This part of the plan proved a fiasco, but during the morning and afternoon groups of women broke windows in the Ministers' houses and shops throughout the West End and the House of Lords.

Practically the whole police force of London was mobilized in the evening to prevent the Parliament Square demonstration.

Uneasiness, not to say alarm, is growing through the metropolis. On every hand people are asking if the disorderly elements of this great city will not take advantage of the whole police force being occupied with the militant suffragettes.

Whole thoroughfares present evidence of the inability of the authorities to preserve law and order. An example of rioting and destruction has been set in a most obvious fashion. An incentive to looting on a grand scale is presented by the care with which any concerted scheme of destruction is carried out.

The increase of public uneasiness is shown by the fact that the Royal Academy's Winter exhibition has been closed and that the public was requested to leave the British Museum for fear of attacks upon the art and other treasures.

Like a City in Revolution.

The scene in the neighborhood of Parliament Square last evening was more suggestive of a city in the throes of revolution than the capital of a country with a constitution broadly based upon the people's will. Hundreds of policemen were massed around the Houses of Parliament. Double lines of foot and mounted men closed every approach. Every public building was surrounded by police. All the firemen in the district were called out.

Shop windows in the district were wired or boarded up. Every store in the Strand near Charing Cross was guarded by police.

Nor was the spectacle presented by the public less extraordinary. From 7 to 10 o'clock, when rain dispersed the crowds, an immense gathering of people filled the streets. Trafalgar Square was a huge sea of faces under the electric lights. People jolted each other in tens of thousands, swaying and surging in a great crowd or breaking into running groups, when the opportunity came. Every window was filled with spectators—a vast multitude of witnesses of the spectacle of some hundreds of women trying to make a revolution. It was not a revolution, but it looked not unlike one.

Call for Drastic Measures.

A serious view of the situation in respect to both coal strikers and suffragettes is reflected in a leader, entitled "This Hour of Lawlessness," in which The Times urges the application of the law of conspiracy to the ringleaders in the suffragette outrages, which are acts of violence, intended to intimidate society. The conspiracy law can reach those who behind the scenes plan and produce a fund for these demonstrations. It continues:

"Fundamental issues are at stake. The basis, legal and economic, of society is attacked, and it is becoming rapidly plain to the ordinary man that new measures of defense are needed to meet the new enemies.

"A bitter experience may be needed before society has the courage to do all that is needed, but these are times of education, as well as of unrest, and already some lessons have been learned."

The editorial proceeds to intimate that exceptional measures may be taken in respect to the coal strike and the whole question of trades unions, saying:

"Only the other day the House of Lords, in an interesting case as to the position of trades unions, pointed out that those whose rules were inextricably mixed up with provisions in restraint of trade were still illegal associations, except so far as was stated in the statute of 1871.

"There is no likelihood of Parliament going back upon what was done for the relief of trades unions in 1871 and 1876, but the whole subject assumes new aspects when organizations and funds are used to stop or paralyze the entire trade of the country, when crowds are made destitute, and when, as must happen, mortality and disease must increase.

"A part of our law which seemed likely to become obsolete acquires an importance such as it never before possessed. It may be necessary to recon-

ENGLAND'S MANY WORRIES.

Soft Shirts at Eton Added to Suffragette and Coal Strike Troubles.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 5.—What is England coming to? While the coal strike is bringing the country face to face with the gravest crisis it has seen since it waited for the landing of Napoleon's invading legions and the suffragettes are carrying on a campaign of destruction and outrage which has given to parts of London the appearance of a sacked city, several of the papers contain voluminous letters from correspondents who gravely discuss the question whether the Head Master of Eton has not imperiled all the traditions of that school by authorizing the boys to wear soft shirts.

PRIVATE BANKER IN TROUBLE.

Receiver Named for M. Rosett Following a Run on a Branch.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed in this city yesterday against Max Rosett, doing business as M. Rosett, private banker and steamship agent at 104 Liberty Street, with branches in Jersey City, Perth Amboy, Wilkesbarre, Penn., and Youngstown, Ohio. Judge Holt in the United States District Court appointed Joseph M. Conklin, a New Jersey bank examiner, receiver, with a bond of $25,000. The petitioners were depositors with claims for money deposited amounting to $1,535, and the cause of the bankruptcy was a run on the Perth Amboy branch last week. According to a statement made by Frederick Neuman, attorney for Mr. Rosett, last night the assets will exceed the liabilities by at least $192,000.

Rosett has been in business since 1879 and his bank was largely patronized by foreigners, principally Italians. He has been President at various times of the M. Rosett Realty Company of Perth Amboy, Automobile Repair Construction Company, Dorian Remountable Rim Company, and the North American Distilling Company.

Following the posting of a notice last night on the door of the Rosett Bank, at 197 Stanton Street, stating that the institution had passed into the hands of a United States receiver, a crowd of about fifty depositors congregated in the street in front of the building. Patrolman Dey of the Union Market Station, as a precautionary measure, sent in a call for reserve policemen. The crowd quietly dispersed.

BROKER, AIDING MULE, HURT.

Mr. Ballin Protects a Jaded Animal and Breaks an Arm.

Oscar E. Ballin of the brokerage firm of Kelly, Howell & Co., 35 Wall Street, who is a member of the Humane Society of New York, cut short his ride in Central Park yesterday afternoon when friends who encountered the broker as he was cantering through the Park on his polo pony told him they had observed a truck stalled in Columbus Circle, and that one of the pair of mules drawing it had a big sore on one shoulder, against which a heavy collar was pressing.

Mr. Ballin rode to the Circle, where he dismounted and gave his pony to a boy to hold, while he interviewed the truckman. At last he handed the man a summons to appear in court this morning, and, going back to his pony, mounted again. Just as he was settled in the saddle, the pony turned quickly, slipped on the wet asphalt pavement, and fell on its side, pinning Mr. Ballin beneath it.

Policemen McKeon and Allingham of Traffic Squad C ran toward Mr. Ballin, but before they reached him the pony scrambled to its feet, one of its hoofs striking Mr. Ballin in the face and cutting his forehead open. The broker was made unconscious by his fall and the pounding from the pony's hoof.

As the policemen picked him up, a chauffeur stopped his car and offered to take Mr. Ballin to Roosevelt Hospital, only a block away. The broker was hurried there. Dr. Potter examined him and found that Mr. Ballin, who is 55 years old, had concussion of the brain, a fracture of the right arm, and a severe scalp wound over his right eye. He said that his condition was dangerous, but that he probably would recover.

Mr. Ballin's first request when he regained consciousness in the hospital was that Louis J. Reckendorfer of 20 East Sixty-second Street be summoned, and when he arrived Mr. Ballin explained about the mule and the summons which he had given to its driver. His chief care was that some one should be present in court to press his complaint against the cruel driver, and Mr. Reckendorfer promised to attend to this.

GOV. TENER EARNED A TIP.

Got a Quarter for Mailing a Letter in Philadelphia.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—Gov. John K. Tener of Pennsylvania declares he is very much in favor of tipping. As proof the Governor has a new quarter he received to-day as a gratuity for carrying a letter from Coatesville to this city, where he mailed it.

The Governor passed through Coatesville this afternoon, and while the train stopped he went out on the platform of his private car. An aged man of Coatesville approached him and said:

"Say, boss, would you mind mailing this letter for me when you get to Philadelphia?"

"Certainly," answered the Governor, and as he reached out for the letter the anxious patriarch also slipped a quarter into his hand. The Governor pocketed both the letter and the quarter. As the train pulled out the man from Coatesville yelled to the Governor:

"You won't forget to mail that letter, will you?"

"You may be sure I won't," the Governor shouted back.

When Gov. Tener arrived here he called a messenger boy and sent him to the Post Office with the letter.

Gov. Tener upon his arrival here announced that he is prepared to work for the nomination of President Taft. He declared that much of the alleged Roosevelt enthusiasm simply is buncombe, worked up by the Colonel himself, and beneath the surface he can find very little demand for Roosevelt as President.

NEWBURG MAN DISAPPEARS.

E. O. Constable Wrote That He Would Never Be Heard From Again.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., March 4.—Edgar O. Constable, former President of the Newburg Auction Mart, has disappeared. He left a letter in which he says he will never be heard from again. His wife and two children live in Newburg.

The company has gone into bankruptcy, and the first examination of the insolvent concern was to have been held here tomorrow before Referee Arnold of Poughkeepsie. Constable had other business interests, to which he had been giving attention of late. He mailed the letter to his wife.

WOULD PUT NEW TAX ON ALL CITY HOTELS

Special Levy Also Proposed for Restaurants, Department Stores and Other Businesses.

THE CITY NEEDS THE MONEY

Mayor's Commission Discloses Its Plans for Raising Funds at a City Club Meeting.

A special tax on hotels, restaurants, theatres, department stores, retail liquor and cigar stores, as well as jewelry establishments, automobile salesrooms, and art stores will probably be suggested to Mayor Gaynor within the next few weeks by the Commission on New Sources of City Revenue, which the Mayor appointed last Autumn.

The commission consists of Edgar J. Levey, Chairman; Prof. Joseph French Johnson, William J. Schieffelin, F. S. Tomlin, and President Charles H. Strong of the City Club. It was appointed by the Mayor with the understanding that the personal property tax was a failure, and the real estate tax in the city had already become so high that it ought not to be increased.

The committee has been holding frequent meetings at the City Club since its appointment, and reached the conclusion that the safest and fairest way to increase the revenue of the city by taxation was to levy on whatever was dependent on its metropolitan environment for its profits.

"Whatever depends on its city environment for its profits ought to give the city part of these profits," the members of the commission decided.

After working out several methods of taxation along these lines, the commission held an open meeting last night at the City Club, at which all its tentative plans were submitted to the members of the club. It had plans for a "habitation tax" on city residents who pay $8,000 a year rent or over; an extended license tax, in which all the food-making licenses of the Health Department shall be centralized and extended, and an increased increment tax, property owners whose real estate goes up more than 6 per cent. in value per year, regardless of improvments, having to share some of this unearned increment with the city. It was the announcement of the plan to tax hotels, restaurants, and theatres, however, which caused the most stir.

"The city authorities feel that land in the city at the present time is sufficiently taxed already," said Mr. Levey, Chairman of the commission. "If the weight of taxation on the real estate owner is not lightened, at least it should not be increased. Nevertheless, the expenses of the city are increasing every year, according as it widens the scope of its public service.

"New sources of municipal revenue must be found. Our commission, when it was appointed last October and began to hold its meetings here quietly, felt at first that some tax should be imposed on outsiders who do business in the city and live and pay taxes elsewhere. We considered what we called a 'business occupancy' tax.

"But the trouble is with a general business occupancy tax that it will drive most businesses away from the city. We decided, therefore, to tax only such businesses as depended on the city environment for their profit. We think it would be wise to levy an additional tax on such businesses for two reasons, first, because they can't be driven away, and, second, because, since they depend on the city environment for their profits, they ought, in justice, share these profits with the city to which they owe them.

"Businesses which owe their profits to the city environment are the hotels, restaurants, theatres, department stores, retail liquor and cigar stores, jewelers, automobile salesrooms, and art stores. So our commission has practically decided to submit to Mayor Gaynor a recommendation that a special taxe be levied by the city on such enterprises in future."

"How big would the tax be?" asked one of the City Club members.

"I can't disclose the rates just now, but the tax wouldn't be oppressive. We don't want to hurt business," responded Mr. Levey.

"In order to make your tax fair you'll have to grade it, won't you? It wouldn't be fair to tax a hotel in Times Square as high as a hotel in the Bronx," the City Club member persisted.

Mr. Levey assured him that the tax would be graded according either to the rental or to the "assessed capital value" of the hotol.

Some of the City Club members remonstrated that such a tax would be put on the customers of the places and would thus have the effect of discouraging outsiders from coming to this city; but Mr. Levey didn't seem to think so.

Representative hotel, theatre, and department store proprietors were asked later what they thought of the new plan to levy an additional tax on them.

"The scheme is monstrous, unheard-of!" exclaimed James B. Regan of the Hotel Knickerbocker. "I pay $62,000 a year taxes on my building already. We hotelkeepers feel that our taxes have already reached the limit. If any additional burden is put upon us it is the public that will have to pay it in the end, and not the hotelkeepers."

WOMEN IN ANTI-FAT CONTEST.

Rival Walking Clubs in Race to Reduce Weight.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., March 4.—To reduce their weight a dozen prominent women of the village of Deep River have organized a club which will take long walks twice a week. The club has been divided into two sections under the leadership of captains, and at the end of six months the half dozen with the greater aggregate weight will have to give the other six a dinner.

Mrs. James H. Messenger, the wife of the pastor of the First Baptist Church, is the leader of one of the divisions, and Mrs. Ernest L. Prann is the rival captain. Both captains have mapped out a course of study of methods of dieting and expect to put their followers through some rigorous privations. The husbands are heartily in favor of the new organization. They think it will keep down the high cost of living.

ASYLUM HEAD NOW VIOLENT.

Sister Mary Regina Had Charge of Insane Patients 14 Years.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., March 4.—After managing an insane asylum fourteen years, Sister Mary Regina Kerr, in charge of Mercy Hospital, near here, suddenly became violent at the institution yesterday and attacked a woman attendant. The doors and windows were fastened at the time, and the combat between the two women was becoming serious, when the attendant succeded in unbolting the front door, admitting other employes.

Earlier in the day Sister Mary Regina had ordered all the attendants out, and when they returned they found the doors and windows barred. Sister Mary Regina was taken to a sanitarium at Council Bluffs, Iowa, last night. Her condition is attributed to overwork.

FIRES FOUR SHOTS AT L. DE ROTHSCHILD

WATCHMAN SHOT IN THROAT

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 4.—A determined attempt was made this afternoon to shoot Leopold de Rothschild as he was leaving the offices of the famous banking firm in St. Swithin's Lane. So far as known, the outrage was a purposeless one. His assailant gave his name at the police station as William Tibbitt.

Mr. de Rothschild gave the following story of the affair to a reporter of The Daily Mail:

"I intended going hunting to-day, but changed my mind because of the weather and went uptown in my big motor car. The day being finished, I set out again from the offices to return home by the car. The entrance to the new court is very narrow and the car has to slow down in going out. It was at that point that the attempt was made. The time was a few minutes after 5 o'clock.

"I heard a sudden bang and the window glass at my side was splintered. I took no particular heed of the report, and for the moment thought it was the engine. Then came a second quick report and I saw through the window a man close up to the side of the car, pointing his revolver at me.

"A boy sitting beside the chauffeur in the front of the car ducked down and I heard him call, 'He's trying to get at you, Sir.' Not until then, as the third report came, did I realize that I was being fired at. There was another shot and the window was broken again, but I was untouched.

"Numbers of people came running up as I got out of the car. A perfect stranger jumped at the man and seized him, while the newsboy, who always stands at the corner of the court, helped him. Unfortunately, Berg, the detective, who watches the entrance, was shot in the throat as he ran forward to give assistance.

"The whole affair was over so quickly that I find it difficult to tell how it all occurred. It was just a sudden happening of a few seconds. I know I was quite calm and undisturbed, but it was a most miraculous escape.

"We found afterward two bullet holes in the side window just by where I was sitting, and two other holes through the front glass, ahead of me, that showed it was providential that the boy sitting by the chauffeur ducked as he did, otherwise he must have been shot. The two bullets were discovered in the side of the car, flattened against the back somewhere.

"Really I cannot understand how I managed to escape unhurt. It is most miraculous.

"The man who fired the shots and was given into custody, is named William Tibbetts. He has never been in my employ, but I have known him since I was a boy and assisted him on occasions. I can give no suggestion why he should attempt my life."

After the shooting Mr. de Rothschild hastily left his car and went to the assistance of the wounded detective. The banker was perfectly cool and collected, and without even looking in the direction of the assailant, who had fled, helped the injured officer into the offices of the firm.

The assailant was finally captured by a brawny constable, who struck the fugitive a smashing blow in the face, knocked him down, and promptly pinned him to the ground.

MRS. JOSEPH DREXEL'S WILL.

Bequest to University of Pennsylvania for Care of Curio Collection.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—Contrary to expectations, Mrs. Joseph Drexel, who died a month ago, did not leave her valuable collection of curios, which she and her late husband had been collecting for the last forty years, to the University of Pennsylvania Museum, but instead left the museum $40,000 which is to be used to preserve the valuable curios Mrs. Drexel gave to the museum before her death.

After a few minor bequests Mrs. Drexel's entire estate, which is valued at more than a million dollars, is divided between her four daughters and their children. John Dahlgren, son of Mrs. Eric Dahlgren of New York, one of the daughters gets the family homestead at 1807 Pine Street with its contents among which is the Thorwaldsen "Venus" one of the most valuable pieces of statuary in this country.

Most of Mrs. Drexel's collection is at her country home, Pen Ryn, near Torresdale. This mansion with its contents goes to Mrs. Duncan Emmet of New York, another daughter. Mrs. Harry Lehr of New York and Mrs. Charles B. Penrose of this city, the remaining daughters are provided for in the balance of the estate.

READ OUT OF CHURCH AS HE SAT IN A PEW

Move to Recover Property and an Appeal to Bishop Greer Basis of Staten Island Church Row.

The Rev. Guy L. Wallis, Rector of St. Paul's Memorial Church, Staten Island, against whom a petition of St. Paul's communicants is in the hands of Bishop Greer, has done something never before done by a rector of New York. At a public religious service he read out a formal notice of excommunication, the member named himself being present in the congregation. The man put out was Edward Wanty, until recently a vestryman. The excommunication notice, read at the service on Sunday, is as follows:

> St. Paul's Rectory, Tompkinsville, N. Y.
> To Whom It May Concern:
>
> Inasmuch as it has become of common report and knowledge that Edward Wanty, by malice and hatred, has caused scandal within and without the parish and congregation of St. Paul's, Tompkinsville; the special deeds and words offending being as follows, to wit:
>
> 1. That he caused grave scandal to the faithful by offensive, abusive, and insulting language on the occasion of the annual parish meeting, held in the chapel on the first Monday in Advent, 1911.
>
> 2. That he has slandered and misrepresented the teaching of the priest of the congregation and practices of the settled rector of the parish; and
>
> 3. That he has vindictively and maliciously attempted to destroy quietness, peace, and love among Christian people by circulating a certain petition in and about the neighborhood;
>
> Wherefore the rector of St. Paul's Parish, acting within the canonical provision set forth and indicated in the second rubric precedent to the Order for the Administration of the Lord's Supper or Holy Communion in the Book of Common Prayer (Page 221 in the standard book, certified Dec. 3, 1892) does hereby formally and, by this instrument, judicially advertise the said Edward Wanty that "he presume not to come to the Lord's table until he shall have openly declared himself to have truly repented, that the congregation may thereby be satisfied, and that he hath recompensed the parties to whom he hath done wrong."
>
> Now, therefore, the aforesaid Edward Wanty is hereby formally declared excommunicate, and the faithful are referred to Article XXXIII. of the Articles of Religion, under the title "Of excommunicate persons, how they are to be avoided," which provides as follows:
>
> "That person which is rightly cut off from the unity of the Church and excommunicated ought to be taken of the whole multitude of the faithful as an heathen and publican until he be openly reconciled by penance, and received into the Church by a judge that hath authority thereunto."
>
> (Signed) GUY L. WALLIS,
> Second Sunday in Lent, 1912.

It is an unusual thing in these days, Episcopal rectors said yesterday, to excommunicate anybody, and especially to do so in public and from the chancel and without giving previous notice to the person to be so treated.

Edward Wanty is one of the most prominent citizens of Staten Island. Not long ago he was a Republican candidate for the State Legislature. He is a Royal Arcanum man, and member of a half dozen similar organizations on the island. Fellow members of these bodies are standing by him. The contention is over the ritualistic services maintained in St. Paul's Church by the new rector, and teachings by him that are, it is asserted, contrary to the constitution of the Episcopal Church of this country.

There is also a dispute over the title to the parish property. Mr. Wanty is not himself putting up the fight for the property. His wife and her sister are the heirs, and they and not he are contending, it is said, for a use of the property in accordance with the deed of gift. This deed of gift requires services to be conducted according to the Book of Common Prayer and the constitution of the Episcopal Church, and it is the contention of the heirs of the late Judge Ward and Mrs. Ward, the donors, that such requirements are violated.

There was presented to Bishop Greer a fortnight ago a petition signed by more than one hundred members of St. Paul's asking for the removal of the rector, and a formal presentment demanding his trial is to be presented before the end of this week. Failing action by Bishop Greer on tihs presentment, a suit at law will be instituted for the recovery of the property, the discharge of the Rev. Father Wallis and the re-conveyance of the property under new conditions.

Edward Wanty, the son-in-law, gets the brunt of the contention by being excommunicated. He was a former vestryman. It was said yesterday at Tompkinsville that two vestrymen only remain loyal to the Rev. Mr. Wallis. These are Col. Whistler and Charles S. Daley. Mr. Wanty said last night that he was not prepared to make a statement concerning his excommunication.

"I shall have something to say later on," he declared.

PEERS IN PRANKS AT DINNER.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 4.—Lord Herbert and Lord Tweedmouth won more fame as entertainers early this morning toward the conclusion of a polo dinner given by Lord Tweedmouth to all the polo players assembled at Coronado for the polo season. The players sat down to a dinner at the Hotel Coronado shortly before 9 o'clock last night and left the banquet room just before daybreak to-day.

The rain this morning prevented to-day's game, and all the players were glad. Lord Herbert danced jigs in the centre of the dinner table for nearly an hour. Then Walter Dupee offered to bet Lord Tweedmouth that he could not walk up or down the thirty steps leading to the hall on his hands. Tweedmouth promptly took the wager. Dupee wagered his favorite polo pony Dolly, which Tweedmouth has long coveted. For this the British Lord tried to mount the stairs on his hands and each time he failed. Then he went to the top of the flight and walked all the way down. Dupee gave up his pony for which Tweedmouth had offered any sum Dupee might ask.

Killed with a Corncob Pipe.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 4.—A corncob pipe proved to be a deadly weapon when used by one of the disputants in a card game last Thursday night. Tony Pitchen and Donata Lombardo were the disputants. Lombardo, who is under arrest, jabbed Pitchen in the cheek with the stem of his pipe. The injury did not seem serious at first, but it grew rapidly worse and last night Pitchen died. Lombardo is held on a charge of murder.

HOUND SAVES DAY FOR CLARK

Convention Was About to Go for Bryan When Stray Cur Stampeded It.

Special to The New York Times.

IOLA, Kan., March 4.—A sad-eyed stray hound saved the day for Champ Clark at the Allen County Democratic Convention here this afternoon. Delegates were about to be named to the State Convention at Hutchinson next week. There had been a spirited fight between the Wilson and Clark supporters all day, with the convention evenly divided.

A resolution to instruct the delegation for Clark was introduced, when F. R. Forrest, an orator with a State reputation, made an impassioned plea to substitute the name of Bryan for both Clark and Wilson. He swept the convention with his eloquence and the substitute was on the verge of carrying the day amid wild applause when in drifted the hound.

He got in the way and the crowd shoved and trampled on him, and, naturally, he yelped.

Somebody shouted, "You gotta quit kicking my dawg aroun'," and in less than a couple of minutes the delegates were stampeded and the rafters were ringing with the "houn' dawg" song. A motion was put to instruct the seven delegates for Clark and carried with a rousing cheer.

LIGHT FALL OF SNOW.

More, However, Is Promised for To-day by the Weather Man.

Swept in by the increasing wind and the afternoon's slight rise in temperature, snow came last night. It began to fall about 6 o'clock. At first it was only a few straggling flakes, but the fall increased as the evening advanced, and by the time the theatre crowds were starting for restaurant or home the streets were whitened by a covering of snow.

The forecast is for local snow to-day. It will be fair to-morrow. The temperature, which was 25 at 9 A. M., was 31 at 11 P. M. The maximum temperature was 33 degrees at 1:50 P. M.

SET FIRE TO HOUSE AND FLED

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 4.—Chester A. Stanton, Justice of the Peace of Wurtzboro, Sullivan County, until Jan. 1 last, drove his wife from the house at the point of a revolver at 6 o'clock to-night and setting fire to the dwelling in half a dozen places made his escape. The house was practically destroyed.

Posses are hunting for Stanton. He carries a revolver, and it is feared he may commit murder. Stanton has been worried over financial troubles. On Sunday his wife and fourteen-year-old son Philip visited friends, and when they returned this afternoon Stanton drove them away, and a few moments later smoke was seen coming from the house.

BENEDICT'S WELLS POLLUTED

A Greenwich Park Lake to be Drained for Commodore's Sake.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., March 4.—When Commodore E. C. Benedict started for his Amazon trip this Winter he gave directions that the source of the pollution of two artesian wells which he had sunk at great expense on his Indian Harbor estate be traced.

Health Officer Klein made an official report to-day to the Selectmen. He said that tests showed that the pollution came from one of the lakes in Bruce Memorial Park. It has been found that this lake filters through seams of rock into the artesian wells a half mile away, making the wells unfit for use. The Selectmen will probably have the lake drained, thus depriving the park of one of its most picturesque spots to allow the Commodore to use his wells.

15 IMPRISONED IN ELEVATOR.

Took Firemen Two Hours to Unroof the Car and Hoist Them Out.

Fifteen persons, including eight women, all employed by Brandenstein & Co., braid manufacturers of 106 Seventh Avenue, were imprisoned for two hours last night in the elevator, which went wrong on the tenth floor of the twelve-story building, and shot down until it became wedged between the first and second floors.

Charles Spooner, engineer of the building, heard the screams of the frightened women and went for the police of the West Twentieth Street Station. When they failed to release the encaged persons, firemen of Engine Company 18 were summoned, and soon they had torn away the iron netting about the shaft, ripped up the sheet iron roof of the car, and hoisted each of the unfortunates out on the second floor.

OPERA SINGER A SUICIDE.

Mrs. Josef Middecke, 48 years old, vocal teacher, and formerly an operatic soprano under Anton Seidl, committed suicide by shooting herself in the heart in bed in her apartment in the Hotel Orleans, at Columbus Avenue and Eightieth Street, early this morning.

Rudolph Middecke, her husband, was asleep in the same bed, and was awakened by the shot to find his wife dying. She lived only a few moments, and was dead when Dr. A. Leipsiger, the house physician, got to her room.

The Middeckes have a daughter, Margaret, 19 years old, who is with friends in Yonkers, N. Y. Mrs. Middecke, an unusually prepossessing woman, was suffering from nervousness and occasional spells of melancholia, brought on by overwork, her husband and friends said.

Mrs. Middecke was 48 years old, but she appeared to be very little more than 30, and although she had many young ladies among her pupils, to whom she taught singing, she managed to keep many concert engagements. Recently, however, she was obliged to cancel all her engagements on account of ill-health.

Mr. Middecke, who is an insurance broker in 80 Wall Street, said he asked where Margaret, his daughter, was when he returned home shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday, and was informed the girl was visiting friends in Yonkers. The police say the mother prevailed on the girl to make the visit, although the girl did not tell her father she planned to go.

NO ACCEPTANCE TALK IN ROOSEVELT LETTER

Colonel's Assertion That "Suppressed" Part Said He Would Take Nomination Is Disproved.

TO EDITOR VAN VALKENBURG

Full Text Contains Denial That Roosevelt Promised to Support Taft —Another Discouraged Boom.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The full text of the letter in which Col. Roosevelt, as recently as June 27, 1911, said that he "would not be a candidate in 1912," and had "no intention of taking any part in the nomination for or against any candidate," was published to-day in The Washington Star. It was written to E. A. Van Valkenburg, publisher of The Philadelphia North American.

The National Taft Headquarters also made public to-day a letter written by Mr. Roosevelt on Aug. 18, 1911, to A. P. Moore, publisher of The Pittsburgh Leader, asking him to cease advocating the nomination of Col. Rosevelt, as he would "esteem it a general calamity if such a movement were undertaken."

Part of the letter to Mr. Van Valkenburg was given out here yesterday and was published in this morning's papers. A copy of that extract was shown to Col. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay last night, and he said that "probably the language was not correctly given" and "cerainly all the context in which I said I would not refuse the nomination is suppressed." The "suppressed" part, however, does not substantiate the Colonel's charge. Nothing in the letter can be construed as saying that Mr. Roosevelt "would not refuse the nomination." He merely denies emphatically the report that he had promised to support President Taft for a second nomination.

Frank B. Noyes, referred to in the letter, is the publisher of The Washington Star and President of the Associated Press. McClatchy is a Director of that organization.

Here is the letter in full:

Roosevelt's Letter in Full.

June 27, 1911.

My dear Mr. Van Valkenburg: I am really obliged to you. Now, will you not give Mr. McClatchy from me a copy of this letter that I am writing to you, and also send a copy of the letter to Mr. Frank B. Noyes? Mr. Clatchy states that Mr. Noyes informed him, anent the story sent out by the "A. P.," that Mr. Roosevelt had pledged himself to support Taft for a second term; that he (Mr. Noyes) had the same information from sources entirely independent of those from which the Associated Press received the story.

Mr. Noyes states that he understood that I did so express myself to a member of the Cabinet and also to an insurgent Senator, and says that he believes that President Taft thinks that he has assurances of support from me. Mr. Noyes adds that he explains my denial on the theory that I had explained my attitude confidentially, and felt entitled to deny it when it was given publicity.

Will you tell Mr. McClatchy and Mr. Noyes from me (or send them copies of this letter) that Mr. Noyes is absolutely and completely misinformed, and that there is not one particle of truth in the statements made to him which he thus repeated to Mr. McClatchy. The only two members of the Cabinet to whom I have recently spoken are Messrs. Meyer and Stimson.

The former wrote to me and the latter informed me verbally, what in each case I knew already, that neither of them had made any such statement to Mr. Taft or to any one else, and that both of them understood perfectly clearly that I was not going to support any man for the nomination in 1912, neither Mr. Taft nor any one else. The insurgent Senator of whom Mr. Noyes speaks is as wholly mythical a character as the Cabinet Minister of whom he speaks.

Denies Promising to Aid Taft.

He cannot give the name of that insurgent Senator or find it out, for he will find that his informant will not give it. I made no such statement to any insurgent Senator or to any Cabinet Minister, or to any other human being.

The simple fact is that these stories are not misunderstandings, they are deliberate inventions. Mr. Noyes is entirely in error in stating that President Taft thinks he has assurances of support from me.

Mr. Taft thinks nothing of the kind. He knows he has no assurances of support from me; and neither Mr. Noyes nor any one else has one least particle of ground for the opinion thus expressed. I at first thought that the story in question was given out from the White House, but I am now assured that it was gotten up and given out by the Associated Press representative at the White House, and from Mr. Noyes's statement I should gather that this was true.

I wish Mr. Noyes, as President of The Associated Press, to know that the story was not a misunderstanding, was not based upon misinformation, but was a deliberate invention, made out of whole cloth, without one particle of basis beyond the imagination of the man who made it.

I have expressed myself perfectly freely to a large number of men in this matter, always to the same effect; telling you, for instance, personally, and those who were with you at lunch at my house, and telling Gifford Pinchot, Jim Garfield, and Representative Madison and Billy Loeb and Secretary Meyer and Secretary Stimson, all alike, just exactly what I have said always, that I would not be a candidate in 1912 myself, and that I had no intention of taking any part in the nomination for or against any candidate.

Sincerely yours,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

The letter to Mr. Moore follows:

Dear Mr. Moore: I very greatly appreciate your kind and friendly feelings, but I am sure you will understand me when I say that I must ask not only you, but every friend I have, to see to it that no movement whatever is made to bring me forward for the nomination in 1912.

I feel that I have a right to ask all my friends, if necessary, actively to work to prevent any such movement. I should esteem it a genuine calamity if such a movement were undertaken.

Again thanking you for what you have said, and, moreover, thanking you in advance for following my wishes in this matter, as I know you will do, I am, very sincerely,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

It is expected that more letters written by Col. Roosevelt will be given out from time to time as the Presidential campaign progresses.

VAN VALKENBURG DIDN'T TELL.

Sent Copies of Roosevelt Letter to Noyes and McClatchy.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—In reference to the Roosevelt letter, E. A. Van Valkenburg, editor and President of The North American, made the following statement to-night:

"Of course the letter was not made public by me. When Col. Roosevelt attended the Cardinal Gibbons celebration in Baltimore last Summer, the Associated Press sent out an inspired statement to the effect that Col. Roosevelt had positively pledged his support to Mr. Taft for a re-nomination. As a matter of routine news we printed this dispatch although I had personal knowledge that Col. Roosevelt's attitude must have been misrepresented.

"Much was made by the Taft managers of the supposed indorsement, and even his denial was met by the rejoinder that his assurance had been given privately and he was merely denying it for public effect.

"This led to my correspondence with him, which culminated in the letter of June 27. It will be observed that he denies the fake story, and asks that copies of his letter be sent to two Directors of The Associated Press for their information. His purpose was that they should have an official denial on record, from which they would issue a formal withdrawal of the fake yarn. I sent copies to Mr. McClatchy, requesting that he furnish one to Mr. Noyes. But no denial of the fake story ever was made by The Associated Press.

"Not only from his letter, but from conversations with Col. Roosevelt, I know that his communication accurately and sincerely set forth his attitude at that time, for I heard him repeatedly and emphatically urge friends to drop all talk of his possible candidacy and to use every effort to discourage such talk in their own circles.

"Moreover, I heard him speak in the same strain and with equal emphasis to political leaders in my presence—to men who could offer not merely sentimental support, but delegates to the National Convention. Col. Roosevelt was not a candidate for the nomination, and was opposed to all efforts to boom him. The countrywide demand that has arisen for his nomination has come in spite of him. Far from 'plotting' for it, he persistently discouraged all activity toward that end, and yielded only when the demand, rising in spite of his efforts to stop it, was too strong to be denied."

ROOSEVELT'S EXPLANATION.

Wrote Letter to Stop Report That He Was for Taft.

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., March 4.—Col. Roosevelt made public to-day a statement explaining the circumstances that led him to write a letter to E. A. Van Valkenburg of The Philadelphia North American on June 27, 1911, in which he said that he would not be a candidate for the nomination for President in 1912. The Colonel emphasized the fact that he had never pledged his support to President Taft, and asserts that he never assured any one that he would not accept the nomination himself if it was clearly demonstrated to him that there was a real demand for him to serve, which did not come from his personal friends.

Part of the letter was published in the newspapers this morning, and Col. Roosevelt demanded the full text before making an extended reply. The letter in full was published in to-day's afternoon papers, and was called to the attention of the Colonel at his home at Sagamore Hill. The Colonel paced up and down the room for several minutes. He showed by every gesture that he was considerably agitated by the attacks that have been made on him through the medium of the letter. Then he dictated this statement:

"At that time persistent efforts had been made from Washington to convince the Progressives that I was really supporting Mr. Taft. On this particular occasion the statement was made with the greatest explicitness. I promptly denied the statement, and was then assured on the one hand that it had been inspired from the White House, and assured on the other hand that it had not been, but on the contrary was made purely on the initiative of The Associated Press. The Associated Press people assured me that they were not responsible for the false statements, and, as it will be seen by reference to the letter itself, Mr. Noyes was quoted as having got the information from independent sources. I do not know who gave out this letter, but I am certain that it was not Mr. Van Valkenburg, for I know him to be an honorable man.

"To all who were at that time writing to me to ask me to be a candidate, I answered that I would not be. To all who then asked whether I would accept if nominated I answered yes, if I knew them sufficiently well to be sure that they would understand me. Otherwise I said simply that I would cross that bridge when I came to it, and in most cases, if the man was at all a close personal friend, I told him that I counted on his doing everything possible to prevent any movement looking to my nomination.

"It was not until the last three or four months that I was finally obliged to come to the conclusion that there was a real demand among the people as a whole for my nomination, which did not come in any way from any personal friends of mine, and was neither inspired nor engineered by them. When I became convinced that this popular demand was real and was considerable, and when the Governors of seven States, increased by this time to ten, I may mention incidentally, asked me whether I would accept if nominated, I answered yes. I added an expression of my wish that wherever possible open preferential Presidential primaries might be held, so as to find out whom the Republican voters wished to have nominated.

"If the people do not wish me to serve, most certainly I do not wish to serve. If they do desire me to undertake in their interest a great task, I shall do so, and shall perform it with whatever of courage and ability I possess. Whether there will be such an expression of the popular will I cannot say, as where there are no preferential primaries it unfortunately seems too often to be the case that the effort of the political leaders is not to give expression to the popular will, but to thwart it in every way possible."

DISPATCH ROOSEVELT DENIED.

Said That Taft Would Have the Colonel's Unqualified Indorsement.

This is The Associated Press dispatch which said that Col. Roosevelt would support President Taft for renomination:

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Taft in his candidacy for the Presidential nomination in 1912 will receive the unqualified indorsement of former President Theodore Roosevelt, which will be given as cordially as it was prior to the campaign of 1908. This is the best political news Mr. Taft has received in many months, and it comes to him in a manner that leaves no doubt as to its authenticity.

The information that Col. Roosevelt under no circumstances will allow his own name to be presented to the Republican National Convention was conveyed to the White House several days ago, but it did not become known until to-night. That Col. Roosevelt feels that the Taft Administration should be continued was brought out partly as the result of a cordial greeting between the two at Cardinal Gibbons's Jubilee in Baltimore to-day. Whether the Roosevelt approval of Mr. Taft's candidacy will go far enough to take the former President into the campaign as an active stump speaker is problematical, but that the force of his personality will be with the President is assured. This fact is not expected to prove pleasing to Republicans who have made no secret of their desire to bring Col. Roosevelt forward as a formidable rival for the 1912 nomination.

Many of these Republicans, no doubt, will refuse to abandon hope until Col. Roosevelt himself, in a quoted statement, announces his position and thus breaks the silence concerning the administration which he has maintained since landing in New York on his return from Africa.

The information that Col. Roosevelt would be found aligned with the President, rather than against him, was brought directly to Mr. Taft from Mr. Roosevelt by a mutual friend high in official life, who was connected with both the Roosevelt and Taft administrations in a capacity that enabled him to gain and retain not only the confidence, but the personal friendships of both men.

The meeting at Baltimore between the President and Mr. Roosevelt was only incidental to the celebration of the Cardinal's jubilee, but it was a contact that awakened the political interest of the Senators and Congressmen and others in official life who saw the two men together. They met first in the reception room in the Fifth Regiment Armory, where the jubilee celebration was held.

They talked together there for ten minutes. They shook hands with old friends; they chatted, laughed, and behaved just as they used to do when Mr. Roosevelt was in the White House and Mr. Taft was Secretary of War. They carried the spirit of friendship up to the platform, and, sitting side by side, they conversed in undertones through much of the afternoon.

Mr. Roosevelt was glad also to see Uncle Joe Cannon; he shook hands heartily with Vice President Sherman; he expressed the greatest pleasure at seeing Senator Penrose, and, of course, Senators Root and Lodge, both old friends, came in for the old-time affectionate greetings. Altogether the scene resembled an American love feast.

Mr. Roosevelt reached Baltimore before the President, and was waiting for him at the armory.

"Hello, Mr. President!" said he, in the high-pitched voice that Washington used to know so well. "I'm glad to see you. I want to inquire about Mrs. Taft."

"Hello, Theodore," replied the President. "How are you?" "Where's Archie?" inquired the Colonel a moment later, looking around for Major Butt, who was his personal aid in his White House days, and now aid to the President.

After he had spoken to Senator Root, been introduced to Secretary Hilles, and said some nice things about everybody in the party, he was taken aside by the President. The two men were together about ten minutes, beyond ear range of any other persons. Afterward it was said that they "talked about Mrs. Taft's health." The President invited the Colonel to come to Washington on June 9 to be his guest in the White House, at his silver wedding anniversary. Mr. Roosevelt said he would try to manage it. When the score or more Senators and Congressmen entered the reception room the conference was over.

After the meeting broke up both men walked over to congratulate Cardinal Gibbons. After he had shaken the prelate's hand, the President put out his hand to the Colonel.

"Good-bye, Theodore," said he. Then he leaned forward on Mr. Roosevelt's shoulder and whispered something. They both laughed and the meeting was over.

ROOSEVELT IS A JUROR.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., March 4.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt will make $3 a day and his mileage between Mineola and Oyster Bay this week acting as a juror in the Nassau County Supreme Court, Justice Putnam sitting. When his name was drawn as a juror the fact was regarded without seriousness, as he is exempt from duty on several counts, two of which are his service in the army and his duties as editor.

There was much astonishment, therefore, when he appeared to-day. He said he wished to take advantage of the opportunity to show respect to the courts. He was excused from duty until Wednesday, on account of pressing engagements, but on that day will return to serve out the ordinary time of a juror.

The Colonel arrived here by automobile shortly before the court opened in response to a summons. He was told that he might be excused from jury service if he desired.

"I am not asking any favors," said he. "I will serve if it is desired. They say I'm fighting the courts; I'll show them my obedience to the courts."

A court officer conducted the Colonel into the chamber of Justice Putnam, the presiding Judge. After talking with the Judge a few moments, Col. Roosevelt reentered the courtroom and took his seat with the other talesmen, sat idly for half an hour while the Grand Jury was charged and the court calendar called. The court then called out the names of jurors. Several of them made their excuses to the Judge.

When the first case was called Col. Roosevelt came forward and was excused until Wednesday, and left the Court House at once.

"So you're to be a juror, are you?" the Colonel was asked as he came out.

"I am a juror," he replied. "I have always believed in this sort of thing."

He said that he was not worried about the Presidential campaign—others were taking care of that, he added.

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., March 4.—Col. Roosevelt's only visitor after his return to Sagamore Hill from Mineola to-day was B. F. Harris of Champagne, Ill., President of the Illinois Bankers' Association. He lives in the home district of President Taft's campaign manager, Mr. McKinley, and brought the information that 93 out of 100 men he had questioned there favored the Colonel's nomination.

NOTARIES BULL THE MARKET.

From 9 o'clock yesterday morning until late in the evening the corridor of the twenty-fourth floor of the Metropolitan Life Building, where Col. Roosevelt has established his headquarters, was thronged with notaries public, each anxious to have a district designated to him in which to obtain signatures to primary nominating petitions.

In order to get the names of the delegates on the primary ballots under the new law, it is necessary to obtain the signatures of 5 per cent. of the enrolled party voters in each district to the nominating petitions and file them not later than Saturday. Lest the question be raised as to the validity of certain names, the Roosevelt committee has hit upon the plan of having duly authorized notaries witness the name of each signer.

With a view to carrying out the proposed plan a circular letter with an inclosed postcard was sent out several days ago to every enrolled Republican voter in Manhattan and the Bronx. The cards bore blanks for the recipient to fill out, signifying his willingness to sign the petition. Each voter was requested to designate a time and place at which his signature could be obtained and witnessed.

The response to the canvass was not encouraging. Only a small percentage of the total number of cards sent out were remailed, and it was finally found necessary to begin a personal canvass of the registered Republican voters in the city. In accord with this plan an advertisement was inserted in a morning newspaper yesterday calling for the services of several hundred notaries public, with the result that an unending stream of applicants flowed in and out of the elevators all day long.

According to members of the committee, the notaries are receiving 25 cents for each signature obtained. When the returning throng of solicitors began to flock into the Roosevelt headquarters last night, however, it was learned that in certain districts clerks were being paid at the rate of 50 cents a name.

From one of the clerks engaged in tabulating the petition returns it was learned that in the Eighteenth and Fifteenth Congressional Districts, in each of which only 250 names are required to nominate delegates for primary ballots, more than 600 signatures had been obtained prior to 4 P. M. In the Seventeenth and Twenty-third districts the canvass showed that approximately 200 names had been obtained in each, with the canvass still incomplete.

EXPOSES PATRONAGE DEALS TO AID TAFT

Letter from Southern Postmaster Who Is for Roosevelt Read in the Senate.

BRISTOW DEMANDS INQUIRY

Post Office Inspector and Other Officials Accused — Investigation Into Roosevelt's Campaign Funds, Too.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The bitterness of the fight that the Roosevelt supporters will wage on President Taft became apparent in the Senate this afternoon when Mr. Bristow, a Kansas radical, introduced a resolution directing the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads to investigate charges of flagrant violations of law by Postmasters in behalf of the President's renomination and also the President's use of patronage in furtherance of his own campaign.

While the Bristow resolution undoubtedly worried the Taft supporters in the Senate, they had their answer to it ready in another resolution of investigation. This resolution directs the Committee on Privileges and Elections to investigate the campaign expenditures of the National and Congressional Committees of all parties in 1904, when Mr. Roosevelt was running for the Presidency, and in 1908, when he directed the campaign for Mr. Taft.

The resolution was introduced by Mr. Culberson of Texas, a Democrat, and it has lain dormant in the Committee on Audit and Control for a long time. To-day, however as if in answer to the Bristow resolution, it was favorably reported and then was referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Postmasters Coerced?

Mr. Bristow led up to his resolution by reading a letter setting forth alleged conditions among the Postmasters in the Southern States. Based upon the allegations of the letter, which was from George R. Lewis, Postmaster at Bessemer, Ala., under date of Feb. 24, to W. J. Marles, a Post Office Inspector, in reply to charges that Lewis had in 1910 and 1911 engaged in pernicious activities, the resolution directed a threefold inquiry of charges that such Inspectors were being sent into the South to coerce Postmasters to support the President; that Postmasters with good records who supported Col. Roosevelt were being threatened with punishment if they did not return to the Taft ranks, and were being sent out of their States until "packed conventions" could be held for Mr. Taft, and that the President himself, in withdrawing from the Senate on Feb. 19 the nominations of eight Postmasters and two Collectors of Customs in North Carolina, was throwing all the nominations of the State into a purse with which to buy delegates to the National Convention at Chicago.

"It is a fact pregnant with meaning," says Postmaster Lewis's letter to Inspector Marles, "that you should appear in Birmingham two days after I, as a member of the Republican Congressional Executive Committee of this district, saw proper to exercise my right as a free American citizen and to vote for resolutions indorsing Theodore Roosevelt for President. It is also strange that you should appear personally in this district to investigate a Postmaster about matters occurring more than twelve months before, not only on the day but at the very hour when a political meeting was being held in this city, when it is a matter of public notoriety that the Federal office holders in the Southern States, and especially the State of Alabama, are a mass of seething political activity."

"If you care to extend your investigations along lines of 'political activity,' says Mr. Lewis, "you could, and can now, easily ascertain that on the night before the meeting of the Republican Congressional Executive Committee of this district, Truman H. Aldrich, Postmaster in Birmingham, Ala., although not a member of the committee, held a caucus in his office in the Post Office Building in this city which lasted far into the night before the committee meeting, at which were present other Postmasters, members of the committee, and other officials. Passersby, near the hour of midnight, could hear discussions and speeches being made in his office by partisans of President Taft.

How Taft Machine Works.

Mr. Lewis cited a number of other instances to show that in his part of the South, at least, the Post Office Department was simply a Taft machine. He told of a meeting at which two Postmasters, Wilson of Blocton, Ala., and N. C. Fuller of Centreville, Ala., members of the committee, tried by "persecution" of official favor to induce a member of the committee to desert Col. Roosevelt and support Mr. Taft. P. D. Barker, Postmaster at Mobile, Ala., was cited as another instance. He was charged with being absent from duty in the interest of Mr. Taft's political fortunes and with writing letters all over the State in an effort to line up the party for Mr. Taft. According to Mr. Lewis, Mr. Barker gave substantially this strange explanation of Col. Roosevelt's candidacy.

> Roosevelt has no idea of being a candidate for President, but is simply pretending so as to get the Taft men committed to his (Roosevelt's) candidacy in 1916, and this will be arranged in a few days when Roosevelt will come out and indorse Taft.

The importance of the Lewis letter was indicated by the fact that to-night the Roosevelt headquarters sent to all newspaper offices in Washington copies of the letter.

FIND EAST FOR TAFT.

New England and New York Strong for Him, Two Congressmen Report.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—From New York and New England encouraging reports continue to come to the Taft headquarters. Representative M. E. Driscoll spent last week at Syracuse, N. Y., and on his return to Washington declared to-day that Republican sentiment in that city is almost wholly for Mr. Taft. Representative Roberts of Massachusetts, who is just back from a trip to New England, declared emphatically that President Taft alone can save that section to the party.

The National Taft headquarters to-day gave out the following statement:

"Senator Joseph M. Dixon of Montana, the new Chairman of the Roosevelt National Executive Committee, to-day took formal charge of the campaign of the former President for renomination by officially opening spacious headquarters in the Munsey Building in Washington. This building is owned by Frank A. Munsey, the publisher of Munsey's Magazine, and owner of a string of newspapers in Eastern cities. He is the intimate friend of George W. Perkins of New York, Director and formerly Chairman of the Finance Committee of the International Harvester Company. Mr. Perkins is given credit by Walter L. Houser, director of Senator La Follette's campaign, for being the 'good angel' of the Roosevelt Presidential boom, which means that he is the campaign collector, as well as a substantial contributor to the Roosevelt campaign fund.

"That the Roosevelt Committee, through the personal campaign contributions of such gentlemen as Messrs. Perkins and Munsey and their associates, is 'well heeled' financially, either by actual money contributions or by the gratuitous tender of headquarters rent free, is manifest by its various activities. Mr. Perkins personally financed, in large part, the beginning of the Roosevelt boom for the Presidency.

"The enthusiasm with which the Roosevelt boomers took possession of their new headquarters to-day led one of them, in an unguarded moment, to say that a letter, purporting to have been written by a head of the Steel Trust to its employes 'ordering them to work for Taft' was in the possession of the Roosevelt managers and 'would be sprung as an offset' to the undenied charge of Mr. Houser that men high in the councils of the United States Steel Corporation and the International Harvester Company were openly supporting Mr. Roosevelt.

"The remarkable fact about this alleged letter is that the only copy in existence, if it exists at all, seems to be in the sole possession of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign managers. Of their ability, by reason of their intimate connection with Mr. Perkins and others, to know what the United States Steel Corporation is doing or contemplates doing to escape the charges made openly by Mr. Houser, representing Senator La Follette, there can be no dispute. So far as Mr. Taft's campaign managers are concerned, they would have remained in total ignorance of the 'frame-up' had not one of Mr. Roosevelt's boomers let his enthusiasm get the better of his judgment."

Representative William B. McKinley, director of the Taft headquarters, declared to-day that President Taft's nomination and election were certain.

Although final arrangements for President Taft's trip through Northern Ohio and to Chicago have not been made, part of the programme made public to-day indicated that it would be one of the hardest and one of the busiest the President has taken in months. Republican leaders also believe it will be most important. No direct reply to Col. Roosevelt's Columbus speech will be made by the President, nor will he go into personalities. He will have many opportunities to make political speeches, however, and it was the general belief to-day that he would accept them.

Mr. Taft will spend Saturday night in Chicago, attend Church Sunday morning and, before leaving for Washington late in the afternoon, will speak to the Polish and Bohemian children of the city. He is due back in Washington late on Monday.

UP-STATE NOMINATIONS.

C. V. Collins Troy Committeeman—Odell Named in New 26th District.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 4.—Cornelius V. Collins, who was the "right-hand man" of Col. Roosevelt in the last State campaign, but who last week declared for President Taft's renomination, was nominated for State Committeeman in Troy to-day by the Republican organization.

Mr. Collins and Senator James A. Emerson of Warren County are the candidates for delegates to the Chicago Convention.

NEWBURG, N. Y., March 4.—The Republican Congressional Committee of the new Twenty-sixth District nominated to-day ex-Gov. Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., for member of the State Republican Committee. Capt. Joseph M. Dickey of Orange and Judge Samuel K. Phillips of Dutchess were named as candidates for delegates to the National Convention.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 4.—The Republican Congressional District Committee of the Thirtieth District to-day selected as candidates for delegates to the National Convention Lucius N. Littauer of Gloversville and J. Ledlie Hees of Fonda. William B. Collins was named for committeeman.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 4.—The Thirty-ninth District Republican Congressional Committee met here to-day and designated former Speaker James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of Livingston County and Frederick C. Stevens of Wyoming as candidates for delegates to the National Convention. Fred B. Parker of Genesee was nominated for State Committeeman.

OLEAN, N. Y., March 4.—The Republican Committee for the Forty-third Congressional District named as candidates for convention delegates Frank O. Anderson of Jamestown and Frank Sullivan Smith of Angelica.

HUGHES JR. HEADS TAFT CLUB

Justice's Son Unanimously Elected at Harvard Union Meeting.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 4.—Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., son of Justice Hughes and a member of the Harvard Law School, was unanimously elected President of the newly formed William Howard Taft Club of Harvard to-night. The organization, which consists of 200 men, was formed in the trophy room of the Harvard Union, and listened to an address by Grafton D. Cushing.

The other officers of the club are Vice President Horace J. Smith of Denver and Secretary-Treasurer Samuel M. Rinaker of Beatrice, Neb.

This is the third political club organized in the University in the interests of Presidential candidates. La Follette and Wilson Clubs were organized some time ago.

SENATOR BOURNE'S STAND.

He Will Support Taft Only if His Nomination Is Fairly Obtained.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 4.—Replying to a constituent who asked concerning his attitude toward President Taft, if the latter becomes the nominee of the Republican National Convention, Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon has written a letter from Washington declaring that his position will depend on the way in which the nomination is made. He says:

"I expect to support the Republican ticket in general, whoever may be the nominee for President. My attitude toward Mr. Taft himself, if he should be the nominee, will depend altogether upon the manner of his nomination. If he should obtain popular indorsement in the Presidential primaries in Oregon and should be nominated in a fair manner, he will unquestionably receive my support. If, however, Mr. Taft should be nominated by methods which have been used in control of National Conventions in the past, I shall not support him, but shall openly and aggressively oppose his election."

OFFER FROM BEET SUGAR MEN

New Factories in 16 States Promised if Sugar Tariff Is Kept.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 4.—New beet sugar factories in sixteen states, at a total cost of $25,000,000, which will spend $25,000,000 a year in buying beets of farmers in case the sugar tariff is not cut, is the promises of the United States beet sugar industry made in a statement by C. C. Hamlin, Chairman of the Beet Sugar Manufacturers in a conference here to-day.

"If the tariff is not cut," he says, "the cane sugar men, controlled by the sugar trust will have a monopoly of the industry, for the beet sugar producers cannot compete with the tropical raw product."

The sugar tariff bill, as presented by the Underwood committee, he says, is in the interest of the sugar trust.

GAYNOR EXPLAINS; GERARD SATISFIED

No Contempt Intended in Mayor's Review of the Brandt Case, So the Incident Is Closed.

GANS AFFIDAVIT ADMITTED

Judge Swann Instructs Grand Jury That No One Who May Be Indicted May Testify.

Mayor Gaynor will not be called into court to answer to contempt charges growing out of his recent letter to Gov. Dix in which he criticised "a judicial officer," meaning Justice Gerard, for setting aside the conviction of Foulke E. Brandt, the former servant of Mortimer L. Schiff, by sustaining a writ of habeas corpus which had been sued out in the prisoner's behalf.

It was for Justice Gerard to decide whether the Mayor's remarks should be considered seriously, and Justice Gerard decided yesterday to ignore the criticism. He did not reach this conclusion, however, until after a peace messenger had hurried back and forth several times between the County Court House and the City Hall. This interchange of messages resulted in a conference between Mayor Gaynor and Justice Gerard and an interchange of letters.

Mayor Gaynor's letter, technically, is in the light of an apology. He denies any intent to reflect in any way on the Supreme Court Justice in a personal capacity. Friends of Justice Gerard, however, after reading the supposedly apologetic letter, failed to see in it much less than a clever vindication of what the Mayor had already said in his letter to Gov. Dix. The conversation between the two principals, it is said, was of a less subtle and more assuring nature.

The peace messenger was a mutual friend of Mayor Gaynor and Justice Gerard. This friend started Justice Gerard's clerk on a run over to the Mayor's office yesterday morning to take a look around and return with some oral information. Shortly afterward, about noon, Justice Gerard retraced his Clerk's steps, and after a twenty-minute interview with Mayor Gaynor in his office, came forth with a smile on his face. He brushed reporters aside, declining to be interviewed, but within a few hours the letters which formally healed the breach were exchanged.

Gerard to Gaynor, and Vice Versa.

This is the letter which Justice Gerard wrote to Mayor Gaynor:

March 4, 1912.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

My attention has been called to a letter written by you to the Governor of this State concerning the Brandt case and given out for publication from Albany.

I recognize that you or any one else has a right to criticise any decision, but in this case your letter has been construed as a personal attack on me.

I might also call your attention to the fact that you state in your letter that Brandt's examination by the Judge took place on the day he was sentenced, when as a matter of fact it took place on the day he was arraigned to plead.

So far as I know, our relations have been friendly, but I cannot allow a letter which has been construed (whether rightly or not) as a personal attack and which is written by one who is not only Mayor of our city but an ex-Judge of this court to pass without calling your attention to this construction which has been placed on it.

Very sincerely yours,
JAMES W. GERARD.

City of New York.
Office of the Mayor,
March 4, 1912.

Dear Judge Gerard:

I now repeat in answer to your kind note of even date, just now received, what I said to you personally, that I do not consider my letter to Gov. Dix fairly open to construction as a personal attack on you, but that, however that may be, I most gladly say that I had no such intention, for I have the highest regard for you.

I differ from you about your decision, and in common with all others have a right to publicly say so, and to adversely criticise it, as you say, and as may be done with the decisions of even the highest court in the land. But to attack a Judge personally for a decision would be wrong, for in such a case a Judge is quite defenseless, for he cannot very well enter into a personal controversy.

For that reason, especially, as well as because of my high regard for you, now lasting a long time, I desire to dispel any notion that I attacked you personally.

I note that you say that I made a mistake as to the date when Brandt was examined by the Judge who sentenced him. I see no materiality in that. The material thing to me is that he was so examined after he had pleaded guilty, and that I fully stated.

Sincerely yours,
W. J. GAYNOR, Mayor.

Mr. JUSTICE GERARD, Supreme Court Chambers, Manhattan.

Rumored Reasons for Animus.

There had been reports earlier in the day that there were specific reasons why Mayor Gaynor had crossed Justice Gerard. In the first place, this report said, Mayor Gaynor had not forgotten that years ago, when Justice Gerard was a practicing lawyer and when Judge Gaynor was the executor of the large estate of William Zeigler, a St. Louis manufacturer, Lawyer Gerard had forced Executor Gaynor to pay over $2,000,000 to Mrs. Zeigler, for whom no provision had been made.

And in the second place it was to be remembered, the report went on, that it was Justice Gerard, sitting in the Supreme Court, who had made a ruling during the Gaynor Mayoralty campaign that Judge Gaynor's name should be taken off the Independence League ticket, Tammany Hall having stolen the Independence League convention.

But what was most important, the report continued, was an occurrence at a recent dinner given by a friend of Mayor Gaynor to Justice Gerard. This friend asked Justice Gerard to contribute to a fund for Mayor Gaynor's Presidential boom. Justice Gerard declined to support the Mayor.

Justice Gerard, when interviewed in the afternoon, would not discuss the question of the triple animus at all. What was a matter of court record, he said, did not require further discussion, and as to the Mayor's Presidential aspirations, he knew nothing about them.

"All I can say," he said, "is that Mayor Gaynor's statement of the case at hand is satisfactory, and that I consider the incident closed."

"Was the mutual friend in this case the same who asked you for money to further the Gaynor Presidential boom?" he was asked.

Justice Gerard threw up his hands and smiled, but said nothing.

"Yes, I had a talk with the Mayor today," he answered in reply to another question. "It was a pleasant chat. That is all I can say."

Mayor Gaynor would add nothing to the letter to Justice Gerard. His letter established clearly that he had not changed his mind as to the theory he presented in the Dix letter, the same theory that Howard S. Gans presented in his statement of the Brandt case, as printed in yesterday's TIMES. According to this theory, the statements of Brandt in his examination before Judge Rosalsky, whether they were made seven days or seven seconds after the plea of guilty entered by the prisoner, should not be considered as a part of the records in the case. Justice Gerard, of course, holds an opposite view, maintaining that Judge Rosalsky did not formally accept the plea of guilty until the examination of the prisoner (Brandt) had been completed.

Gans Affidavit Admitted.

Justice Gerard played a second part in the developments of the Brandt case yesterday afternoon in open court, when he denied the motion of John D. Lindsay, counsel for Mortimer L. Schiff, to have the affidavits of Howard S. Gans and John H. Iselin added to the records which were before him in the habeas corpus proceeding. The Justice approved a second motion to add the Gans affidavit to the minutes of the court, but gave the Iselin affidavit no official recognition whatever. The purpose of these two affidavits was to offset an affidavit by Carl Fischer-Hansen recently submitted to Justice Gerard.

Mirabeau L. Towns was in court in the interests of Brandt, but, as it developed later, he appeared even more interested in Thomas H. O'Brien, who was representing Arthur S. Hogue, District Attorney of Clinton County. Assistant District Attorney Johnston represented Mr. Whitman. There was a little tilting among the lawyers that did not particularly amuse Mr. O'Brien.

Mr. O'Brien started it by endeavoring to state the position in the Brandt case of his superior, District Attorney Hogue. He said that he had never had a chance before to state his position.

"That's too bad," commented Mr. Towns, "but I think your position starts and ends with what you have already said, which, as you say, is naught."

Mr. O'Brien said that he wished to withdraw his consent to the formal order sustaining the habeas corpus decision. He spoke of "ulterior motives" behind the Attorney General's notice of appeal and said that he wanted to leave the District Attorney of Clinton County free to argue at the appeal proceedings as he saw fit. He complained further of having been left out in the cold by the other lawyers in the Brandt case and said that he had practically been unable to get any papers in the case. He looked at Mr. Towns when he said this.

Justice Gerard objected to Mr. O'Brien withdrawing his signature from the formal order, on the ground that the whole proceedings, in such a case, would fall through. He assured Mr. O'Brien, however, that his signature would not prevent Mr. Hogue from taking any position he liked.

Then Mr. Lindsay made a formal motion to have the Gans and Iselin affidavits added to the records. They should be included, he thought, in justice to two reputable members of the bar, to offset the second Fischer-Hansen affidavit.

But Justice Gerard said that he could not reopen the case to add these affidavits, and that the Fischer-Hansen affidavit was recognized in the case only in so far as it showed that Brandt did not have any one representing him in court when he pleaded guilty. The affidavit of Mr. Gans, the court said, did not in any way prove that Brandt had counsel at the bar when he pleaded guilty on March 28, 1907, and so held that it should not be filed.

Mr. Towns said that he had no objection to the adding of the Gans affidavit, but that he did object to the Iselin affidavit, on the ground that Mr. Iselin had nothing to do with the case at all. Mr. Lindsay insisted that Mr. Iselin was present in court when Brandt pleaded guilty and that his affidavit refuted the statement of Fischer-Hansen that Mr. Gans was in court on that day and that he sat on the bench with Judge Rosalsky.

Justice Gerard read a letter from Attorney General Carmody in which he stated that he had no objection to the submitting of the Gans and Iselin affidavits, but that he failed to see wherein these affidavits were material in the case. This is also the view held by District Attorney Whitman.

Justice Gerard ordered that the Gans affidavit should be spread upon the court minutes, but not be a part of the official records which are to go before the Appellate Division. He took no cognizance of the Iselin affidavit whatever.

Mr. O'Brien informed the newspaper men after the court session was over that District Attorney Hogue, when he does appear to argue on the appeal from the habeas corpus decision, will aim to show that all the proceedings leading to Brandt's sentence were regular, that Judge Rosalsky had a right to reject the statements of Brandt, which were made after the prisoner pleaded guilty, and that habeas corpus was not the proper method for seeking Brandt's freedom. The decision, he said, ought to be reversed.

Judge Swann Instructs Grand Jury.

Judge Swann, in Part I. of the Court of General Sessions, swore in anew yesterday the Grand Jury that is investigating the Brandt case. In his charge the Judge said that no one who may be threatened with indictment should be permitted to testify, the presumption being that any person who is sworn before a Grand Jury would be immune from any subsequent criminal prosecution concerning the matter about which testimony was given. In his charge Judge Swann said:

"It is a privilege and not a matter of right for witnesses to appear before the Grand Jury, and certainly no one likely to be indicted should be allowed to testify. The Grand Juries are a part of the court, and being such, if they receive any anonymous communications, I suggest that any such be turned over to the court. Communications which suggest to the grand jurors that certain persons should or should not be indicted are in contempt of court and should be attended to as such."

District Attorney Whitman said last night: "Some persons seem to have an idea that I have a personal feeling in this investigation into the arrest of Brandt and his sentence to thirty years in prison. Nothing could be further from the truth. I am only trying to do my duty. Any person who desires to appear before the Grand Jury may do so with the exception of those whose presence before that body might interfere with the course of justice.

"When the inquiry is over I will prepare a resumé of the testimony, turn it over to the jurors, and leave the room. Then it will be up to the jurors themselves. They will take whatever action the facts seem to call for, and whatever they do will be entirely satisfactory to me."

Among the witnesses subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury to-day are Emerson E. Davis, late receiving clerk at Clinton Prison; Cornelius V. Collins, former Superintendent of Prisons; John W. Rogers, a Pinkerton detective, and probably one or more of the officials at Clinton Prison. It was learned last night that Brandt is living outside the city limits in seclusion. He will be in the city to-day and have a conference with his attorney. Mr. Towns, it was stated, is himself sponsor for Brandt's appearance in court, awaiting the decision on the appeal from the habeas corpus proceeding, having signed over to the Illinois Surety Company as collateral the deed to his own home in Brooklyn.

CARMODY SCORES THE MAYOR.

Says His Criticism of Gerard Is a Gratuitous Insult.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 4.—While the report that the Supreme Court Justices of New York might take action on the letter of Mayor Gaynor to Gov. Dix, commending the latter's action in the Brandt case and criticising the action of Justice Gerard, caused considerable comment to-day at the Capitol the Governor was unaware of the latest phases of the case, being in comparative isolation at his Adirondack camp in McKeever.

As soon as Attorney General Carmody arrived in the city from his home in Penn Yan to-night he issued a statement scoring Mayor Gaynor for his commendatory letter to the Governor, characterizing it as an insult to Justice Gerard.

"Mayor Gaynor's reference to the decision of Justice Gerard in his labored effort to Gov. Dix is a gratuitous insult to an able and upright Judge," Mr. Carmody said. "The decision of Justice Gerard is entitled to the respect of every one until it has been passed upon by the higher courts. I have appealed from it and expect to argue that the principle of it should not be sustained. The motives of the court in granting it, however, are not open to criticism.

"This case has apparently reached the point where it is necessary to depart from the facts and resort to abuse, and the Mayor has always been relied upon for a skillful wielding of that weapon. His eccentricities long since ceased to have any other effect than to disappoint his friends and please his enemies."

Gov. Dix has received many letters commending in general his attitude in relation to the case of Brandt. It is said at the Executive Chamber that the number of letters to the Executive taking the opposite view of the case is so small as to be practically negligible.

Republican Candidates Ratified.

The Republican County Committee met last night at the Murray Hill Lyceum and ratified the selection of candidates for the various committees as well as candidates for delegates and alternates to the Republican National Convention in Chicago, and members of the State Committee, which were selected at the district conventions on Saturday. The meeting was harmonious, no one representing the Roosevelt movement appearing to make trouble.

Wm. Rockefeller Favors Underwood.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 4.—William Rockefeller, brother of the Standard Oil magnate, passed through Savannah en route to Charleston to-day. He expressed preference for Representative Underwood of Alabama for President, with President Taft as second choice. He regards it as certain that both Underwood and Taft will be nominated by their respective parties.

TWO MONEY INQUIRIES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The Money Trust inquiry and consideration of the proposed Aldrich monetary legislation will probably be handled side by side by the House Banking and Currency Committee. The present tentative plan is to divide the committee into two parts, one of which, acting as a sub-committee, will investigate as far as it can those allegations of the Henry Money Trust resolution which fall within the jurisdiction of the Banking and Currency Committee. There will be ten members to this sub-committee. The other ten members of the Banking and Currency Committee will constitute a separate sub-committee and hold hearings on the report of the National Monetary Committee with a view to framing banking and currency legislation.

This is the tentative plan embraced in the report of a special sub-committee of the Banking and Currency Committee delegated to outline the scope of the inquiry. This sub-committee is composed of Messrs. Pujo, Louisiana; Glass, Virginia; Bulkley, Ohio; Taylor, Alabama, and Stephens, Mississippi. The sub-committee report is ready and will be submitted to the Democratic members of the full committee to-morrow for consideration and adoption.

SPLIT IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Two Delegations to be Sent to Republican Convention.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 4.—The Republicans of South Carolina will send two delegations to the National Convention at Chicago.

The leaders of the "Black and Tan" and "Lily White" factions will hold conventions and select delegates to go to Chicago. Each faction declares it is regular, and the quarrel will be fought out before the National Convention.

OKLAHOMA FOR ROOSEVELT.

The Colonel's Delegates Outnumber Taft's 2 to 1 So Far.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 4.—Returns from precinct conventions received up to noon to-day show that 237 delegates to the Oklahoma Republican State Convention are instructed for Roosevelt, and 113 instructed for Taft. George A. Priestly of Bartlesville, a Roosevelt supporter, is believed to be certain of election as National Committeeman.

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., March 4.—The six delegates from Delaware to the Republican Convention will vote for the renomination of Taft.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 4.—The Republicans of the Third Congressional District indorsed President Taft in convention here this afternoon, and instructed the delegates to Chicago to support him to the last. H. Clay Evans was indorsed for delegate at large. A resolution indorsing Roosevelt was defeated by a vote of 141 to 41. Advices from the Second Congressional District, in which county conventions were held to name delegates to the district convention at Knoxville next Saturday, indicate a division between Taft and Roosevelt of the 108 voters in the district. Taft has 36 instructed; Roosevelt, 15.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 4.—Splits resulted in the seven counties in the second Congressional district, in which conventions were held to-day to select and instruct delegates to the Republican Congressional convention, which will take place here next Saturday. Of the 108 votes in the district Taft has 36 instructed, Roosevelt, 15, and 49 are contested and 8 uninstructed.

CLARK LEADS IN KANSAS.

Has 140 Instructed or Indorsed Delegates to Wilson's 134.

TOPEKA, Kansas, March 4.—Of the 105 counties in Kansas, thirty-six have held conventions. Clark has 140 instructed or indorsed delegates, while Wilson has 134. There are eleven uninstructed delegates and the Clark men claim ten of these and concede one to Wilson. Harmon has just three votes so far.

PIERRE, S. D., March 4.—The Wilson forces are first in the field in this State to-day, being the earliest possible date for filing nominations for delegates to the national convention. T. H. Simmons appeared this morning and filed a list of ten delegates under the motto "Wilson-Bryan Progressive Democracy."

FORT WAYNE, Ind., March 4.—Representative Cyrus Cline was to-day renominated by the Democrats of the Twelfth Indiana Congressional District.

ELECTIONS IN MAINE.

Results in Ten Cities Have Little Bearing on National Campaign.

PORTLAND, Me., March 4.—Elections in ten cities of Maine to-day failed to show any material change in political sentiment. Republicans elected three Mayors to seven of the Democrats, the same as last year, gaining Saco but losing Eastport. The Mayors elected were: Auburn—Dr. C. E. Williams, Republican; Bath—Frank A. Small, Democrat; Eastport—Jefferson M. Swett, Democrat; Ellsworth—John A. Cunningham, Democrat; Hallowell — Emery Obeane, Democrat; Lewiston—Frank A. Morey, Democrat; Rockland—George P. Blethen, Republican; South Portland—John A. S. Dyer, Democrat; Saco—Frank L. Palmer, Republican; Waterville—William R. Pattangall, Democrat.

Efforts were made by the Democratic leaders to make to-day's elections have a bearing on National political sentiment, but local affairs entered so largely into the contests that National politics were obscured. The town of Eden, which contains Bar Harbor, did not decide to-day the question of opening the island to automobiles. The town meeting lasts two more days.

sider the whole situation. Society will not remain passive while it is being starved. It will seek a way out from disorder and terror, and it may find escape by reasserting the liberty of the individual and respect for law."

LONDON, Tuesday, March 5.—The much advertised meeting of the suffragettes in Parliament Square proved a fiasco, so far as concerned the sensational display of militant prowess and cunning, predicted by the organizers. About fifty women were arrested, but the damage done was inconsiderable.

While the militant suffragettes were trying to break through the cordon of police, 200 medical students organized a raid on the suffragette premises, to pay them back in their own coin. Marching to the building occupied by the women's press in Charing Cross Road, where there was a big display of suffrage literature, they bombarded it with stones, smashing all the windows, to an accompaniment of cheers from delighted spectators.

Another band attacked the international suffrage shop in Adam Street, the Strand, smashing a plate glass window and wrecking the front of the building.

In the meantime the suffragettes were being balked in all attempts to hold a meeting. Long before the signal was given by the firing of a rocket from the suffragette headquarters at Clement Inn for the meeting to begin, a huge crowd filled Trafalgar Square, Whitehall, and adjacent streets.

Notwithstanding the watchfulness of the police, one suffragette succeeded in smashing half a dozen windows in the Government offices.

A woman chained herself to a tree in Whitehall and, unable to remove the chain, the police uprooted the tree with the suffragette still attached and carried them both off to the police station.

Addressing a packed meeting of suffragettes last evening, Mrs. Frederick Pethick Lawrence, one of the editors of Votes for Women, who was sentenced in November to a month's imprisonment, declared the women would not hesitate to burn down a royal palace, if it were necessary to gain their ends.

Referring to the threats which have been made to bring a suit for conspiracy under which the suffragettes could be sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, Mrs. Lawrence declared that would be the best day's work ever done for the women's movement. Continuing she said:

"I throw out a message of absolute defiance to Mr. Asquith. We mean to be militant throughout the session. If Friday's methods were not strong enough, we will terrorize the whole country."

Ellen Pitfield, who attempted to set fire to the General Post Office Sunday evening, was yesterday committed by a Magistrate for trial at the Old Bailey Sessions.

ZEPPELIN SHIP'S FAR FLIGHT.

"The newest Zeppelin airship, the Victoria Louise, made to-day a long-distance flight, carrying twenty-three passengers from Friedrichshafen to Frankfort-on-Main. It ascended at Friedrichshafen at a quarter past 9 o'clock, passed over Baden-Baden at 2:30 o'clock, and reached Frankfurt at 10 minutes to 5."

SUGAR MEN'S TRIAL TO-DAY.

Members of the American Refining Co. Must Face Indictments.

The long expected trial of the Directors of the American Sugar Refining Company has been set for to-day in the Federal District Court before Judge Hand. Washington B. Thomas, President of the company; John E. Parsons, former counsel and member of the Executive Committee; Arthur Donner, George H. Frazier and John Mayer, Directors, and Thomas B. Harned, a Philadelphia lawyer, will be arraigned.

They will have to answer an indictment found on June 30, 1909, charging that on Dec. 30, 1903, Adolph Segal owned the majority of the stock of the Champion Construction Company, which in turn held 26,000 of the 50,000 shares which composed the capital stock of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company. Consequently he had the control of this corporation. It is alleged that the defendants, knowing these facts, arranged to get possession of these shares for a year at least by means of a loan.

It is charged that Segal was induced on Jan. 4, 1904, to borrow through Gustav E. Kissel the sum of $1,250,000 for use in his enterprises. Kissel was acting as the agent for an "unidentified lender," and after the loan was made it turned out that the unrevealed lender was the American Sugar Refining Company. This put the corporation in temporary control of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company, and it is alleged by the Government that it used its power to close the Philadelphia refinery and keep it closed for several years, thereby restricting competition in the manufacture and sale of sugar.

These facts came out in a suit brought by the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company against the Federal Sugar Refining Company for treble damages amounting to $30,000,000 under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. The Philadelphia refinery was closed for six years on account of the Segal loan, and did not begin operations till last Fall. This suit never came to trial, as it was compromised.

Mr. Parsons, who was for many years counsel for the American Sugar Refining Company, is 83 years old. Since the indictments were found two of the defendants have died, Charles H. Senff and Adolph Segal.

250,000 BRITISH IDLE FOR LACK OF COAL

GERMANY FEARS A STRIKE

Some Miners Have Already Abandoned Work in Westphalia—Ultimatum Expires To-day.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 4.—London began to-day to realize what the prolongation of the coal strike may come to mean. Reduction of the railway service by some 300 trains brought the seriousness of the situation home to the huge traveling public of the metropolis.

No coal trains were run to-day, whereas in normal times over a million tons of coal are in transport daily throughout the country, representing receipts to the railways of about $400,000.

A quarter of a million of men, besides those directly employed in the mining industry, are already out of work.

The miners themselves are looking upon the strike, which is pursuing its fatal course to what Premier Asquith described in the House of Commons to-day as a "national catastrophe," as a junket, and are making trips to the seaside, going to football matches, dog races, and pigeon-flying competitions, and otherwise making a holiday.

Mr. Asquith's statement caused considerable change in public opinion on the attitude of the miners. Even the radical papers are blaming their refusal to accept the Government's just and reasonable offers.

It is worth noting that the action of the Asquith Cabinet is judged far less favorably by conservative opinion on the Continent than it is in this country. In England the prevailing idea is that the strike must be stopped, no matter what means are employed. The Paris Temps, on the other hand, takes the view that the British Government is conducting the country toward a species of social jacobinism, which is repugnant alike to reason and justice.

"What has become of the spirit of real liberalism, the one we used to see in England?" says the Temps. "Undoubtedly the doctrine of Governmental intervention, as well as that of revolutionary collectiveness, has made considerable progress in Great Britain, but never before has any Government so utterly disregarded the claims of a body of business men, who are responsible to their shareholders for the conduct of their business."

LONDON, Tuesday, March 5.—The public's hopes that Premier Asquith would be able yesterday to give definite assurances as to settlement of the coal strike were disappointed. His statement in the House of Commons gave no new information, and was only interesting as showing that the Government had not itself lost hope of bringing the disputants together.

A report from Derbyshire last night told of a movement by the miners in the midland counties to bring about an amicable arrangement with the mine owners. Such a partial settlement is hardly probable, but if it really came about it would do much toward effecting a general settlement.

James Keir Hardie, Independent Labor member of Parliament, expresses the opinion that the strike will end in a triumph for the miners within ten days, but that the men must be prepared to remain on strike six weeks.

In his speech Mr. Asquith declared that the Government was still strongly of the opinion that the best way to fix a minimum wage scale was for the Government to set up machinery for ascertaining the necessary facts, but the miners still refused to recede from their own schedule. He asked the members of Parliament to refrain from discussing the question.

PARIS, March 4.—The effects of the British coal strike are being felt at channel ports. Transportation companies announce that they will not guarantee the arrival of freight to and from England. Passenger service is partially suspended by way of Boulogne and Folkestone, and will also be restricted by way of Dieppe and New Haven. The price of coal at Cherbourg has risen $1 a ton.

GERMAN MINERS THREATEN.

Ultimatum of 250,000 Men Ends To-day—Other Trades Out.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, March 4.—The strike fever is now rampant in Germany. Several thousand men are out at the famous Schichau warship building yard; at Danzig thousands are on the verge of a strike in the clothing trades; 2,000 are about to leave work in the Berlin paper-box industry, and the chances highly favor the outbreak of an enormous strike in the Rhenish-Westphalian coal belt, involving 250,000 men, by to-morrow night.

The coal strike has already begun at one or two mines, where the miners have gone out in defiance of their leaders' orders, instead of waiting for the expiration of March 5, until which time the federation has given the colliery proprietors to concede a 15 per cent. increase in the minimum wage.

The federation officially informed THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent to-day from the headquarters at Bochum that the impending strike in Germany is not intended as a sympathy strike in behalf of their English brethren, but as a movement begun in the German miners' own interest at the psychological moment.

ALL BAIREUTH SEATS SOLD.

Wagner Festival an Early Success Despite Advance in Price.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, March 4.—Although the annual season of Wagnerian opera at Baireuth will not begin until July 22, the Festival Committee makes official announcement that every seat for all twenty performances is already sold.

The committee advanced the price of seats this year from the regular figure, $5, to $6.25, but the rise has had no effect on the bookings, which in some cases were made nearly a year ahead.

The committee issues a notice for the benefit of English and American visitors to the effect that late reservations may possibly still be made for persons who will apply to the committee about the middle of June. Numbers of seats are always returned by buyers, who find themselves suddenly unable to go to Baireuth, and places may be provided as the season draws nearer.

It is stated that the increased cost of staging "Die Meistersinger" at Nuremberg in 1911 caused the committee to advance the price of seats for 1912. The season opens July 22 with "Die Meistersinger." It includes two performances of the "Ring," seven performances of "Parsifal," and four additional performances of "Die Meistersinger." The final performance, closing the season, takes place on Aug. 19 and 20.

DEPLORES ROOSEVELT'S PLAN

London Standard Calls Recall Proposals "Sheer Madness."

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 4.—The Evening Standard says in an editorial to-day:

"The more the position of Mr. Roosevelt is studied, the more deplorable it seems to his old well wishers. That the man who used expressions about Hearst in relation to McKinley which he has, should now be willing to accept Hearst's support, is simply distressing.

"It may be argued that in championing a more popular method of electing Presidents as against the present caucus system, he is striking a blow for freedom, but even this is doubtful. The present system does certainly prevent the success of a mere whirlwind orator, and Mr. Roosevelt's attacks on Judges and his proposal that the people themselves form a Court of Appeals and not only revise sentences, but unseat Judges, is sheer, unadulterated madness."

FAMOUS STAMPS SOLD.

Lord Crawford Disposes of Most of His Great Collection.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 4.—It is announced that Lord Crawford, one of the most prominent English stamp collectors for the last fifteen or twenty years, has disposed of his collection, with the exception of a series relating to Great Britain and the United States, to a London stamp dealer.

This forms one of the largest transactions in the annals of philately. The collection is arranged in eighty quarto volumes, of which about sixty are stamps of the British colonies. The remaining twenty are of the Italian States.

Lord Crawford collected on a scientific basis, the varieties and peculiarities being noted with great precision. The collection of Indian stamps is of a particularly comprehensive character. The collection also includes many rarities of Western Australia.

Another series which is well represented is the New South Wales stamps. These include probably the finest known series of the 1850 issue with Sydney views. The South Australia series is also exceptionally fine.

The Transvaal stamps from 1869 comprise practically all the rarities.

WATER COLORS SOLD CHEAP.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, March 4.—The Dollfus sale of watercolors and etchings was continued to-day with the total sales amounting to $10,609.

Prices were low, the highest sum for a single piece being $1,160, which was paid for item No. 82, "A Woodman Cutting Wood," by Millet.

For No. 72, "The Barricade, a Scene of the Commune, May, 1871," by Manet, $821 was paid; No. 37, "The Monk of Copmanhurst," by Delacroix, brought $249.

No. 80, "Les Falaises de Greville," by Millet, brought $361; while $290 was paid for No. 83, "The Return from the Fields," also by Millet.

No. 92, another of Millet's nature studies, by the same title, brought $520, and No. 123, "A Turkish Horse," by Barye, was sold for $230.

KNOX LEAVES FOR NICARAGUA

Costa Rican President at Banquet Praises Monroeism.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, March 4.—Secretary Knox and party left here to-night for Punta Arenas on the Pacific Coast, where the armored cruiser Maryland is waiting to take the Secretary aboard. The Maryland will proceed to-morrow morning for Corinto, Nicaragua, where Mr. Knox will make a brief stop and then continue to Managua by train.

The banquet given by President Jiminez at the National Theatre last night was the important function of the Secretary's visit to San Jose. The President gave a most cordial toast, saying:

"Costa Rica has learned from the United States the lesson of freedom, equality, and republicanism. It is very possible that our sovereignty would have been eclipsed by European domination, if the United States had not pronounced in 1823, through the mouth of Monroe, its formidable veto."

INCOME TAX THREAT MOVES HARVESTER CO.

Fear That Germany Might Assess All Its Foreign Business Causes Transfer to Brussels.

HAMBURG IS HEADQUARTERS

American Officers of the Big Combination Said to Have Had a Hint of German Purposes.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, March 4.—As a result of reports that the German Government might attempt to enforce payment of an income tax on its entire foreign business, the International Harvester Company of America, THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent learns, is about to remove its headquarters from Germany to Belgium. The company's headquarters has for years been located in Hamburg and will now be transferred to Brussels.

The International's German branch corporation, which operates a large factory at Neuss-on-Rhine for supplying the German and Austro-Hungarian trade, pays income taxes on the same basis as the ordinary German company. The home offices in Chicago, however, seem to have received some sort of intimation that the German Government, following the example recently set in England, might suddenly conceive a desire to assess the big American combination on its gross business in Europe, which has hitherto passed through the Hamburg headquarters. This might have necessitated the exhibition of the International's books to the German authorities with the alternative of being barred from doing further business in the Fatherland.

Belgian laws, it appears, threaten no such disquieting contingency, and William Venning Couchman, the International's general manager for Europe, will therefore soon pitch his tent in Brussels.

The International Company operates factories of its own in Germany, France, Russia, and Sweden, and does a business, running to many millions of dollars a year, throughout Europe and Siberia.

The International Harvester Company was organized in 1902, during the boom period that followed the Spanish-American war. Until six years later its affairs were guarded with closest secrecy. In that year its stock was listed on the New York Stock Exchange wih accompanying publicity of all its affairs. The company was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, and at its organization acquired the property and business of several of the largest concerns manufacturing farming machinery and twine in this country. The centre of the new organization was the McCormick Harvester Company of Chicago, and with this was associated the Deering Harvester Company, the Milwaukee Harvester Company, and the Plano Manufacturing Company of West Pullman, Ill. Since its organization the company has bought the plants and business of several smaller concerns in Illinois, New York, and Ohio.

The company also owns and controls the capital stock of the Calumet & Southeastern Railroad and the Chicago & West Pullman Railroad. Abroad it controls the International Harvester Companies of Sweden, Germany, Russia, and France. It owns blast furnaces and steel mills in South Chicago, ore mines in Minnesota, lumber lands in Missouri, Mississippi, and Arkansas, and coal lands in Kentucky.

The officers of the company are Cyrus H. McCormick, President; James Deering, John J. Glessner, William H. Jones, and Harold F. McCormick, Vice Presidents, (the last Treasurer also,) and Richard F. Howe, Secretary.

CONFIRMED IN CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 4.—George A. Ranney, Assistant General Manager of the International Harvester Company, confirms the report of the removal of the European headquarters from Hamburg to Brussels. He says the change is made to get a more central location for the Continental office. It will put the Superintendent in closer touch with the factories in France, Sweden, and Russia.

He asserts that the change was not made in order to avoid increased taxation.

SURRENDERS BLEAK ISLAND.

San Miguel, Plaything of the Elements, Now Government Property.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., March 4.—San Miguel, an island of the Santa Barbara Channel chain, the ownership of which was asserted by Capt. W. G. Waters, has become the undisputed property of the United States. Waters said the island was his because it was not mentioned in the cession treaties of Spain and Mexico or Mexico and the United States. For recognizing the Federal sovereignty Waters received a lease of five years, and after that period the Government will lease it to the highest bidder.

The island continues to justify its reputation. Some years ago an earthquake shook one end loose, and it fell into the sea. In recent times winds brought clouds of sand from somewhere on the mainland, filling up the cañons, killing the grass and driving the sheep to the leeward side of the island. In the February drought, winds took the sands away as mysteriously as they came, cleaning up the cañons and leveling up the dunes to the former pasture level.

INVESTIGATE HOTEL RATES.

Move in Maryland Senate to Prevent Exorbitant Charges.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 4.—Declaring that charges of exorbitant rates by Baltimore hotel keepers for the Democratic National Convention had been made and that the charges should be investigated by the Maryland Legislature, Senator J. M. Maloy to-night introduced in the Senate an order for a thorough inquiry.

The order provides for the appointment of a joint committee, authorized to investigate the rates fixed by the Baltimore hotels, and to invite the Democratic National Committee to lay before the Senate Committee all the information dealing with the conditions that it may find.

Speaker Trippe of the House of Delegates to-night introduced a bill to prevent extortion on the part of "keepers of public inns and hotels at and about the time of the holding of the National Convention of any political party of the United States within this State."

The Public Service Commission is authorized "to prescribe the maximum rates to be charged for rooms by keepers of inns and hotels at such seasons, and to enforce promises or undertakings made by the owners or managers of such public inns or hotels as to the rates to be charged during such convention."

APE THAT'S NEAREST MAN.

London Lecturer Points Out Evolution in the Walking Gibbon.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 4.—Prof. Arthur Keith in the course of a lecture at the Royal College of Surgeons to-night on the evolution of man, said:

"The gibbon is the most important of all the surviving apes. We are apt to think of the upright posture as a human characteristic, but this is not the case.

"The gibbon is essentially an ordinary monkey, adapted to an upright posture. There could be no doubt that in all the very ancient primates the axis of the body was carried horizontally. The gibbon is the earliest known form in which the axis of the body is carried upright. In its system we see the introduction of the structural principle, which served as the stepping stone to a human posture.

"The period of evolution of the gibbon dates back to soon after the separation of the fauna of Africa from that of South America, the latter continent being apparently the centre of evolutions of the earliest forms of monkeys. It is believed that the separation just mentioned took place soon after the commencement of the tertiary period.

"In the lecturer's opinion the upright posture is of an extremely ancient character, evolved probably in the eocene epoch.

LUSITANIA ARRIVES LATE.

So the Cunarder's Passengers Fail to Benefit by Early Sailing.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 4.—The experiment of sailing the big Cunarders at midnight, the object being to land the passengers in London at a reasonable hour instead of in the middle of the night, had an inauspicious beginning, owing to the Lusitania arriving at Fishguard twelve hours late, due to exceptionally heavy weather experienced on the voyage.

It was expected to reach Fishguard at 8 o'clock this morning, getting passengers in London in time for luncheon, while Continental passengers could catch the 2:20 Paris train. Instead of this the Lusitania got to Fishguard just before midnight. London being reached some six hours later, exactly the thing that happened under the old schedule.

Naturally there was a great feeling of disappointment among the voyagers, but, as the Cunard officials pointed out, "man proposes," &c.

The late arrival of the Lusitania at Fishguard, after her early start at 1 A. M. last Wednesday from this port, was due chiefly to the dirty condition of the hull of the liner, which was covered with long grass and barnacles through her not having been in dry dock since last July. She was to have gone into dry dock to be scrubbed outside and overhauled in January when she laid up, but, owing to the accident to the Mauretania, this was impossible, as the latter ship occupied the Canada dry dock, Liverpool, and there was no other large enough.

On her last easterly passage the Lusitania did not do better than 23 knots an hour owing to her external condition. She will not have a chance to go into dry dock now until she has made another trip to New York and back.

NEW MISHAP TO OLYMPIC.

Big Liner Strikes Bottom in Leaving Belfast, but Suffers No Harm.

BELFAST, March 4.—The White Star liner Olympic suffered a third mishap to-day. While she was leaving port this morning after repairs had been completed on the propeller which she broke by striking a submerged wreck in the Atlantic on Feb. 27, she struck bottom near the West Twin Island, and was obliged to put back for examination. Divers later found that she was not damaged.

The first accident to the liner occurred in Cowes Roads near Southampton on Sept. 20, when she collided with the British cruiser Hawke, and suffered damage to the extent of nearly $100,000.

NO MYSTERY IN HIS DEATH.

Maurice Wertheimer's Son Explains Father's Visit to Newell Home.

The family of Maurice Wertheimer, the glove importer who died suddenly from heart disease at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newell, 253 West Fifty-second Street, issued a statement yesterday denying emphatically that there was anything mysterious or unusual in the circumstances of Mr. Wertheimer's death, as some of the newspaper reports might lead the public to suppose.

Mr. Wertheimer and Mr. Newell had business relations at different times. Taken suddenly ill on Saturday on his way home from business, Mr. Wertheimer left the street car on which he was riding and went to the Newell residence for aid.

"My father had been subject to heart attacks for several years," one of Mr. Wertheimer's sons said yesterday. "He went down to business on Saturday, as usual, and, after lunch, he called on his lawyer, Mr. Ralph Wolf of Hays, Herschfield & Wolf, 115 Broadway. While talking with Mr. Wolf he complained of feeling ill, and Mr. Wolf advised him to go home, which Mr. Wertheimer said he intended to do. My father started for our home in a car, but on reaching Fifty-second Street he became too ill to continue the journey, and called at the Newell residence for aid. He died only a few minutes after reaching the Newell residence."

BUCYRUS, Ohio, March 4.—Both engines, the baggage car, and a combination coach of the eighteen-hour New York to Chicago Pennsylvania Limited, traveling forty miles an hour, were derailed four miles west of here early to-day by the breaking of a wheel on the second engine's tender. Nobody was injured.

The Pullmans stayed on the track. Not even a window was broken. Traffic was delayed until noon.

Officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad say that only the trucks under the water tanks of the first and second engines and the combination car left the tracks in the derailment of the Pennsylvania flier. The rest of the train was brought to Bucyrus, where it was attached to another locomotive and then continued on to Chicago.

PLANTS HAIR ON BALD HEADS.

"Living Wig" Discovery of Budapest Physician Interests Doctors.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 4.—A Budapest dispatch says the "living wig" discovery of a Budapest physician, Dr. Franz Szekely, has created a mild sensation in Hungarian medical circles. How he succeeded in implanting hairs on bald pates was demonstrated by the discoverer before a meeting of the Royal Medical Society and three subjects, who had undergone the process, were brought forward as further testimony of the practicability. Dr. Szekely's method is simple enough. An almost invisible gold wire is bent into a tiny loop, in which is placed a sterilized hair from a woman's head, and the two are fastened to an injection needle.

The hair is drawn to the point of a needle and the wire is bound round it and cut off about two millimeters from the bend, so that a tiny hook adheres to the needle. This is then stuck into the scalp and withdrawn, leaving the hair together with the gold wire implanted in the skin. From 300 to 500 hairs can be implanted in this way in an hour without pain.

The "living wig" can be brushed, combed, and washed without the least discomfort or annoyance.

Prof. Havas, who was present at the demonstration, declared that the Szekely wig was lasting, and said he had examined one made five and a half years ago and found the hair remained quite smooth and soft. He believed the discovery to be of the highest importance.

New Telephone Directory Out.

The new telephone directory was issued yesterday and before nightfall 50,000 copies had been distributed in the lower end of Manhattan. To-day the books will be distributed in Brooklyn and the distribution will be pushed as rapidly as possible until the five Boroughs are covered. There are 500,000 to be distributed, and with a force of 300 men the company say it will take three weeks to place the entire edition. This edition contains 20 more pages and 7,000 more names than the October edition.

The Doctor says: "When run down I prescribe Sanatogen for myself"

AMONG the fifteen thousand physicians who have written of the splendid results following the use of Sanatogen among their patients there are many who state that they themselves have taken Sanatogen and personally have felt its rejuvenating, upbuilding influence. Surely this is highly significant.

The heavy strain imposed by the physician's trying service to mankind often brings the same penalties to the nervous system from which he is endeavoring to safeguard his patients. He knows that nerve exhaustion must be met by restorative aid. He knows the futility of temporary stimulants where only nourishing rebuilding elements can supply the real need.

The physician's approval of Sanatogen rests on his recognition of Sanatogen's power as a food-tonic—on its capacity to answer naturally and constructively those hungers of nerves and tissues shown in lassitude, unreasonable weariness, sleeplessness, poor appetite—in a lessened efficiency for the activities and enjoyments of life.

Sanatogen, by reason of its scientifically combined elements, is heartily welcomed by the system. Natural assimilation gives steady force to its food qualities. It splendidly helps in making good the losses that have weakened brain and body—helps bring back the balance and buoyancy of perfect health.

Does not the experience of master physicians suggest the value of Sanatogen to you?

Late King Edward's Physician
Dr. Ernest Ott, Marienbad:
"I have been using Sanatogen for a number of years in my practice with excellent results. These results have been notably good in the case of elderly people when it was desirable to build up the strength, to stimulate the bodily functions, and to improve the circulation of the blood."

A Brooklyn Physician, States his own personal experience:
"I wish also to state that I have used Sanatogen myself, and can speak only in praise of it. I am a neurasthenic, and was completely run down. The improvement in my condition was marked after taking the Sanatogen for three days. I have steadily improved in health and strength and increased in weight. Sanatogen has more than realized my expectation, it has done wonders for me."

A Kentucky Physician writes:
"I feel that I have almost recovered from my attack of neurasthenia which overtook me early in June. I attribute this recovery almost entirely to Sanatogen which I have been taking regularly since July 1st. I believe about three or four weeks more of its use will put me on my feet."

Prof. Thos. B. Stillman, M.S., Ph.D.
The well-known research chemist of Stevens' Institute, writes:
"The chemical union of the constituents of Sanatogen is a true one, representative of the highest skill in the formation of a product containing phosphorus in the organic phosphate condition and so combined that digestion and assimilation of Sanatogen are rendered complete with the greatest ease."

Sanatogen is sold by all leading druggists at $1.00, $1.90 and $3.60

PAO-TING-FU IN RUINS MISSIONARIES SAFE

Mutinous Troops Kept Sworn Promise That They Would Not Molest Foreign Residents.

SERIOUS DISORDER IN TAKU

Foreign Powers Are Rushing Troops to Aid Legations—Tien-Tsin Losses Reach Millions.

PEKING, Tuesday, March 5.—An American missionary doctor has arrived from the district below Pao-Ting-Fu, which has been the centre of serious disturbances for a day or two. The doctor had been on a hunting expedition, and, learning of the mutiny at Pao-Ting-Fu, persuaded mutinous soldiers to bring the hunting party as far as that town. The mutineers had commandeered a train, and proceeded to the station below the town for loot which had been brought there by cart and pack. The soldiers seemed to appreciate the fact that the American doctor and the others were members of the Red Cross.

Pao-Ting-Fu was in a state of desolation. Everywhere buildings had been burned and shops looted. The disturbances lasted three days, and the damage is probably more extensive than at Peking or Tien-Tsin.

From Pao-Ting-Fu the American doctor came by train. A few foreigners and Chinese officials accompanied him. Most of the missionaries remain in Pao-Ting-Fu, including the women. They have been of great service in attending to the wounded.

So far as could be learned, none of the missionaries or foreigners suffered injury. Below Pao-Ting-Fu the railway is in the hands of the mutineers, who compel the railway men to move the trains at their orders.

The mutinous soldiers before they began the rioting proclaimed three orders: First, that the foreigners should not be interfered with; second, that there should be no killing; third, that there should be no burning. They observed only the first order, however.

Not many persons were killed, but fires were started everywhere. When the work of pillage was completed, the mutineers left the town and proceeded south, sacking other towns and infecting other garrisons with the spirit of rebellion.

This city was surprisingly quiet throughout yesterday, and at the foreign legations it is thought that order can be restored unless the southern soldiers begin to mutiny.

Reports from the interior say that bands of soldiers are looting in all directions.

The commander of the British troops at Feng Tai has received reports that the mutineers, who were driven off on Sunday, have been reinforced and are moving down the railway. The Inniskilling Fusiliers, guarding that section, are being shifted to advantageous positions.

It is reliably reported that Yuan Shi Kai has brought into Peking a new bodyguard from his home, Province of Honan. He shifts his troops about Peking almost daily, one day giving the old style troops command, and the next detaining them in barracks and leaving the police and gendarmes in control. The police, who are for the most part Manchus, and the Manchu regiments, are proving more loyal than the others.

LONDON, March 5.—The losses at Peking alone through the disorders are estimated at 20,000,000 taels by the correspondent of The Daily Telegraph in the Chinese capital, who affirms the existence of a Manchu terrorists' organization, which is dispatching emissaries in all directions to incite the troops to revolt.

Frightful accounts have reached Peking of anarchy and savagery in the provinces of Shen-Si, Shan-Si, and Kan-Su. A new pretender to the throne is mooted in the person of Marquis Chu Cheng Yu, a lineal descendant of the Ming Emperor, Wan-leih. There is an old prophecy that the Mings would recover the throne in 1913, and, says the correspondent, should the pretender obtain the adherence of the army, this astounding development may be realized.

POWERS ARE SENDING TROOPS.

Two Hundred Americans Going from Shanghai, Also a Cruiser.

SHANGHAI, March 4.—A detachment of 200 United States Marines has been ordered to sail from here to-morrow on the collier Abarenda to reinforce the troops at Tien-Tsin. The protected cruiser Cincinnati is leaving for Tien-Tsin at the same time.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Arrangements have been made whereby Mr. Calhoun, American Minister to China, may obtain 700 additional troops by telegraphing directly to Manila, should they be needed. He was to-day instructed to do this, after consultation with his diplomatic colleagues in Peking, if at any time he thought it desirable to have a few more American soldiers at Peking, Tien-Tsin, or along the railway from Peking to the sea.

TOKIO, March 4.—Japanese troops, 1,200 strong, started from Kwang-tung to-day to reinforce the North China garrison.

PARIS, March 4.—The Government has ordered 200 soldiers from Tien-Tsin to Peking to reinforce the Legation guard. The authorities of Tonkin have orders to send troops to Tien-Tsin to take the place of the men leaving for Peking and hold a regiment in reserve.

BERLIN, March 4.—The situation in China is causing anxiety here. The Admiralty to-day ordered 100 men to proceed from Tsingtao to Peking to reinforce the Legation guard.

DISTURBANCES AT TAKU.

Tien-Tsin Calmer, but Counts Its Loss by Millions.

TIEN-TSIN, Tuesday, March 5.—Disturbances occurred last night at Taku, at the mouth of the Pei-Ho, thirty-miles southeast of Tien-Tsin. The women and children were removed to tugs this morning, and most of them were brought to this city.

Strong military patrols guarded all the foreign concessions here throughout the night. Proclamations had been posted all over the city, ordering the inhabitants to remain indoors after 8 o'clock at night and declaring martial law in force.

Absolute quiet prevailed in the city throughout yesterday. The measures taken by the foreign Consuls and commanders of the troops evidently intimidated the riotous element of the population and mutinous soldiery.

The buildings connected with the railroad and the warehouses, belonging to foreign firms, are guarded by strong detachments of foreign troops. Generally speaking, foreign property has not suffered, but in the native city there has been a great deal of destruction.

It is estimated that the damage in Tien-Tsin from fire alone exceeds $6,000,000. A vastly greater loss is due to the looting.

Ruin is to be seen in every important thoroughfare, and some incinerated corpses lie about the streets. There were several more executions yesterday, but it is feared that the authorities are decapitating scapegoats and not punishing the real offenders.

All trade is at a standstill. Such stores as have not been looted are keeping up their shutters. The pawnshops have been hitherto the principal sufferers from the outbreak, scarcely any escaping the attention of the looters, although some time ago their proprietors, fearing disturbances might happen, bricked up the doors and windows.

Two companies of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers have been ordered to remain at Feng-tai on the railroad to Peking, where the British troops on Sunday formed with loaded rifles and fixed bayonets to resist a large body of Chinese soldiers who threatened to hold up the trains.

The railway from here to Peking is open and trains yesterday were not molested.

TO ASK EUROPE'S RECOGNITION.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen Coming in Spring to Seek Loan Also.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, March 4. — The Tägliche Rundschau learns that Dr. Sun Yat Sen is coming to Europe in the Spring to ask the powers to recognize the Republic of China.

After visiting London and Paris, Dr. Sun Yat Sen will come to Berlin to confer not only with the Government, but also with German bankers in connection with an international loan, which he will be authorized to float in behalf of the republic.

YUAN'S SOLDIERS MAKE VOWS.

Promise Son Amid Tears That They Will Be Faithful.

CHICAGO, March 4.—A cablegram from Pekin to The Chicago Daily News says:

"Yuan Shi-Kai's son addressed his father's soldiers to-day, imploring them not to cause the ruin of the country.

"The men wept and said they feared that Yuan's going south would cause their disbandment and starvation. They declared the disorder was meant as a protest against their chief's going away, and that they would remain faithful hereafter.

"Pekin is quieter to-day. There were many executions last night by the police, who stringently maintained martial law.

"During the worst disorders in this city many foreigners distinguished themselves for their courage in rescuing people outside the legations. Capt. Kipp and Lieut. Randall helped to bring in all the Americans and Count Maximilian Pappenheim defended his friends under critical circumstances until relief came.

"Gen. Chang, a grizzled veteran and suppressor of many riots, made a tour of the camps to-day, appealing to the soldiers to be faithful. One soldier, who attempted to assassinate him, was beheaded."

NAMES FAMINE RELIEF DAY.

President Taft Makes Nation-Wide Appeal for Stricken Chinese.

William B. Millar, Secretary of the China Famine Relief Committee, has received this letter from President Taft:

> Dear Mr. Millar:
>
> I sincerely trust that the people of the country will observe Sunday, March 10, and the Jewish people Saturday, March 9, as a famine relief day for the benefit of the starving multitudes in China. To all of us alike must come the appeal from these famine-stricken people, and to all of us if we respond there will sometimes come back the words, "Hungry, and ye fed me."
>
> With best wishes for a successful appeal to the sympathy and assistance of our American people, I am, Yours sincerely,
>
> WILLIAM H. TAFT,
> President American Red Cross.

The committee points out that not since 1878 has so terrible a famine afflicted China. No deductions for expenses are made from funds received and cabled to China, and within four days this money is actually doing the work for which it was given.

SHOOTS AT SHADOW, HITS INNOCENT MAN

THIEF MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Second Bullet Passes Through a Girl's Hair as She Stoops Over the Fallen Man.

James and Antonino Biondolillo, of 216 East 102d Street, chased a man into the tenement at 245 East 103d Street early last night, believing him to be one of three who had held up and robbed James of $92 a short time before as he was entering the tailor shop run by his father, brother and himself at 248 East 104th Street.

The men had escaped after beating James nearly senseless and when he and his brother caught sight of the man they chased, they were on their way to the East 104th Street police station to report the robbery.

The fugitive gained the tenement entrance a few steps ahead of the brothers and when they entered they could hear him running up the stairs. They followed to the third floor where they suspected he had entered a rear flat. There were glass panels in the door and on these the brothers pounded, demanding admittance. Through the frosted glass they made out the figure of a man who stood just within but who made no move to open the door to their summons.

"I'll shoot if you don't open the door," exclaimed Antonino at last. He had put a revolver in his hip pocket when he left his home. There was no reponse from within and Antonino fired.

There was a scream as the bullet crashed through the glass and when Antonino fired again presently there was another cry, this time in a girl's voice. The brothers stood outside the door uncertain what to do when Policeman Wey of the East 104th Street station came running up the stairs, having heard the shots in the street.

On the policeman's command the door was opened and he and the brothers saw Jeremiah Kelleher, a stone cutter, lying on the floor with a wound in his chest. His neice, Johanna Corbett, 18 years old, was holding his head while Mrs. Kelleher stood nearby crying hysterically. The second bullet, the girl said, had passed through her hair as she bent over her uncle.

Wey told Mrs. Kelleher and Miss Corbett of the brother's suspicions that a man had entered that flat. The women denied this and allowed Wey to go through the flat. There was no one there except the three. The policeman called an ambulance from Harlem Hospital and the surgeon hurried Kelleher there, saying he might die. Antonino Biondolillo was locked up in the East 104th Street station.

Bill for Limited Parcels Post.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Limited parcels post legislation is proposed as a "rider" attached to the Post Office Appropriation bill as reported to the House to-day with recommendations for an aggregate of $259,827,749 in appropriations for the entire postal establishment during the next fiscal yar. Under the plan proposed by the Post Office Committee parcels may be sent through the mails up to a limit of 11 pounds at 12 cents a pound except on rural free delivery routes, where the proposed parcels post is to be tried only experimentally for two years.

Reward for Military Inventor.

WASHINGTON, March 4. — Major George C. Squiers of the Signal Corps of the army has been selected for appointment as Military Attaché at the Court of St. James. This preferment is intended as a mark of honor for Major Squiers for his inventions in telephony, the principal of which is that of multiplex telephoning on one wire.

Our Bonding Firms Shut Out.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 4.—Controller Prendergast of New York in a letter to Controller Thrift of Baltimore to-day threatened that if this city's administration does not stop discriminating against outside surety companies, New York City will retaliate by shutting out Baltimore surety companies.

Some time ago the Democratic boss of Baltimore, John J. Mahon, became the agent of a company here. It then became apparent that outside companies would get but little, if any, of the city's bonding business.

Ex-Pastor Heads Herrick's Bank.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 4.—Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, head of the Society for Savings, sails to his new post in France in a few days. In his place as Acting President of the bank will be the Rev. J. D. Williamson, a Presbyterian minister. The Acting President is 62, a tall, scholarly-looking man, with white hair, and thick white beard. In 1901 he resigned from the ministry to take charge of the estate of his brother, S. E. Williamson.

In no way is this offering to be compared with the "ragtag and bobtail" that is ordinarily offered at this season of the year underprice. In no sense is it to be looked at, as are practically all the offerings now made, as an accumulation of what the others did not want. It is not composed of odds and ends, left-overs, loud patterns and broken sizes.

Almost every garment was designed since December 1st, and, in consequence, has the advantage of having been styled coincidently with the great majority of all the ready-for-service clothes that will go on sale next Fall. In other words, the models are advanced to a degree which fully justifies our assuring you of their being good style for a full year to come.

Many of the fabrics were specially designed for Smith Gray & Co. and will not be found in any other ready-for-service clothes for another season, and the remainder of the fabrics are exclusive custom styles.

Weights are medium—the most comfort-giving and the most satisfactory for service at any season of the year.

At no one time has there ever been offered exclusive and specially designed fabrics in advanced models in medium weights in such complete assortment at such tremendous values as these now.

The Truth About Rug Prices

THAT is what you get at Vantine's. The people of New York have been getting it for forty years.

Here is what Elbert Hubbard says:

"Behold rugs made in the Fifteenth Century—before Columbus turned the prow of his caravel to the West. Rugs made before the day of Michelangelo and Leonardo da Vinci—individual things, the price of which is three or four or five thousand dollars. Then, side by side with these, you will be shown other rugs which to me were just as beautiful—perhaps more so—made in imitation of the antiques; things worked out with the same loving care and indifference to the flight of time, that can be bought from $7.50 up.

"The joy in visiting Vantine's is that you are not deceived as to values."

There are more large country homes being built around New York than ever before. Vantine has always led in this larger rug trade and offers now an exhaustive selection of large pieces.

In smaller rugs, every day we are told our regular prices are lower than the "sale" prices elsewhere.

CONGRESSMEN HEAR STRIKERS' CHILDREN

GOMPERS ATTACKS I. W. W.

Girl Socialist Declares Militiamen Attacked Women and Children at the Lawrence Station.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Many stories of poverty and brutality in the mill town of Lawrence, Mass., were related to the House Rules Committee to-day by witnesses from the strike-ridden Massachusetts town when hearings on the Berger and Wilson resolutions were resumed.

Thirteen children, representing almost as many nationalities, told of the clubbing of women and children by the police of Lawrence, and one of the striking mill workers, Samuel Lipson, describing himself as too poor to become a naturalized American citizen, charged that the police acted "worse than Cossacks in time of revolution" when the strikers tried to take women and children to trains which were to carry them to other communities.

Jane Bock, the last witness of the day, a Socialist worker in Philadelphia, told the committee she saw the Lawrence police beat down young children with clubs when the deporting of the children was attempted. It was evident that the committee wondered whether her narration truly pictured conditions at Lawrence, and when Representative Hardwick asked Miss Bock whether she was certain she saw little children brutally clubbed, warning her that it was a serious charge against the bluecoats of Lawrence, she insisted that she in no way exaggerated the facts.

"I was pushed by the police close against a car and held there so that I could not move," she said, in describing the scene at the Lawrence station. "The children were screaming, and many were dragged to a military truck and literally thrown there."

Chairman Henry was silent for a momen and then explained that the committe while unable to answer Miss Bock's question extemporaneously, would undoubtedly consider it in such action as is taken on the Berger and Wilson resolutions. The scene in the marble-lined room where the hearing progressed to-day was again one of tense interest. A great crowd of spectators thronged the room and crowded around the mill town children.

Children on Witness Stand.

Samuel Golden, 16 years old, testified that he received $1.64 for three days' work and never made more than $5.10 in a week. He said children paid 5 cents a week for drinking water, which was "canal water," whether they drank it or not, and were docked an hour's pay if they were late. His father never made more than $9 a week, he said.

"Are you a striker?" asked Representative Pou.

"I am," returned the lad, proudly. "I saw a policeman grab a woman by the throat and hit her with a club. It was a good club, too."

Charles Vasletsky, 15 years old, said he went to school until he was 14 and then went to work "because we didn't have enough to eat."

John Bolderer, 15 years old, said he got $5.10 a week and so did his father.

"Did you like things better in the old country?" asked Representative Lenroot.

"Not much better. I think I would rather be there, but I would not want to go alone. My father spent lots of money to come over here. I would like to go to school, but I have to work, and it's hard. We can't eat bread and water all the time. We have meat only once a week."

Cammella Taoli, a little girl, told how her scalp had been torn off by the machinery in one of the mills. The company had paid a seven months' hospital bill, she said. Several other children testified.

Max Bogatin, one of the Socialist committee which went to Lawrence to accompany strikers' children to homes in Philadelphia, declared a soldier tried to keep him in the station by guarding the door with a bayonet.

"I saw the soldiers pick the children up by the legs like they were rags," he said, "and I saw one woman choked by a soldier. I was beaten by one of the policemen and still have wounds on my back where they beat me."

When Samuel Lipsom took the stand he was asked if he was a citizen of the United States.

"I had my first papers, but never had money enough to take out second papers. Instead of paying $4 for papers, I had to buy shoes for my little ones.

"When we tried to get the children to the train," he said, "the police pushed the women and children with clubs. They acted worse than Russian Cossacks in times of revolution. Things were so terrible that we decided to appeal to our Ambassadors at Washington for protection."

"Then most of you are foreigners and you decided to appeal to a foreign Government rather than to the United States for protection?"

"If necessary. Conditions were awful. The soldiers beat the children. I have seen them knock down children on the streets."

Representative Hardwick asked Lipsom to give names. He said a Syrian boy had been stabbed.

"Is that boy here?"

"He's stabbed—dead—to death," Lipsom muttered. "He was running away when the soldier stabbed him."

"How old was he?"

"He was 16 to 20 years old."

"Then he wasn't a child?"

"Well, he was pretty young to be stabbed. The soldier was exonerated."

Representative Campbell asked Lipsom if the strikers had sent a committee to the mill owners. Lipsom said a committee was sent to them, and on one occasion the members were thrown down the stairs. This, he said, he did not see.

Lipsom complained that Gov. Foss had not been fair to the strikers. He said the Governor was told that when a striker was arrested the Clerk of the court at Lawrence refused to accept cash money for bail.

"The Governor didn't try to answer about the clerk," said Lipsom. "He tried to cross-examine use about our wages and work. He was acting in a cold manner, so we saw we could do nothing with him."

Gompers Addresses Committee.

Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, addressed the committee. He said he wished to appear in support of the resolution for an inquiry rather than as a witness.

"The statement has been made here that the United Textile Workers had failed to organize these people and were organized merely to get money for the workers," he said. "If that statement were true the United Textile Workers ought not to exist. But it isn't true. The truth is that the tyrannical attitude of the mill owners of Lawrence in perverting the minds of these poor people caused these conditions."

Mr. Gompers praised the work of John Golden, President of the United Textile Workers, and told the committee that he had been slandered by his fellows.

As Mr. Gompers was leaving the building two labor men engaged him in argument, charging that he was not treating the Industrial Workers fairly in his argument. A crowd surrounded them, but several Congressmen interfered and ended the dispute.

DENIES UNDUE VIOLENCE.

Gov. Foss's Secretary Defends Militia in Message to The Times.

In reply to an inquiry addressed by THE NEW YORK TIMES to Gov. Foss as to whether the testimony of Samuel Lipsom before the Congressional committee concerning the alleged brutal treatment of Lawrence strikers by the militia was true, this reply was received last night from Dudley M. Holman, Gov. Foss's secretary:

BOSTON, Mass., March 4.—In the absence of the Governor, I beg to acknowledge receipt of your telegraphic inquiry. Lipson's statements are not justified by the facts. The troops have been in Lawrence more than seven weeks, and for several weeks the city was practically under martial law, the civil authorities having stated they were unable to cope with the situation. There have been few really serious clashes between the military forces and the strikers. At times there have been from 25,000 to 30,000 persons idle on account of the strike.

Most of the collisions between strikers and the troops have been in the dark in the early morning. The young man who was killed by a bayonet thrust was in a mob which refused to disperse. Window weights, stones, coal, wood, and other missiles were thrown at the soldiers, and a serious fight was in progress. No one fell to the ground, and no one knows just when or how Roule was injured, but it was undoubtedly from a bayonet thrust in the fight.

He was about 19 years of age, and was a striker, formerly employed in the Arlington Mills. The women are generally put in the first rows by the men. Some of them are hard fighters and have slapped the soldiers in the face and thrown pepper in their eyes. They are urged from the platforms at strike meetings to go on the firing line.

There have been two fatalities. The soldiers, according to reports, have not used undue force, and no woman or child has been clubbed by the soldiers, but, of course, mobs cannot be handled gently and some force has been required.

Women and girls going to work have been assaulted and beaten up by strikers on numerous occasions. The soldiers are mainly men who work for a living, some of them mill operatives themselves, are not brutal in their treatment of citizens, and have faced dangers from mobs with much self-restraint, under severe provocation.

Reports have been much exaggerated and highly colored. The great majority of the strikers have been law abiding, though they have paraded and picketed at the mills. With comparatively few exceptions there has been a remarkable absence of actual violence when the length of time, the number on strike, and the serious nature of the situation are taken into account, together with the urging to violence by some of the leaders. Police have been shot at from windows, and it is a very serious situation yet.

There are grave issues involved which will have to be met before there is any permanent adjustment of the difficulties. The Governor offered his services to bring about a solution, but neither side would accept his proposition. This State Board of Arbitration failed to get the opposing parties together, and a legislative committee of conciliation has not been able to secure any settlement.

The troops have been reduced from twenty-four companies to eight, and these will be retired at the earliest moment compatible with public safety, and as the civil authorities show ability to handle the situation, which they are rapidly doing.

DUDLEY M. HOLMAN,
Secretary to the Governor.

RIOT CALL AT LAWRENCE.

Disturbance Follows Meeting Addressed by Women Professors.

LAWRENCE, Mass., March 4.—The riot call was sounded to-night for the first time in several days, when a crowd of more than 2,000 men and women who had been at a mass meeting poured out into the streets, shouting and singing. The police were sent out in a hurry, and after several clashes the crowd was dispersed.

The meeting, which had been announced under the auspices of the "Progressive Women of Lawrence," was held to protest against the action of the police officials two weeks ago, when a party of children were prevented from departing for Philadelphia. Among the speakers were Prof. Vida S. Scudder and Prof. Ellen Hayes of Wellesley College.

The Children's Committee of the Industrial Workers to-night voted to send sixty children to Philadelphia on Wednesday or Thursday.

Another crucial day in the textile strike is looked for to-morrow. The strikers made preparations to-night to increase by several hundred the 500 pickets who did duty to-day, but the mill agents say that many operatives, who remained away this morning through fear of violence, will report for duty to-morrow to take advantage of the advance in pay.

The military forces will be considerably smaller than yesterday, for four companies of the Ninth Regiment were excused to-day and their places have not been filled.

Impartial observers declared that the number of operatives at work to-day, aside from the thousand or more members of the Central Labor Union, did not exceed the number working last week. This indications that they were holding their own was pleasing to the strike leaders.

How long the mills will hold open their offer of a 5 per cent. advance is not known except that the Arlington has announced that after Wednesday morning the management will not guarantee work to its strikers. Until that time any former employe will be taken back at the increased scale.

President John Golden of the Textile Workers of America returned to-day from Washington. Shortly after his arrival it was announced from the headquarters of the Central Labor Union that it had been decided to remain neutral as a body on the question of the return of operatives at the offered increase of 5 per cent. and upward. Nevertheless, several of the unions affiliated with the Central Labor Union have voted in favor of returning to the mills.

Shortly after 7 o'clock this morning James P. Thompson of Chicago, general organizers of the Industrial Workers of the World, dashed out of his lodgings on Broadway and ran, scantily clad, to a harness shop, where he declared an attempt had ben made on his life. He was taken to the Hotel Needham, where a doctor dressed two wounds on his head.

Formal Presentation
Paris Millinery for Spring

In the French Salon Today and Following Days of This Week

Even to the woman who is acquainted with the Gimbel Millinery Service, the importance of this Opening will not be obvious. Because—

A decided change in modes was presented by the Parisian modistes at the last moment. But, realizing that a change of style simply had to come for Spring, our Millinery chiefs had waited in Paris until the inevitable occurred. Therefore, we are in a position to present the latest and most authentic modes of Paris.

The Gimbel Bureau in Paris maintains an organization which is unrivalled in the fashion circles of the French capital. And this Bureau keeps us conversant with every new idea of Paris.

All the famous modistes contributed to this display. It would be incomplete if every artist were not to be represented, as each is famous for a certain type of hat. And they also had different ideas of what the new styles should be. However, the genius of these modistes dominates:

Georget Reboux Lewis
Talbot Paul Poiret Louison

What are the styles? That is the surprise that we think should be reserved for your own vision. But, we will say that chapeaux were never more artistic or beautiful.

Besides, we shall present adaptations of Paris models that are the handiwork of our own skilled milliners. These hats are the most remarkable in New York—being typically French in style, but very conservative in price.

We cordially invite you to visit this Opening Third Floor

TAFT PLAN WILL AID TRADE, SAYS STRAUS

WILL HELP EXPORT TRADE

Secretary McKinnon of Boston Chamber of Commerce Says Move Will Impress European Business Men.

Oscar S. Straus, who was Secretary of Commerce and Labor in Col. Roosevelt's second term, and who is one of the most ardent supporters of the former President for renomination, yesterday issued a statement commenting upon President Taft's action in attempting to bring about closer relations between the Federal Government and the commercial interests of the country.

Mr. Straus takes the position that while he approves of the President's act, he nevertheless desires it to be known that the initiative in this direction was first taken by Mr. Roosevelt, and that in following the example set him by his predecessor President Taft is simply adopting an established Roosevelt policy which he had previously abandoned. Mr. Straus's statement follows:

"The morning papers report that President Taft has taken the initiative in a movement to bring the business men of the country in touch with the Government for advice and counsel in the administration of laws and the enactment of new statutes; that under the direction of the President the Secretary of Commerce and Labor has called a convention of delegates from commercial organizations in all parts of the country, to meet in Washington on April 15 for discussion and to plan an organization.

"This is certainly a move in the right direction and of great value to the Government and to the commercial men of the country.

"But the public and the commercial bodies will remember that not only was the initiative in this important movement taken by President Roosevelt, but also under his inspiration, advice, and direction. While I was Secretary of Commerce and Labor, this movement of bringing together the commercial bodies of the country into relationship with the various departments of the Government having to do with Congress was not only initiated, but also was organized, and in December, 1908, some sixty of the leading commercial bodies of the country sent delegates to Washington, and in the office of the Secretary formed just such an organization, namely, the National Council of Commerce. The first annual meeting was held in January, 1909, and the scope of the council was enlarged and a central bureau established in Washington.

"With the change of Administration this National Council of Commerce, the organization of which had been initiated and perfected under President Roosevelt, to the great disappointment of the commercial bodies, did not receive the encouragement of the new Administration, and therefore it fell into desuetude.

"I do not refer to these facts except to emphasize the value and importance of this move for the organization of the commercial bodies of the country. The leading commercial bodies of the country, which constitute the National Council of Commerce, will recognize the fact that not only the initiative but the organization of such a movement took place under the last Administration, and it is gratifying to know that this body is again to receive administrative encouragement.

"The department in 1908 made a study of the relation of commercial bodies to Governmental agencies in Germany, France, and Great Britain, showing the benefits the Governments of these countries derived from this co-operation in the advancement of the domestic and foreign commerce of those respective countries. The several departments of the Government under the last Administration co-operated with the Department of Commerce in the organization of the Council of Commerce, especially the Departments of State, Agriculture, and the Interior.

"Mr. Root addresed the delegates on that occasion, pointing out with his usual clearness and force the advantages the Government would derive in matters affecting foreign tariffs in connection with the promotion of the export trade.

"We have in this country probably a more enlightened, efficient, and enterprising set of men engaged in commerce and manufacture than are to be found in any other country, and it is a great loss to the Government and to our commercial and trade organizations that there exists no systematic relationship between these commercial bodies and the Government. President Roosevelt recognized this fact, and when representatives of the sixty or more commercial bodies called at the White House he impressed upon them, in his usual forceful way, the benefits the country would derive from a connection between commercial bodies and the Governmental agencies, and gave to the National Council of Commerce his enthusiastic support."

BOSTON, March 4.—The call of President Taft for the formation of a National commercial organization was received to-day with much enthusiasm by Secretary William A. McKinnon and other officials of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, particularly on account of the fact that there is to be held here in September, for the first time in America, the international Congress of Chambers of Commerce.

Secretary McKinnon said:

"President Taft's action will be looked upon by the great European business leaders who are coming to this country to attend the congress as an aggresive step for the promotion of foreign trade by the United States and as an indication that this country intends to follow the lines laid down by Germany and other commercial nations."

NEW SUBAMRINES GO TO SEA.

Resemble Houses Adrift as They Start on First Ocean Test Voyage.

Submarines E-1 and E-2, the latest type of their class and the first war vessels to be equipped with the Deisel oil-burning internal combustion engines, left the Brooklyn Navy Yard yesterday afternoon and started on their voyage to Norfolk for their first deep sea test. E-1, flagship of the third submarine division, with Lieut. Chester W. Nimitz on the tiny canvas-covered bridge, led the way, and she had hardly turned into the East River before Ensign Clarence Hinkpam gave the signal and E-2 was sent speeding after her.

Both vessels presented an odd appearance for submarines, for each carries two thirty-foot masts, between which are strung the aerials for wireless apparatus. They are the first of their class to carry wireless.

The length of the voyage makes it necessary for them to carry much extra weight. In the tanks are 5,000 gallons of oil fuel, and crowded into the interior, already so full of machinery that one climbing down the tiny ladders gets the impression that he is entering the case of a gigantic watch, are the effects of the crew, eighteen men on each boat, and the provisions.

Lieut. Nimitz is in command of the division, and upon his arrival at Norfolk will relieve Lieut. Warren G. Child, temporarily in command of the third division, and E-1 will be the flagship. The new submarines were placed in commission at Boston on Feb. 15. They went to Newport, R. I., where they received their torpedo equipment, and came here through the Sound.

COLUMBIA'S 1912-13 BUDGET.

The Columbia University Trustees met yesterday and adopted the budget for the year 1912-13. It shows an estimated expenditure of $3,159,730, which is $132,000 in excess of the estimated income. The largest item is educational administration and instruction, which will require $2,180,402 for the year. Interest on the debt is nearly $119,000 and the maintenance of buildings and grounds totals up to $332,593. The 1912-13 budget exceeds the budget of 1911-12, the present academic year, by $383,729.

The Treasurer reported to the Trustees that he had received about $1,550,000 from the executors of the estate of the late George Crocker. Accordingly, the work of cancer research, for which Mr. Crocker gave this sum as an endowment, will begin at once. The Research Fund will be intrusted for administration to a Board of Managers, which was named yesterday, to consist of Mr. Rives, Mr. Cheesman and President Butler. Dean Lambert, Professors Janeway and MacCallum of the Medical Faculty, together with a Director of Cancer Research to be appointed later.

Felix Kruger, Professor of Psychology at the University of Halle, was designated as the Kaiser Wilhelm Exchange Professor for 1912-13.

Herman Levy's Car Not in Collision.

The machine which collided Saturday afternoon in Times Square with the taxicab in which Mrs. Leo C. Teller was riding was not operated by Herman Levy of 229 Fourth Avenue, as stated in THE TIMES Sunday. Mrs. Levy says that her husband's chauffeur, James Gilliard, was a witness to the accident, but that his car was not in collision.

Judgment Against Vanco, Not Vance.

It was reported in these columns on Friday morning that a judgment of $300 had been rendered against the Vance Manufacturing Co. in favor of G. W. Bricka. This should have read the Vanco Manufacturing Co. instead of the Vance Manufacturing Co.

FOSS CALLS TARIFF A DOUBLE CRIME

High Protection He Terms an Offense, Economic and Social—Labor Not Benefited by It.

SPEAKS AT DEMOCRATIC CLUB

Our Factory Labor the Cheapest of All Because Most Efficient—Congressman Garrett Pokes Fun at Roosevelt.

Predictions of a sweeping Democratic victory throughout the United States next November, a general all-around denunciation of the Payne-Aldrich tariff, and much enthusiasm marked the tariff reform dinner in the National Democratic Club last night. The principal speaker was Gov. Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts, who said that the tariff was and will be, until the last vote is cast next November, the paramount issue in the pending campaign for the Presidency. He referred to the great textile strike in Lawrence, and said that the misuse of the tariff was to a great extent responsible for the terrible conditions now existing in that city. The policy of high protection he described as both a social and an economic crime.

The other speakers, all of whom talked of the tariff, were United States Senator Ollie M. James of Kentucky, Congressman James M. Cox of Ohio, and Congressman Finis James Garrett of Tennessee. Mr. Cox referred to the candidacy of Gov. Judson Harmon, and intimated that his State being willing to have the present occupant of the White House succeded by a Democrat, it had no objection whatsoever to that honor being conferred upon Gov. Harmon. Mr. Cox also had something to say about the running of Col. Roosevelt. If the Colonel were nominated the people of Ohio would remember what Washington had said of third terms, and that they could be depended upon to "go to the polls before breakfast in order to fittingly rebuke the gentleman from Oyster Bay."

The dinner, which was the third of the series of tariff reform dinners that are being given at the club this Winter, was largely attended. At the table of Thomas N. Donnelly, the President of the club, were Gov. Foss and the other guests of honor, in addition to Police Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo, Judge Alton P. Parker, Congressman J. V. Fornes, State Senator James J. Frawley, and ex-Supreme Court Justice Morgan J. O'Brien.

"Tariff reform," said Mr. Donnelly, when he introduced Gov. Foss, "is to be the paramount issue in the coming campaign, and revision downward has become a question that is so urgent that it now appeals to the patriotism rather than to the partisanship of the American people."

"The people," said Gov. Foss, "cannot be fooled again by any party. The promise to revise the tariff has been used for the last time as a means of getting into office. Everybody is beginning to have a firm grasp of the principles and facts which clearly indicate the necessity for an immediate general reduction of the tariff. The programme of the Democratic Party is to do its utmost to reduce the tariff in the present session of Congress, and the campaign must then be to maintain the reductions already made and to make further reductions from time to time.

"The day of the high tariff is over. Whatever reasons may have existed for high protection in the past, none of them is valid to-day. The very considerations that brought about the imposition of high rates now operate in favor of reductions.

"But Republican practice has been marked by prohibitive duties, restriction of domestic production and diversion of the proceeds of tariff taxation from the National revenue to private profit.

"From the results of over a half century of trial, the only conclusion that can be drawn is that, in the long run, the policy of high protection must become, as it has already become in the United States, a social and economic crime.

"As a system of taxation it is abhorrent. The amount raised for public purposes is imposed many times over upon the people for the profit of a few.

"High protection has been an irresistible inducement to domestic competitors to combine to restrict production and thereby to secure the total margin of price between the low price level, where domestic competition ceases, and the high level, where foreign competition begins.

"High protection has been the shelter for the exactions of monopoly and the real cause of almost all restraint of trade. The tariff has been turned from its original purpose of stimulating domestic production and public revenue, and has been made a means of holding American industry within such limits as should suit the private interests of the political trust, whose chief asset is its power to manipulate tariff schedules. And even as a means to private profit it has proved worthless.

"It is said that the cost of labor in the United States is so high that the product cannot be sold in competition with the product of foreign laborers. As a manufacturer I long since discovered what is coming to be generally known—that the American workman produces more in proportion to his pay than any laborer on earth. His efficiency is unequaled and his wage scale, instead of being an element of increased cost of production, is a measure of lessened cost.

"The workmen of the great textile mills at Lawrence, Mass., have been out on strike for several weeks, and their contention is that this highly protected industry no longer offers them a living wage. There is some justice on both sides of the question; but the most significant fact is that these textile wages are not adequate to meet the costs of living when these costs are kept at high and increasing figures through the misuse of the tariff.

"The narrow and selfish practice of making our tariff rates prohibitory has not only checked our commercial expansion and destroyed our merchant marine; it has also led other countries to adopt toward us a retaliatory policy and thus rendered the foreign markets still more difficult to reach."

Congressman Garrett paid his respects to Col. Roosevelt in such a way that he kept his hearers in an uproar.

"A new figure," said Mr. Garrett, "has arisen in this world. Within him are blended all the virtues and all the wisdom of the ages. Constitutions are nothing in his sight, before his tread all barriers fall, at his behest the rivers will run from the seas, the laws of supply and demand be restored or discontinued as he may choose, the sun will stand still while he fights the battles of the Lord, and within four brief years you shall see the millennium; it is believed that T. Roosevelt may himself hold the proxy of the Messiah and represent him at the second coming."

He would punish the malefactors of great wealth. "Won't you, Teddy?" said Mr. Garrett. "'Will I?'" answered Mr. Garrett for him. "'Watch me. I shall be delighted!'

"We have observed, of course," continued he, "that Mr. T. Roosevelt, amid all his multitudinous activities, did not worry with the tariff. Mr. Roosevelt was a wise man in his day and generation. He was able to assail 'My dear Harriman,' but the tariff barons? Not he. He unloaded the tariff proposition upon the expansive shoulders of the good-natured gentleman whom he selected to succeed him for one term. Mr. Taft, having been informed by Mr. Roosevelt that he was to take his place, laughed in his good-natured way and went forth to make some speeches in 1907. The mutterings of the people had become a rumble. 'There must be a revision of the tariff in the interest of the consumers,' they said. 'Why, certainly,' responded the wise men of the East; 'why, certainly,' responded the leaders of the Republican Party.

"The Republican Convention met and adopted a platform. Had the voters read it in the light of past experiences I do not believe they would have permitted themselves to have been again deceived by campaign promises and stump-speech platitudes."

Senator James spoke of "the betrayal of the American people by the Republican Party." and pitied "Poor old Bill Taft, who does everything wrong and does it on Friday."

The Senator said he wished to take one exception to the speech of Congressman Garrett, in which the Congressman said that Theodore Roosevelt did not go up againht the tariff barons.

"Theodore Roosevelt did go up against the tariff barons," said the Senator, "but he did it in the dark, and I think Judge Parker here will agree with me."

The Senator went on to say that the Republican Party was divided into two factions, the Standpatters and the Insurgents. The insurgents say: "Steal moderately." The standpatters say: "Take it all."

"President Taft," said he, "is the only President in the history of the United States that ever vetoed a bill cheapening clothing for the shivering poor." The Senator accused four members of the Taft Cabinet of lobbying in the interests of the higher tariff on woll. "As a result," said he, "the Wool Trust has a strangle hold on the American people."

SUES WIFE FOR HALF OF $100,000 HE MADE

By Pre-Nuptial Agreement in 1884 Dr. Ernhout Put Family's Finances in Her Hands.

HAD ONLY $2,000 EACH THEN

When They Separated in 1910 It Had Grown Into the Fortune to Which Mrs. Ernhout Holds Fast.

When Dr. Emory Ernhout of the Bronx was married in 1884, it was decided and agreed that all the property which either he or his wife, Mabel, might acquire should be placed in the name and under the control of the wife. This was a measure of prudence and a guard against the doctor's admitted inclination toward conviviality. Since 1884, by reason of various inheritances and a successful medical practice, Dr. Ernhout has amassed more than $100,000, and the pre-nuptial agreement has become irksome.

Dr. Ernhout appeared before Supreme Court Justice Brady yesterday in an effort to nullify the old-time agreement and to obtain at least half of the wealth which he has acquired and which was wholly in the hands of Mrs. Ernhout when the couple agreed to separate in October, 1910. It was contended yesterday by James H. Laird, Dr. Ernhout's counsel, that the agreement entered upon at the time of the marriage was in no wise binding and was revocable at any time on the wish of either of the parties.

"My client knew his weakness," declared Mr. Laird, "and on the occasion of his marriage to the woman he loved he was willing to trust her with all his possessions, even as she was willing, during the happy years of their marriage, to take care of them for him. But, surely, when the pair decided to separate in 1910, that conjugal arrangement became null and a division of the property only just.

In his suit, Dr. Ernhout demands only half his fortune. He wants an accounting of his property, which includes six houses in the Bronx from which Mrs. Ernhout has long been collecting the rent, and he demands further that the property be placed in the custody and control of some third party who may be relied upon to divide the income of the estate impartially. The income is estimated at more than $7,000 a year. When the couple married and entered into the agreement which is now being contested, each had about $2,000 cash. The inheritances which have helped in building up the fortune came from relatives of the husband.

The wife yesterday contended through her lawyer, James F. Donnelly, that the money should remain hers, that no accounting was justified, and that no custodian for the fortune was necessary.

William Merritt Chase, N. A.

From The Tribune.

"It is refreshing to walk through the American Art Galleries and find on the walls so distinctive and personal a gathering of pictures as the collection made by William M. Chase, the well-known American painter, in the course of his busy career. Even the casual visitor cannot but feel the influence of a definite aim and standard which has guided Mr. Chase in his acquisitions." . . .

"In a word, the catalogue is justified in calling this the collection of a connoisseur, while at the same time the pegs are not set so high that the ordinary person acquainted with pictures will fail to see its charm."

From The Times.

"The collection of pictures owned by William M. Chase, now on exhibition at the American Art Galleries, prior to their sale by auction, is so rich in quality that criticism has nothing to say. Each example has been chosen apparently for its beauty and character, and each captivates the observer with some particular element of charm. Painters of diverse gifts whose work is ordinarily regarded as antagonistic come together in complete harmony and reveal their most engaging attributes in this high society."

"He is anything but the ordinary collector. He is not afraid. His collection shows that he was tempted by pictures and not by names." —American.

SAY IT!

That is one reason for this announcement. Another reason is that the facts given here are valuable to every advertiser in New York City, especially those whose advertising did not appear in the columns of The Brooklyn Eagle during February.

The Eagle always does carry more paid advertising than any other New York City newspaper except two. But last month its record was exceeded by only one paper. Its advertising columns were in greater demand by advertisers than those of any other newspaper with but one exception.

In other words, The Eagle stood second in the volume of advertising.

745,968 agate lines is the amount of paid advertising that this paper carried. The only newspaper to carry more had a total of 884,777 lines, and the paper that came after The Eagle carried 705,495 lines. Every line of copy in The Eagle is paid for at full card rates.

Furthermore, The Eagle made the third largest increase of all the papers, exceeding its record of last year by 66,500 agate lines. Only two other papers gained as much as this.

In Automobile Advertising The Eagle led them all with a total of over 57,000 lines. The next paper carried only 26,900 lines of this class of advertising. Considering the Brooklyn papers alone, The Eagle carried more Automobile copy at full card rates in one single week than all the others combined carried during the entire month.

Brooklyn and Long Island, with their population of over two millions of people, constitute one of the best fields in the country for the advertiser.

The Brooklyn Eagle thoroughly represents this vast field, and it has for 70 years been Brooklyn's newspaper exponent and has had deserved and continued success and constantly increasing circulation advertising patronage.

THE BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE

A LEADER OF REFORM JUDAISM

His Acceptance of Call Expected—Will Be Co-ordinate Rabbi with Dr. Silverman—Here in September.

The congregation of Temple Emanu-El at a special meeting held in the vestry room of the temple at Fifth Avenue and Forty-third Street last night, extended a call to the Rev. Dr. Hyman G. Enelow of Louisville, Ky., to fill the vacancy in its pulpit caused by the resignation in May, 1910, of the Rev. Dr. J. L. Magnes as co-ordinate rabbi with the Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman.

Since that time various rabbis of pulpits in different cities have been considered with a view of filling the vacancy in Temple Emanu-El, one of the richest and most influential reform Jewish congregations in the country, but it was not until last night, however, that a common choice of the members fell upon the Rev. Dr. Enelow, and a unanimous call was sent to him.

Dr. Enelow's name was reported for election by a special committee on the pulpit, of which Jacob H. Schiff is Chairman. His election was thereupon moved by Emanuel J. Myers, Chairman of the Committee on Sabbath Schools of the Temple, and unanimously voted. The following telegram was then sent to Dr. Enelow at Louisville:

> At a meeting of members of Temple Emanu-El held this evening, the Board of Trustees were authorized by unanimous vote to issue a call to you to fill the vacancy in the pulpit of Temple Emanu-El. You will receive from the congregation an official communication.
> JAMES SELIGMAN, President.

Among those present at the meeting besides Mr. Seligman and Mr. Myers were M. H. Moses, Vice President; Samuel M. Schaefer, Treasurer; William I. Spiegelberg, ex-Judge H. A. Dittenhoefer, Henry Sidenberg, Daniel Guggenheim, ex-Justice David Leventritt, Samuel Fleischman, Charles S. Spiegelberg, and George Rosenfeld.

Expect an Acceptance.

It is expected that the call will be accepted, and that Dr. Enelow will enter upon his new duties in September in time to officiate at the Jewish holidays in the Fall. About two weeks ago the Trustees of his congregation in Louisville, learning that he was being considered to fill the vacancy at Temple Emanu-El, voted, with resolutions of regret, not to interfere with his entering upon wider activities than the congregation there afforded him, and to release him from his contract with them in case he should decide to accept the call to Temple Emanu-El.

Dr. Enelow is considered one of the foremost of the younger reform rabbis of the country. He is a graduate of the Hebrew Union College at Cincinnati, where he studied under the late Dr. Isaac M. Wise, founder of the seminary, and one of the pioneers and leaders of reform Judaism in America. He was a classmate there with Dr. Magnes, his predecessor in the pulpit of Temple Emanu-El. After leaving the Hebrew Union College Dr. Enelow took charge of a congregation at Paducah, Ky., for a few years, and thereafter, about ten years ago, went to the congregation of Temple Adath Israel at Louisville, as associate rabbi to the late Dr. Adolf Moses. On the death of Dr. Moses soon afterward he took sole charge of the congregation, and has been its rabbi ever since. Under his ministry the congregation has grown to one of the largest and most influential in the South. Several years ago it erected a new temple, which is considered one of the finest religious edifices in the country.

Dr. Magnes's Resignation.

The resignation of Dr. Magnes from Temple Emanu-El was brought about because of differences in ritual and religious policy between him and the congregation, he being a Zionist and strongly in favor of the traditional service and ritual in the observance of the faith, with emphasis on Jewish nationalism, a view which the congregation, as one of the leading reform Jewish congregations, did not favor. Dr. Enelow, while a former classmate of Dr. Magnes, differs widely from him in this respect, believing in the principles of American reform Judaism as set forth by his former master, the late Dr. Isaac M. Wise, and being opposed, as was he, to the idea of Jewish nationalism and Zionism. About two years ago he started The Temple, a weekly paper devoted to Jewish interests in Louisville, in which he expressed his views. He is considered one of the clearest and most logical exponents and champions of the principles of reform Judaism in America, and is a scholar of profound learning. About a year ago he was considered with a view to heading as rabbi the Jewish Religious Union of England, the new reform Jewish movement in that country, but he decided after a brief visit in England to remain in this country.

Dr. Enelow is regarded as one of the most eloquent and effective orators among the younger rabbis of the country. He is about 35 years old, and is unmarried.

It was said at Temple Emanu-El last night that Dr. Enelow, if he accepts the call to its pulpit, will come as co-ordinate rabbi with the Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman, its present rabbi. Dr. Silverman has been minister at Temple Emanu-El continuously since 1888.

CHAUFFEURS HELD FOR THEFT

Three robbery cases in which either a taxicab or a chauffeur figured prominently were heard in the Criminal Court Building yesterday. Two of these were before Judge Edward Swann in General Sessions, and the other was in the Tombs Court.

The first was that of Andrew Daly, a chauffeur at 649 Ninth Avenue, alleged to be a leader of the Gopher Gang. He is charged with having with several other gangsters held up and stolen a ring valued at $380, a watch valued at $20, and $180 in cash from George L. Britt, an entertainer living at 122 West Ninety-ninth Street, on Jan. 27, while Britt was in a garage. Daly was arraigned before Judge Swann on the motion of his counsel, who asked that his client's bail be reduced. Judge Swann fixed the bail at $4,000, and commented on the recent declaration of Deputy Commissioner Dougherty to the effect that men who had served in penal institutions were running automobiles in this city.

The other prisoner before Judge Swann described himself as John Quinlan, also a chauffeur, of 153 West 100th Street. He pleaded not guilty to a charge of burglary. Quinlan, it is charged, entered the home of Miss Mabel Gordon of 4 West 108th Street on Feb. 9 and stole some handkerchiefs and toilet articles. Miss Gordon came in while he was in the act of removing the goods, and Quinlan held a revolver at her head and threatened to shoot her if she made any outcry. She called for help, however, and Quinlan jumped from a window and was arrested outside. Quinlan has served a term in the Elmira Reformatory.

The other case was that of Robert S. Roberts and Louis Matzo, the former a chauffeur and the latter a porter, who are charged with stealing a quantity of merchandise from Isaac Marks's dry goods store at 17 East Broadway, and were arrested last Friday while attempting to escape in a taxicab. Both men were arraigned before Magistrate Murphy and held without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

$40,000,000 ESTATE IN A LEGAL TANGLE

Property Worth Only About $1,000,000 When the West Indian Merchant Died in 1871.

Notice of an application for the appointment of a temporary trustee of the forty-million-dollar estate of the late William Ponsonby Furniss was filed yesterday in the Surrogates' Court. The application was placed on the motion calendar of the court for to-day. It follows the death more than three weeks ago of Miss Sophia R. C. Furniss, one of the three surviving daughters of Mr. Furniss, who was trustee of the estate of her sisters in their father's property.

In spite of the time which has elapsed since Miss Furniss's death her will has not been filed in this county. Attempts to learn whether she died intestate have been fruitless. Her death left her father's property without a trustee. It is believed that a request will be made that the trustee be a trust company, probably the Knickerbocker Trust Company, to avoid personal complications.

There has been no accounting of the great estate left by Mr. Furniss, who was a West Indian merchant prince, running a fleet of ships out of Portsmouth, N. H., for more than thirty-three years. He died in 1871. His will left his property to his widow and three daughters and three sons, with provisions that each should enjoy a life estate and the survivors should get the shares of those who should die. His three sons, Leon, Hartman, and William Furniss, are dead. The death of Miss Furniss three weeks ago left only two of his children surviving. On the death of these two his property will be distributed as though he had died intestate.

Those behind the motion which is on to-day's calendar of the Surrogates' Court for argument are William Ponsonby Furniss and Grace Livingston Furniss, grandchildren of the merchant. On the death of the two aunts still surviving, Clementine Furniss, 75 years old, and Mrs. Margaret E. Zimmerman, 80, they will get the bulk of the estate. Miss Grace Livingston Furniss is a novelist and playwright. Her best-known work is "The Pride of Jennico."

The estate of their grandfather has increased greatly in the last generation of the two that have elapsed since his death. His property was worth little more than $1,000,000 when he died, but he owned a great deal of New York realty, including his own homestead on Riverside Drive, near Ninety-sixth Street, and about six blocks on the drive, now built up with apartment houses. When a large part of his property was sold, in the panic year of 1873, the Riverside Drive property was retained.

The three daughters of Mr. Furniss were prominent socially and had a Summer home at Lenox, Mass. An attempt was made yesterday to learn whether a will of Miss Sophia Furniss had been filed at Lenox. The three daughters were estranged from the instigators of the present proceeding for a number of years and resisted in the courts their efforts to have an acounting of the estate.

Proceedings for an accounting were defeated some weeks ago in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court by the upholding of a demurrer raised by the Misses Furniss and Mrs. Zimmerman. Mrs. Zimmerman's husband is dead. She had no children.

The appointment of a temporary trustee, it was explained yesterday by the petitioners, would not only be necessary because Miss Furniss could not designate a trustee in her place, even if she left a will, but it would necessitate the accounting which has so long been desired by the reversionary heirs.

Herbert Barry, who is handling the proceedings for the reversionary heirs, said yesterday that no charge was made that the sisters had dissipated any of the property, but he insisted that since their right to the property was not absolute, an accounting was due to his clients.

BEQUESTS TO HOSPITALS.

Benevolent Institutions and Societies Also Remembered in Rothenberg Will.

The will of Bernard Rothenberg, who died Feb. 25, was filed for probate yesterday. He made bequests to many charitable institutions, including $400 to the Hebrew Benevolent and Orphan Asylum and the Mount Sinai Hospital. In addition, he left $200 to the Lebanon Hospital, $200 to the Beth Israel Hospital, $200 to the Home for Aged and Infirm Hebrews, $200 to the Montifiore Home for Chronic Invalids, $100 to the Society for Ethical Culture, $100 to the United Hebrew Charities, and $100 to the Hebrew Technical School for Boys. Bertha Feltman, a niece, and Henry Rothenberg, a brother, receive the residue of the estate.

VANDEROEF TO SING SING.

Four to Nine Years for a Man Who Had 30 Suits and 300 Pairs of Gloves.

Percy G. Vanderoef, formerly the trusted Treasurer of the Van Keuren & Thornton Company of 18 Thomas Street, who confessed to stealing $150,000 from the firm, was sentenced yesterday to not less than four years and one month or more than nine years and six months in Sing Sing by Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions.

Vanderoef was the Treasurer of the Van Keuren & Thornton Company for many years, and besides having a large salary, owned $18,000 worth of stock in the company, but extravagant living led him to steal. He was paying his wife $2,400 alimony, and at the time of his arrest owned 300 pairs of gloves, 15 extra vests, and 30 suits. He also had a passion for orchids, and spent hundreds of dollars to obtain rare flowers of that species. He ran up big taxicab and hotel bills.

Quick Work Saves Deer Lodge, in Virginia, from Destruction.

Special to The New York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., March 4.—Deer Lodge, Frank Gould's country place in Chesterfield County, near Chester, was saved from destruction by fire early this morning by the quick work of J. D. Mathews and his wife, who were awakened by the smoke, and extinguished the flames before they spread from the dining room, where they originated. Several thousand dollars' damage was caused by the fire.

Mr. Gould owns the controlling interest in the Virginia Railway and Power Company and frequently visits Deer Lodge on hunting trips.

MORE TAXI ROBBERS INDICTED

Seven Added to the List, Making Eleven in All—Three at Large.

Seven more of the men implicated in the Trinity Place hold-up, when $25,000 was stolen from messengers of the East River National Bank, were indicted by the Grand Jury yesterday. Eleven of the men connected with that crime have now been indicted. Those indicted yesterday were Eugene Splaine, Matteo Arbano, the man known as "Dutch," the boy who is known as "Joe the Kid," and a man whose name was not made public. All are indicted for robbery in the first degree. Pascale and Dileo, the saloon keepers of 208 Thompson Street, in whose place the money was divided, were indicted for receiving stolen goods. All pleaded not guilty to the indictments except Spaine, who pleaded guilty.

Three of those under indictment are still at large. The police, however, say they will get them soon.

DIRT FLIES IN NEW BROOKLYN BALL PARK

A crowd of more than 500 enthusiastic baseball fans, with their wives and children, turned out in Flatbush yesterday to see President Ebbets of the Brooklyn Baseball Club, with a silver and ebony spade, turn the first spadeful of earth which started the work on the new home for the Trolley Dodgers near Prospect Park. It was a gala occasion, and Mr. Ebbets was very proud of the large number of folks who turned out, and next to him at being pleased came Borough President Alfred E. Steers of Brooklyn.

The Borough President is a fan, too, and he made a speech. He told about way back in 1870, when the Atlantics and the Cincinnati Red Stockings were playing at the old Capitoline grounds. President Steers, then a boy, watched the game through a knothole in the fence. He recalled the great players of that day—Ferguson, the first great catcher; Peace, the shortstop, and Zettein, the pitcher.

"It is not only because I deem it a pleasure to be with Mr. Ebbets on this ocasion that I come here," said President Steers, "but also because I deem it my duty as Borough President. Mr. Ebbets is doing a fine thing for Brooklyn in giving the city one of the greatest ball parks in the world. I was morn in this neighborhood, and every bit of the ground is dear to me, and it gives me much pleasure to be here, fans and ladies and gentlemen, and see the start of this proposed magnificent ball grounds. I tell you what I want to see, and I know you all want to see it, too, and that is for Brooklyn to proudly take her place at the top of the baseball world, [loud cheers,] as she did in the old days when I was a boy and used to peek through the holes in the fence. [More cheers.] And I think Mr. Ebbets will give us the best team in the country, and it will play right here on this park." [Prolonged cheers.]

The speechmaking took place from a large platform, which was profusely decorated with flags and bunting. Mr. Ebbets then picked out a soft spot in the field in front of the platform and took from its chamois covering a spade. It was solid silver and the handle was ebony. This was a gift from the contractors, Castle Brothers. Mr. Ebbets, standing with the Borough President, faced the brigade of snapshotters and dug up a spadeful of soil and tossed it in the air. Then a party of citizens from Italy, with regular picks and shovels, settled down to real work, and Ebbets Field was started.

The people cheered, and fond mothers held their children on their shoulders, so that they could see the impressive sight and remember it in after years. After the ceremonies Mr. Ebbets took his guests over to Consumers' Park Restaurant and gave a luncheon. Then there was more speechmaking.

The baseball park is in its present state a howling wilderness. It is close to the entrance of Prospect Park in Flatbush and is acessible by several car lines. On the park at present are several old houses and shanties and goats and tomato cans. Mr. Ebbets warned everybody not to be alarmed at this state of affairs, because, he said, Castle Brothers had promised to rush the work of grading the diamond and building the concrete fences, and after that the work on the stands will be rushed, so that at least the games of the last third of the season of 1912 will be played at the new park.

The field is bounded by Bedford Avenue on the east, Cedar Place on the west, Montgomery Street on the north, and Sullivan Street on the south. Two of these streets have been laid out, but have not yet been built. President Steers assured Mr. Ebbets that these new thoroughfares would be constructed this Summer.

Mr. Ebbets was toastmaster at the lunchon, and at his right sat President Steers. Other guests were Walter L. Castle, Edmund Castle, and W. T. Bather of the contracting company; Architect Clarence R. Van Buskirk, who designed the new park; Larry Sutton, the scout of the Brooklyn Ball Club; Henry W. Medicus and Charles H. Ebbets, Jr., both officials of the club; Tom Shannon, the bandmaster; M. J. Daley, who will be the landscape gardener of the new field; Dr. Morrissey, one of the greatest fans in Brooklyn; Frank B. York, several other fourteen-karat fans, and newspaper men.

Under the guidance of this assemblage of dignitaries Ebbets Field got a good start, and if it doesn't progress it won't be their fualt.

GIANTS' REGULARS OUT.

Champion Infield and Outfield Practice on Marlin Field.

Special to The New York Times.

MARLIN, Texas, March 4.—On a diamond heavy with black mud New York's champion infield received its first workout to-day. After a long period of batting practice Merkle, Doyle, Fletcher and Herzog were sent to the positions they played in last season's championship race with the regular outfield, Murray, Snodgrass and Devore, backing them up in the outer gardens.

For fifteen minutes McGraw shot hot grounders to the infileders, while Wilbert Robinson exercised the outfielders. Chief Meyers and Arthur Wilson took turns behind the bat. The champions did not gauge angles particularly well and made few attempts to "shoot" the ball around the diamond.

Fletcher did "wing" a few over to Merkle, but McGraw cautioned him against throwing too hard at the start and thereafter all four lofted the ball about. The ground was too soggy for any fast work. The outfielders, driven hard by Robinson, did unexpectedly well in judging fly balls.

McGraw had expected to get his regulars off to a flying start, but rain again interfered with his plans. A light drizzle fell all during the shortened morning work-out. Just before noon the sun broke through for a few minutes, but during luncheon the clouds gathered again and at three o'clock it was raining hard enough to drive the athletes indoors. The veterans all reported in exceptionally good condition, but they have been here four days now and have been able to squeeze in less than four hours of real work. There has already been more rain this Spring than the Giants experienced in all their four previous training expeditions to Texas.

Mike Finn, Manager of the Mobile club, accompanied the club back to Marlin. He caught up with the team at Dallas on Sundey. He saw the battle at Fort Worth and, hopefup of getting a better line on some of the youngsters who have struck his fancy, came on to Marlin to overksee the practice for a few days. He wants two infielders and an outfielder and would like to get a pitcher also.

Athletics' Regulars Start South.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—The regular players of the Philadelphia American League Club left this city to-day for San Antonio, Texas, where they will poin recruits of the team who have been working out at the training quarters at that place for nearly two weeks under the direction of Manager Connie Mack. Twenty-four persons were in the party that left to-day, the players being Bender, Morgan, Plank, Thomas, Lapp, McInnis, Collins, Barry, Baker, Oldring, Lord, and Capt. Murphy. Harry Krause, who Winters in San Francisco, will join the team at San Antonio, while Pitcher Jack Coombs is already in Texas.

Harvard Men Begin Baseball Work.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 4.—Harvard baseball practice formally opened to-day, when fifteen men came out for practice in the cage on Soldier's Field. They were put through forty minutes of battery practice and twenty minutes fielding work by Coach Frank Sexton. Next Monday the 'aVrsity and first squad men will come out.

Dowd to Coach Trinity Nine.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 4.—Thomas W. Dowd of Holyoke, a Boston American League Club scout, to-day accepted terms from Trinity College to coach the baseball team. He will come here March 15 and stay until June 8, when the season closes. The first game will be with Yale at New Haven on March 20.

YANKEES BEGIN TRAINING.

Pitcher Ford Arrives from Canada, Looking to be in Excellent Condition.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 4.—Seven more additions to the Yankee baseball squad were received to-day, making twenty in all now here under the tutelage of Manager Wolverton. The most noted figure among the day's influx was Russell Ford, the Yankees' mainstay in the box. The moist heaver came from Minneapolis, and his physical appearance was such that Manager Wolverton was delighted. Ford says he is no lighter than he ever was in the Spring, but he never looked as fit as he does now.

"I've been farming all Winter up on my Canada place," he said, "raising wheat and flax, rooting for reciprocity, haven't had a ball in my hands since last Fall and haven't had but two glasses of beer since then."

Benny Kauff, the slugging outfielder from Bridgeport; Clark, the left-handed pitcher from Sioux City; Shears, from the Blue Grass League, also a budding southpaw star; Tonneman, the catcher; Upham, pitcher, and Zinn, outfielder, also injected themselves into Atlanta to-day. Everybody was in the season's first practice this afternoon except Tonneman and Upham, who arrived too late for these festivities.

The morning was too wet and raw for work, but the sun came out vigorously at noon, and Wolverton herded his players and took them out to the ball park immediately after luncheon. The field was wet and heavy, but enough dry spots were found to enable the men to loosen up their arms and do some batting.

The work lasted an hour and was brisk, though elementary. The brigade paired off for half an hour's throwing back and forth, and Catcher Street took Ford and Quinn in charge. Quinn, who is bent on making this the best year he has had with the team, wore undergarments too numerous to mention, and also a rubber shirt. He did no more than toss the ball to Street, but Ford put on more steam. He came nearer to cutting loose than any of the others. Clark is a likely looking chap, big and with an easy motion. The batting practice was more to allow the players to dance and caper around than anything else. The ground was too soft to permit of anything like formal work, but will be all right to-morrow, when there will be two practices.

Non-arrivals this evening were Gardner, Dolan, Williams, Warhop, Hartzell, and Dolan.

SUN SHINES FOR DODGERS.

But Not Long Enough for a Practice Game at Hot Springs Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 4.—Bill Dahlen and his Superbas got a glimpse of the sun this afternoon for about two hours and were quick to take advantage of it after almost two days' idleness. It was Dahlen's intention to play a five inning game, between two picked teams called the Washington Park and Ebbets Field Clubs, but at the last moment he decided to change his plans.

After picking out the overweight fellows this afternoon he put them in charge of Catcher Phelps and sent them over the mountains, taking the remainder of the squad, mostly youngsters, to Whittington Park for a work-out under his direction.

Moran, James and Reilly, the latter Yale's former second baseman, looked the best of the youngsters to-day. The former collegian will surely make his four rivals for the keystone station step quickly to get a regular berth. Moran is built for speed and reaches first on bunts at a Gwyn Henry clip. All the players are in fairly good condition, considering the little work they have done. Even Nap Rucker, excepting a little overweight, has had absolutely no soreness in his pitching arm, which is unusual for the great southpaw on a training trip.

Farrell Must Pay Fitzgerald.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 4.—The National Baseball Commission to-day allowed the claim of Player Justin Fitzgerald against the New York American League Club for back salary. Fitzgerald claimed that the New York American League Club was indebted to him in the sum of $384. This covered his salary from the close of the season of the Jersey City Club, to whom he was sold on Sept. 24, 1910, to Oct. 8, the end of the American League season.

COX QUITS COLUMBIA.

Swimming Coach Leaves to Take Charge of Aquatics at Chicago A. C.

Norman C. D. Cox, who has coached the Columbia swimming team during the present season, has resigned, in order to accept a position as coach of the Chicago Athletic Club swimming team, according to an announcement made yesterday by Harry A. Fisher, graduate manager of athletics at Columbia. Under Cox, the Columbia swimming team has had its most successful season in years, although the Australian coach had devoted most of his time to building up the squad for next season.

The Columbia management made every effort to retain Cox, but he felt that the position at Chicago held better prospects, and he sent in his resignation to the Columbia management yesterday, to take effect after the final meet of the season next Saturday, when the Columbia team will compete in the intercollegiate individual swimming championships at the University of Pennsylvania.

During the Winter Cox, in addition to coaching the Columbia swimmers, has spent much time in instructing the New York Athletic Club water men. He will begin his work at Chicago next Summer, and will have entire charge of the aquatic equipment of the Chicago club. His duties as coach of the swimming and water polo teams are to be merely incidental.

Princeton May Swim in Illinois.

If the question of events can be satisfactorily arranged Princeton University swimmers will go West early next month to compete against the stars of Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill. Princeton is desirous of having fancy diving as one of the events, and would have the proposed forty-yard breast stroke swim eliminated from the schedule as arranged. On the other hand Coach Robinson of the Evanston team wants the breast stroke and not the fancy diving. Northwestern has never competed against an Eastern college team of any kind and the Evanston "rooters" hope that an agreement may be reached even if it is necessary to include both events.

How to Be Sure of Getting the Reproduction of
EDWIN A. ABBEY'S PAINTINGS OF
IN THEIR ACTUAL COLORS

REGULAR READERS can easily arrange to get the EASTER SECTION of THE NEW YORK TIMES on March 24, containing the reproduction for the first time in colors of the entire fifteen panels of the Holy Grail, by Edwin A. Abbey, the most famous modern mural decorations in the world. All that is necessary is for them to ask their newsdealer to save them a copy.

ANY ONE can get a copy by becoming a regular reader now. Simply ask your newsdealer to serve The New York Times to you every day, including Sunday, for one month. Then you will be sure of getting this remarkable section in colors on March 24.

There will be an unprecedented demand for The New York Times Easter Number. When the edition is exhausted it will be impossible to supply any demands for it.

These famous paintings, which are a big feature of the Boston Public Library, are the best work of this celebrated painter, who died recently.

THE TITLES OF THE FIFTEEN PANELS

Page 3—The Oath of Knighthood.
The Key to the Castle.
Galahad Departs from His Bride.
The Round Table of King Arthur.
The Castle of the Grail.
The Conquest of the Seven Deadly Sins.

The high quality of the paper used for this section of eight pages in colors and the slow and careful method of three-color process printing required to get the results striven for involve so much time and expense that this edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES is necessarily limited. Each copy of this section alone costs more than any reader of THE NEW YORK TIMES will pay for THE SUNDAY TIMES complete.

It will not be possible to supply the demand of all the casual purchasers of THE SUNDAY TIMES on March 24, but an edition will be planned estimated to supply those who read THE TIMES regularly.

This timely notice is given so that those who wish to be sure of securing a copy of the Easter Edition of March 24 may place an order for the regular delivery of THE TIMES at once, because preference will naturally have to be given to those who are regularly served with THE TIMES.

NOTICE TO NEWSDEALERS.

The New York Times will not undertake to supply any great number of extra copies of the Easter Edition. To be sure of a supply increase your regular order of daily and Sunday Times at once. The Easter Edition is limited to the regular readers of The Times.

You are also advised to take special pains when the Easter Edition section of The Times is delivered to you to carefully handle it, and deliver it unsoiled to the readers. Many persons will wish to preserve and frame these pictures, and if received in poor condition newsdealers will be asked for another copy, and under no circumstances can extra copies of the section be obtained.

CHAMPIONS PLAY FOR POOL TITLE

Aspirants for the amateur pocket billiards (pool) championship of America began play yesterday for the title at the New York Athletic Club, Amateur Billiard Club, and at the Riverside Academy, with fourteen of the leading experts east of the Mississippi in the lists and divided into three sections, with the winner of each section carded to contest in a round-robin series as a finale to the introductory matches.

The prize at issue is the Brunswick-Balke Trophy, which must be won twice by the same player, not necessarily in succession, before becoming his absolute property. The series started yesterday is the first for such a title ever held in America, and is expected to become an annual afair. In the preliminary games 125 balls will constitute a match, while in the round robin between the sectional winners 150 balls will make a game.

This match was won by Hyman by a score of 125 to 74, and was marked by clever work on the part of Hyman, whose position play stood out against that of his opponent. Hyman executed in fast fashion and was quick to determine his next shot. He proved particularly good at cut shots and picked out several combinations which warranted his making double-figure breaks a half dozen times. His high run, however, was only 14, this being made in the tenth frame.

Brown went off in the lead after what looked like a safe leave by Hyman in his break shot, and corraled nine after he got a burst shot. This was the only period during which he held the upper hand, and although he managed during his later frames to break into double figures, he was apparently afraid to take a chance and open up the game, when it was quite patent that such a course was his only hope, as Hyman was nearly 50 points in the lead.

At the Riverside Academy game, between L. F. Carter and W. H. Anders, the first name was returned the winner after fourteen frames, with the string showing 125 to 72. Carter made a high run of 26 in the eighth, ninth, and tenth frames, although he was never in difficulty at any time after the third frame, at which point he went into the lead, never afterward being headed.

Carter showed to advantage in his long shots, which he went after as though there was no chance of his missing. He picked out several combinations, which were calculated to a nicety, and altogether outclassed his opponent in the daring of his play for position. Each man made four scratches, one in each instance being made on safety play. The summary of the afternoon play:

The evening game at the Amateur Billiard Club brought together Cecil Nunoz of the A. B. C. and William A. Tilt, former champion of the New York Athletic Club, the latter being beaten by 125 to 87, after leading for nearly two-thirds of the game. The winner played daringly and found many opportunities to bang out combinations. Both men were fast and played position well. A good-sized gallery witnessed the match.

Nunoz showed best at the end of the opening game, which stood 9 to 6 in his favor. In the second play-out each made three scratches, but Nunoz maintained his lead. Tilt got into his stride in the third rack up, and, after amassing two at one time as the result of a combination, was enabled to show 22 as his total for the three frames, as against 17 for his opponent.

In making a long drive into the right-hand lower corner in the next frame, Tilt rattled the object ball so forcefully against the pocket iron that it rebounded to the table. Nunoz enabled Tilt to go still further away in the seventh frame, when after tallying on a daring combination his cue ball kissed off one of the bunch and forced him to scratch, leaving the spheres spread all "over the lot," from which layout Tilt quickly roceeded to gather 12, which put the string in his favor at 56 to 40.

From this stage, however, Nunoz came into his own, and manipulated the balls so well as to have the referee call 70 all at the end of the tenth frame. Beginning the next frame Tilt made a beautiful long shot, and in a manner which made it ring in the pocket. He fell down lamentably soon afterward, whereas Nunoz took on increased pace and netted 11 and 14 in his next two frames, which put him 20 to the good of the New York A. C. man, with the strong showing, 95 to 75.

Each became canny in the succeeding frame and purposely scratched in order not to leave an opening. Toward the end of this period, and after Nunoz had opened up the layout by missing a break shot, Tilt accounted for 11, which was nullified somewhat by three scratches.

After making a rattling cut shot out of the centre of the bunch, Tilt slipped up on a long shot the length of the table along the rail, and enabled Nunoz to demonstrate his all-around ability when he totaled the remaining 14 and sent his score to 112, while his opponent was at 84.

In the next frame the amazing number of 12 scratches were made, six by each player, consequent upon the desire of each for safety, so that while Nunoz really ran 10 balls he increased his score by but 4 balls. On the other hand Tilt found himself debited by 1 less than he had in the centre frame despite his tally of 5. Still more safety followed in the succeeding frame, but Nunoz finally gathered his required 125, while his opponent stood at 87. The score:

Cecil Nunoz—9 * * * 8 3 * 6 9 7 * 8 11 10 9 11 14 * 4 14 * * * * * * 10 * * 9 2. Total—125.

W. A. Tilt—6 * * * 7 12 9 * 6 8 12 4 * 5 6 4 3 * * * 11 1 * * * * * * * 5 * * * 6. Total—87.

Dr. Walter G. Douglas, New York A. C., and Edward C. Everett had a stirring battle at the Riverside Academy on the occasion of the first evening game at that place, with the latter the victor by one point, with the score 125 to 124. The New York A. C. representative got to within one point of his required total in the seventeenth frame, a scratch being the medium to keep victory from him. In the next frame Everett gained his much-needed 5 and ran the game out. Douglas had six scratches as his total in this phase of the match, while Everett picked up just one less. The score:

Douglas—* 6 10 6 9 3 0 * * 9 12 2 15 12 * 9 10 * 7 3 10 * 7—124.

Everett—* 9 5 9 6 * 12 15 6 * * 3 13 0 3 6 * 5 3 12 5 8 5—125.

At the New York Athletic Club C. B. Porter, the champion of the Buffalo Club, administered defeat to J. M. Heatherton, the title holder of the Winged Foot organization by a total of 125 to 121. The New York Athletic Club man managed to accumulate eleven scratches during his play, the majority of which were picked up at critical times and gave the Bison City expert a pretty good lay-out as the result. Heatherton was compelled to break in the final frame, and Porter was enabled to pick a ball from the bunch, after which he ran out his 125. The score:

Heatherton—* * 5 7 7 * 1 12 * 8 13 * * 7 5 10 6 9 * * 11 * 7 * * 2 6 12—121.

Porter—10 * * 4 8 14 3 7 2 8 10 * 5 9 6 4 3 18 9 * * 3 7—125.

Bevans Makes a High Run.

In last night's game of the amateur handicap three-cushion carrom billiard tournament at Keeney's Academy in Brooklyn George Bevans (37 points) easily overcame a six-point handicap and defeated Irving Ells (31) by the score of 37 to 23 in sixty-seven innings. Bevans made a high run of 6 points, the highest of the tournament, and Ells's highest single [illegible] was 4. This evening William Price (32) [illegible] Edward Milkman (31.)

DE ORO WINS EASILY.

Pocket Billiard Champion Best in First Night's Play with Daly.

Alfred De Oro, the world pocket billiard champion, won the first block of his six nights' handicap match with John Daly at Doyle's Billiard Academy last night by a score of 105 to 72. The conditions of the match are that in the week's play De Oro shall make 600 to Daly's 500. This handicap is divided, so that for five nights De Oro, in order to win, must make 100 to Daly's 84, and on the sixth night's play, 100 to 80.

De Oro won last night's play in twelve frames, just when Daly was settling down to his game. Daly played carelessly, as if he were in a practice game, and neglected many opportunities to overtake the champion. De Oro did some excellent playing in the first part of the game, and took a good lead, while Daly didn't settle down until his opponent had almost reached the century mark. De Oro's best run was 33. Daly made the prettiest play of the game, a four-ball combination in the ninth frame, when on a long table shot he drove his cue ball into the bunch hard and forced a ball from the pyramid into the corner pocket.

Daly's open table play proved his undoing. He never hesitated to separate the balls, but more than once missed straight shots when it looked as if he would clear the table. De Oro played his usual steady game, studying his shots carefully. His position play was excellent, and several times he played safeties which left Daly puzzlied. De Oro attempted a difficult five-ball combination in the tenth frame, but missed by a slight margin. Daly struck a bit of hard luck in the tenth inning, when he drove his cue ball too hard, sending a ringer into the pocket with such force that it bounced out again.

Daly did not play his best game by any means, and it is doubtful if De Oro will find him playing with such carelessness again during the match.

A good-sized gallery witnessed the match, which will be continued this evening. The score by frames:

Alfred De Oro—12 15 4 8 12 13 15 8 6 4 5 6. Total, 105. Scratches, 1.

Another Triple Tie in Harlem.

Another three-cornered tie was created as a result of last night's game in the play-off of the tie in the Harlem Class A amateur 18.2 balk-line billiard tournament at the Morningside Billiard Academy, 125th Street and Lenox Avenue, when M. Isaacs defeated Edward Barnes by the score of 200 to 178 in fifty-three innings. This is the second time that Mark Muldauer and the contestants in last night's game have been tied for first place. Isaacs made high runs of 28, 27, and 25 and an average of 3 41-53. Barnes's high runs were 19, 17, and 15 and his average 3 9-53. The contestants in last night's game will again oppose each other in the first game of the second play-off this evening.

Hoppe Begins Practice with Cue.

Willie Hoppe, who holds the world's championship titles at 18.1 and 18.2 balk-line billiards, began practice at McGraw's Academy last night in preparation for his championship match with George Sutton for the 18.1 balkline title, which will be decided at the Hotel Astor on March 15. Hoppe's opponent was Alfred Latchford, the champion playing at 18.2, while Latchford was playing 18.1. Hoppe ran out his string of 300 points, while Latchford only made 48, in seventeen innings. The champion made high runs of 58, 49, and 41 and averaged 17 11-17.

Sutton to Practice at Daly's.

George Sutton, who is to play Willie Hoppe for the 18.1 balkline billiard championship on March 15, will commence his practice games at Maurice Daly's on March 8, continuing until the evening of the match. He will be assisted by Maurice Daly and leading amateurs.

Pittsburgh Billiardist Wins.

BOSTON, March 4.—Pittsburgh won the first of a series of three-cushion billiard matches with Boston in the National Billiard League tournament at the Imperial Parlors to-night, 50 to 36. McCourt, representing Pittsburgh, and Warren of Boston, both secured high runs of 5, the former having an average of .58, and the latter .42.

OARSMEN ELECT OFFICERS.

Harlem Regatta Association to Hold Regatta on Memorial Day.

The opening gun of the approaching rowing season was fired last night at Nagle's Cafe, West 125th Street, where the Harlem Regatta Association elected officers for the year and decided to hold the annual regatta on Memorial Day over the Harlem River course. With the exception of the secretary-treasurer, all the officers were re-elected, and encouraging reports were made as to the prospects of the coming season.

It was decided to hold a smoker at Brown's Gymnasium, Thursday, April 18, when a programme of boxing, wrestling and vaudeville will be arranged. After the appointment of the regatta committee, the latter decided to hold the annual regatta, and will decide upon the list of events at a meeting next Monday night. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Carl Kuchler, New Rochelle Rowing Club; Vice-President, Herman Hjertberg, Union Boat Club; Secretary-Treasurer, Harry Lauer, Metropolitan Boat Club; Assistant Secretary, I. J. Berger, Friendship Boat Club. Mr. Lauer succeeds E. J. Dempsey, Wyanoke Boat Club, who resigned owing to business engagements. Regatta Committee—James Crimmins, New Yprk Athletic Club; John E. Nagle, Harlem Rowing Club; Joseph Brown, Atlanta Boat Club; Al Marousek, Bohemian Boat Club; A. S. Corbett, Metropolitan Boat Club.

It was decided to send a letter of sympathy and condolence to the family of the late C. S. Muller, New York Athletic Club and Nassau Boat Club, who acted as clerk of the course in the annual regatta for several years prior to his death.

LOCAL COLLEGES IN GAMES.

Columbia Plans Metropolitan Collegiate Championship on South Field

Columbia University will be the host of practically all the colleges of the Greater City in a metropolitan collegiate championship meet to be held on South Field on April 20. It will be the first time that such a championship competition has ever been held, and the colleges that will compete are Columbia, Fordham, New York University, College of the City of New York, Pratt, and probably Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

The meeting has been arranged by Columbia with the object of bringing together the local colleges and increasing the interest in track athletics in the student bodies of the various institutions. The meet this year is the first contest scheduled for the Columbia track team in its outdoor season. If it is a success it will be held next year, probably one week before the intercollegiate championship.

Schnabel Wins Y. M. C. A. Sprints.

Five events, one of them for the championship of the branch, made up the programme of the regular bi-weekly set of games of the West Side Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, held in the clubhouse gymnasium in West Fifty-seventh Street, last night, and some keen competition was witnessed.

Gus Schnabel proved to be the star sprinter, winning both the 20-yard and the 220-yard dashes, the latter for the championship of the branch. The one and one-half-mile handicap race was the feature event. G. Stanwood, the scratch man, won after a hard struggle, with the rest of the field, most of which had liberal handicaps, ranging from 30 yards up to 150 yards, which was the limit. The summaries:

20-Yard Dash.—Won by G. Schnabel; A. Weber, second; A. Hexamer, third. Time—0:03.

220-Yard Dash, for the Championship of This Branch of the Y. M. C. A.—Won by G. Schnabel; C. Seymour, second; A. Weber, third. Time—0:25 1-5.

1,000-Yard Run, Handicap.—Won by R. I. Parker, (scratch;) A. Dolder, (15 yards,) second; G. Grant, (30 yards,) third. Time—2:21 2-5.

One and One-half-mile Race, Handicap.—Won by G. Stanwood, (scratch;) A. Dolder, (30 yards,) second; T. Breen, (80 yards,) third. Time—7:14.

Yale Campus Cop Going to Sweden.

NEW HAVEN, March 4.—"Jim" Donnelly, Yale's campus "cop," will attend the Olympic Games in July as the guest of the senior class of the Academic Department of the university. The decision to send "Jim" abroad at the expense of the class was made at a meeting of the class to-night.

DUNDEE DEFEATS QUAKER PUGILIST

Eddie O'Keefe Loses Contest by Narrow Margin at the Empire A. C.

In one of the best bouts between boxers of any weight that New York has seen in many months, Johnnie Dundee, the local featherweight, gained the honors over Eddie O'Keefe of Philadelphia at the Empire Athletic Club last night. There was action every second from the gong that started the boys on their way, until the final bell in the tenth, and at the conclusion of two rounds Referee Dan Tone had to separate the boxers and send them to their corners. Dundee's margin of victory was slight, as O'Keefe gave him the hardest kind of a fight in most of the rounds.

The fifth round really decided the battle in Dundee's favor. With this chapter excluded from the reckoning O'Keefe had the better of the little New Yorker, but in this one round Dundee did enough work to wipe away the narrow margins of two or three close rounds. A terrific right swing to the jaw shortly after the fifth round opened sent the Philadelphian down for a clean knockdown. He took the full limit of the count, and he needed every second, as was shown when he regained his feet. O'Keefe was shaky, and the only thing that could save him from a knockout was to hold on as tightly as his arms could cling. Following the orders from his corner to hold on, O'Keefe did nothing more during the remainder of the round. Referee Dan Tone had to use considerable strength to pry the boys apart from a half dozen clinches during this round. Dundee tore in wildly to put over the finishing punch, but O'Keefe kept his jaw out of the danger zone and held, held, held. In the sixth round he also showed a disposition to hold on, but in the last two rounds of the bout he showed no signs of weakness.

As in the recent bout between the same pair at the National Sporting Club, O'Keefe started off like an easy winner, but slowed down perceptibly about the fourth round. Dundee was showing to better advantage all the time. O'Keefe also made a strong finish and won the last two rounds, but not by a sufficient margin to even matters for what Dundee had done during the interval.

O'Keefe used a left jab to good effect in the rounds which he won. He had a slight advantage over Dundee in reach, and the latter was unable to find a defense strong enough to keep the Quaker's left from landing often. On the other hand, Dundee showed a much harder punch with his right hand than O'Keefe showed at any time with his left. It was Dundee's right that scored the knockdown, and on two other occasions he shot the same hand to O'Keefe's jaw with force sufficient to rock him from head to feet. Once he staggered the Philadelphian and drove him part way across the ring. This happened in the seventh round, and for a time it seemed that another knockdown was coming, but the Quaker managed to hold Dundee off until he regained his strength.

Practically all of O'Keefe's attack was delivered at Dundee's head, but he failed to do anything more than raise a small swelling under Johnny's right eye. Dundee, when he saw that he was being outboxed by O'Keefe in the early rounds, began to play for O'Keefe's stomach, and he landed the more effective body punches during the bout. Time after time O'Keefe drove Dundee's head back with his straight lefts, but not once did he land with sufficient force to stagger the New Yorker. The only blood shown during the battle came from O'Keefe's mouth and nose in the ninth round.

O'Keefe began to shoot his left jab at Dundee as soon as they shook hands in the first round, and for three minutes the only blows delivered were these same lefts. They did little damage, however, as Dundee was gnerally backing away or tilting his had when they landed. Just before the bell sounded they mixed for a few seconds. O'Keefe had the round.

In the second round O'Keefe again carried off the honors through the same tactics. His left was landing often on Dundee's face. Johnnie jumped around and tried to fight O'Keefe, but the latter held him off. They engaged in two good exchanges, with honors slightly favoring O'Keefe each time.

The third round showed Dundee to better advantage. He jumped around and was more aggressive than in the other rounds. O'Keefe was still going strong with his left, but Dundee was returning the fire. It was a fast round from bell to bell, with honors about even.

In the fourth, which also bristled with action from satrt to finish, Dundee carried the fighting to his opponent and gained the honors by a slight margin. The crowd was in an uproar throughout the round and gave the boys an ovation at the finish. The fifth was all Dundee, O'Keefe saving himself from a knockout by holding on after taking the count of nine. In the sixth Dundee continued to force matters and O'Keefe continued his clinching. It was Dundee's round, as was also the seventh, when Johnnie again staggered O'Keefe with a right. Some more fast fighting marked the eighth, and another right wallop by Dundee shook O'Keefe up. Dundee was forcing the going and he gained the round. O'Keefe outboxed Dundee in the ninth and tenth, using his left to advantage in both rounds. Dundee drew blood from O'Keefe's mouth and nose in the ninth.

McFARLAND AND HOGAN.

Western Boxers Clash To-night at Fairmont A. C. in Important Bout.

New York's most important boxing bout of the past few months is scheduled for to-night at the Fairmont A. C., where Packey McFarland and One-Round Hogan come together. Hogan is expected to do what no other boxer has yet done in this city—make the stockyards champion extend himself. Both are regarded as boxers who combine a high degree of cleverness with punching power, and they will box at a weight which will weaken neither one. The articles call for 135 pounds at 8 o'clock and both were down to this figure and in good condition yesterday.

Hogan's work during the past few months has re-established him in the high position from which he fell last year in his bout against Ad Wolgast. He showed greatly improved form against Knockout Brown and Battling Nelson, and recently demonstrated his ability to go over the long route in a bout with Tommy Murphy on the Coast. Hogan regards the bout as being of as much importance as his encounter with Wolgast, and Packey likewise regards Hogan as one of the most dangerous boys he can fight.

McFarland has been training for two weeks, and last Thursday night he knocked out Tommy Devlin in Cleveland. He put on the finishing touches at the Mott Haven A. C. Hogan spent the past ten days at Rye Beach, and reports from the camp are that he is going stronger than ever.

Gibbons to Box Denning Here.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 4.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul will box Jack Denning in a ten-round bout before the Fairmont Athletic Club, New York, March 27, the deal having been closed here late to-day. Each man is to weigh in at 150 pounds at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the fight.

Chicagoans Drafting Boxing Bill.

CHICAGO, March 4.—Officers and members of the Chicago Athletic Association, it was announced to-day, are drafting a boxing bill to be introduced at the next regular session of the Legislature. The bill, which is designed to repeal the present anti-boxing law, will embody Mayor Carter H. Harrison's ideas of clean boxing matches.

Letz Defeats Howard.

Before a good-sized house Harry Letz defeated Willie Howard of Brooklyn last night at the Brooklyn Beach Athletic Club. The bout was a fast one, with plenty of action in each of the ten rounds. Neither contestant was in danger of a knockout.

Duffy Wins on Points.

Freddy Duffy of Boston and Billy Sherman of New York boxed an interesting ten-round bout last night at the Irving Athletic Club, Brooklyn. Duffy by fast work kept his opponent on the go the entire ten rounds and secured the verdict on points.

McGoorty and Kelly Matched.

CHICAGO, March 4.—Eddie McGoorty and Hugo Kelly were matched here to-day to fight at Kenosha, Wis., March 18. Articles of agreement state that the fight is to go ten rounds, and that the fighters are to weigh in at 158 pounds at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the fight.

BOXER BREAKS HIS HAND.

B. Grossman Injured, but Wins Bout in Irish-American Tournament.

B. Grossman, an unattached boxer competing in the 115-pound class of the amateur boxing and wrestling tournament which began last night at the Irish-American A. C., received a compound fracture of the right hand in his bout with T. Wittenberg.

In the second round it was seen that Grossman had hurt his hand, but no particular attention was paid to it, and he managed to continue through the contest and gain the decision. After he retired to the dressing rooms he complained of the injury, and when the club physician examined it he said that it would require at least six weeks to heal. This will somewhat mar the finals of the class, as only four entries were received, and the injured boxer would have clashed with the winner of the other bout, F. Cornfrey, for the final decision.

Although the tournament is equally divided, with five classes for boxers and the same number for wrestlers, the latter occupied the greater part of the time, and it will be the same in the finals, as the entries in all the wrestling events are unusually large.

The heavyweight class of boxers brought out five entries, with T. Patios drawing the bye, but after the first bout got under way W. Barrett of the Harlem Young Men's Christian Association did not particularly care for the looks of the contestants and made a hasty exit. This left Patios to go in, after taking the bye, and box with J. L. Sullivan, unattached.

The first bout of the heavyweight class was the best exhibition of the evening. E. Williams of the Glencoe A. C., a husky fellow, was opposed by a short, rugged boxer, H. Hettrich of the Dominican Lyceum.

The men fought fast all the way, but the smaller of the two worked a clever left-hand jab, and won the decision, after an extra period, on the strength of this blow. Williams several times rushed his man, but was always checked with a stiff left jab, and on one occasion was floored.

In the 118-pound class wrestling Louis Ruggerio, the metropolitan champion, made short work of his opponent, A. B. Abbott of the Central Y. M. C. A., by gaining a body hold in 28 seconds, the fastest victory of the tournament. G. Peterson of the Harlem Y. M. C. A. and the present Metropolitan, Canadian, and New England champion of the 150-pound class, was confronted with a tough proposition in the person of A. Olson of the Norwegian-American A. C. The latter put up one of the hardest bouts seen during the night, and only lost to the champion on the referee's decision. The summaries:

138-Pound Wrestling.—First Bout—B. Pseodogianis, Greek-American A. C., defeated U. Droege, East Side Y. M. C. A. Referee's decision on work. Time—6:00. Second Bout—O. L. Swanson, Swedish-American A. C., defeated A. Levine, Educational Alliance, with head and arm hold. Time—8:10. Third Bout—C. Carlson, Swedish-American A. C., defeated M. Sticko, National A. C., with rolling fall in extra period. Time—8:04. Fourth Bout—J. Pantazios, Greek-American A. C., defeated N. Nelson, Harlem Y. M. C. A., with body hold. Time—1:59. Fifth Bout—F. J. Elwood, Bronx Church House, defeated S. Kalamus, Greek-American A. C., with crotch and neck hold. Time—2:49. Sixth Bout—H. J. Prymus, Central Y. M. C. A., defeated A. Beiderman, East Side Y. M. C. A., in extra period. Referee's decision on work. Time—9:00. Seventh Bout—E. A. Halikman, Educational Alliance, defeated C. Maggia, Italian-American A. A., with rolling fall. Time—4:06.

115-Pound Boxing.—First Bout—F. Cornfrey, Union Settlement A. C., defeated E. Marcus, Educational Alliance, three rounds. Judge's decision. Second Bout—B. Grossman, National A. C., defeated T. Wittenberg, unattached, three rounds. Judge's decision.

150-Pound Wrestling.—First Bout—G. Peterson, Harlem Y. M. C. A., defeated G. Olson, Norwegian-American A. C., on referee's decision. Time — 6:00. Second Bout — G. Stassimos, Greek-American A. C., defeated A. McIntyre, East Side Y. M. C. A., with a half Nelson hold in extra period. Time — 7:35. Third Bout—P. Jatanan, Finnish-American A. C., defeated G. Ricardo, National A. C., with bar lock. Time—3:14.

125-Pound Boxing.—L. Rosalsky, Union Settlement A. C., defeated J. Kirschbauer, unattached. Two rounds. Bout stopped by referee. Second Bout—J. Macklin, St. Paul's Lyceum, knocked out A. Winfield, New Polo A. A. One round.

118-Pound Wrestling.—First Bout—M. Kosta, Greek-American A. C., defeated D. Bronstein, Educational Alliance, in extra period on referee's decision. Time—9:00. Second Bout—L. Ruggerio, Grace A. C., defeated A. Abbott, Central Y. M. C. A., with body hold. Time—0:28. Third Bout—J. de Gracia, Harlem Y. M. C. A., defeated W. Halikman, Educational Alliance, with body and chancery hold. Time—2:09.

WAGNER AND RILEY DRAW.

Lively Contest Marks Windup at the Fordon Club.

Joe Wagner and Young Riley boxed a ten-round draw last night at the Fordon Club. Wagner displayed a keen knowledge of ring craft, but found in Riley a youngster who is fast improving and can put up a game contest. The work of both boxers throughout was fast, Wagner working his shift, but Riley was ready for almost every move of his opponent.

The first three rounds were marked by fast work, Wagner swinging his left on the body and Riley responding by effective short arm punches and a straight left on the head. Wagner then uppercut following with a jab to Riley's neck. The latter, after a fast mix-up, uppercut Wagner's face. The last three rounds found matters about even, a lot of close work, with Wagner swinging too high to be effective.

In the semi-final Young Fulton proved too strong for Charley O'Leary, but only by a small margin, as O'Leary showed science and pluck. In the other events there were three knockouts in the four four-round contests.

TO SHIP HILDRETH HORSES.

The Charles Kohler horses, trained by Samuel C. Hildreth, will after all be shipped abroad. Their destination is Maison Lafitte in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Hildreth will be passengers on the steamer Campania, which leaves New York to-morrow morning. Ten of the fourteen horses now in training at Sheepshead Bay will leave for the other side on the Atlantic Transport liner Minneapolis on Saturday next.

Mr. Kohler said that he finally decided to race in Europe on account of the poor outlook for racing in New York State. Since his return from England, ten days ago, Mr. Kohler has received word from a reliable authority in Albany that the passage of the bill which aims to relieve Directors of racing associations from being criminally liable for betting concerning which they have no knowledge has only a remote chance of getting the necessary number of votes to become a law. To maintain a big racing establishment with drastic anti-racing laws on the statute books is out of the question, said Mr. Kohler.

Carroll Shilling, it is understood, has been released from his contract, and he will ride for a prominent stable on the Kentucky and Canadian tracks this Summer.

Fitz Herbert, Zeus, Novelty, Puggins, Gold Blade, and the two-year-old colts Broadwood and Beethoven II. have been nominated to stakes in England. It is the present intention to prepare this lot at Maison Lafitte for these and other races and ship across the Channel a few days prior to the running of the events.

PRENTISS REACHES FINAL IN SQUASH

John W. Prentiss of the Racquet and Tennis Club, yesterday qualified for the final round in the National squash tennis championship at the Harvard Club by defeating George Whitney of the Harvard Club in the semi-final round. The match went to the extra set for decision. The scores were 4-15, 15-8 and 15-7. The other match in the semi-final round, between Dr. Alfred Stillman, 2d, the title holder, and Dr. H. S. Satterlee, will not be played for two or three days, owing to the illness of Dr. Satterlee. The final match, in which Stillman is picked to oppose Prentiss, will be played Saturday afternoon.

A large gallery witnessed yesterday's match between Prentiss and Whitney, who rank next to Dr. Stillman in the national squash rating. Whitney is the recognized star among the younger devotees of the game and he has been coming along at a pace which promises to put him in the front rank when he acquires more experience. He had been showing such fine form in recent games that many picked him to defeat his more experienced opponent. In the first set he more than lived up to these expectations and completely outclassed Prentiss. The latter went into the game "cold" and Whitney simply walked away with the victory. He jumped ahead on his first hand-in and was never headed, finishing in ten innings and holding Prentiss to four aces.

The first set warmed Prentiss up sufficiently and he showed some of his real form in the second. For seven innings the two played on about even terms, the score at the close of the seventh inning being 8-6 in favor of Prentiss. At this stage Whitney began to find the pace too fast and tired perceptibly, while Prentiss, going at his best, won out, 15-8.

Early in the third set Prentiss picked up a commanding lead and then Whitney braced for several hands, but he could not improve his own score to much extent and Prentiss won in his fifteenth hand in 15—7.

Whitney played his usual cool game, but he found the rapid-fire drives of Prentiss too much for him time after time. The latter played continually "for the nick," which is a killing shot and was quite successful at this, his favorite style of play, after the first set. Whitney's play was a bit unsteady and he missed several times on the easiest of shots, after remarkable execution on bounds which appeared most difficult. The scores:

Whitney—1 2 0 1 0 1 1 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1—8.

British Builders Busy with Hydroplanes to Race in America.

E. Mackay Edgar, who had Maple Leaf II. built for the British International Motor Boat Trophy of 1910, and Maple Leaf III. for the contests at Huntingdon Bay last year, intends to make another trial this year to recover the cup now held in this country. A forty-foot hydroplane of the Saunders-Fauber type is to be specially designed and constructed to Mr. Edgar's order by the builders of the Duke of Westminster's Pioneer and Mr. Edgar Thornton's Columbine. The new challenger will be propelled by Wolseley engines. They are to be arranged for twin screws, and their aggregate horse power will be about 600.

Another challenger is being built for Mr. D. Hanbury, who owned the earlier challenger Zigorella. The boat will also be a forty-foot hydroplane of the Miranda type, and has been designed by Sir John Thornycroft. Her engines are to be Vauxhalls of the aggregate horse power of about 330, and they will be arranged for three screws. On each shaft there will be two four-cylinder engines in tandem.

Considerable interest is being manifested in Mr. Hanbury's new boat, as the builder raced Zigorella on this side of the ocean two years ago, and presumably knows the local difficulties which have to be overcome.

Two challengers are one short of a full team, but it is understood that a wealthy member of the Royal Motor Yacht Club will shortly place an order for the third boat.

HORNFECK'S HOCKEY TEAM.

Princeton Coach in Picking All-Collegiate Team Says Baker is Best Player.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 4.—G. W. Hornfeck of the Wanderers Hockey team, who has coached the Princeton heavy aggregation for three years, this year turning out the seven which finished at the head of the Intercollegiate League, has selected an all-collegiate hockey team. His team includes three Harvard men, and one each from Princeton, Yale, Columbia, and Cornell, as follows: Goal, Carhart, Yale; point, Smith, Cornell; coverpoint, Blacknall, Harvard; centre, Bates, Columbia; rover, Baker, Princeton; wings, Huntington, of Harvard, and Sortwell, of Harvard.

In commenting on Princeton's sole representative on this seven Coach Hornbeck says: "Baker, who is almost without question the greatest hockey player in the country at the present time naturally has no peer among college men. A natural born player, he possesses wonderful speed, dribbles cleverly and shoots with remarkable accuracy. If 'Hobey' has a weakness, it is his defensive work, but his speed can overcome this to a great extent." Hornfeck accounts for Carhart's title to goal, instead of Gardner, of Harvard, with the explanation that Carhart's work had to be done single-handed, as it were, the Harvard man being aided by a strong defense.

The list of men entitled to consideration which the Princeton coach mentions is: Forwards, Lovejoy, Columbia; Duncan, Harvard, Pierce, Harvard, Kuhn, Princeton, Captain Kay, Princeton; Hill, Cornell, and Coxe, Yale; Backs, Willetts, Harvard; Blair, Princeton; Emmons, Princeton; Gore, Yale; and Trimble, Columbia.

Wanderers in Last Hockey Game.

The Wanderers and St. Nicholas hockey teams will make their final appearance in the Amateur Hockey League championship series to-night at St. Nicholas Rink. The players on both teams are anxious to win this game before disbanding for the season and may be expected to put up a keen and exciting struggle. If the Wanderers lost to-night it may upset their chances of winning the cup, especially if the Crescents should beat the New York A. C. on Friday.

Harmon Yale's Hockey Captain.

NEW HAVEN, March 4.—Archer Harmon, 1912, of New York City was to-night re-elected Captain of the Yale Hockey team. He plays at centre.

FISH AND BIRDS AT SHOW.

Conservation Commission's Exhibit at Garden Attracts Attention.

Hunters and fishermen at the Sportsmen's Show at Madison Square Garden yesterday flocked around the exhibit of the New York State Conservation Commission in large numbers. It is in this organization that they see a solution to the bird and fish problem, a situation which in the past few years has caused much alarm. The State Commission is doing fruitful work with both birds and fish, and the large flocks of Chinese and English pheasants which are being exhibited are attracting much attention.

The State Commission's game and fish farm is at Sherburne, N. Y., and the officials each season are working in cooperation with all the authorized rod and gun clubs of the State in a movement to keep the woods and streams well stocked. This season, one of the officials explained yesterday, the commission plans to distribute from 40,000 to 50,000 pheasant eggs to various gun clubs. The young birds will be turned loose in the woods and in a season or two it is expected that they will be plentiful. The State of Oregon has been most successful with these birds, and they have distributed eggs until in the forests of that State there are now a million pheasants and plenty of good hunting.

The State Commission has also attracted the attention of all fishermen at the show with its exhibit of numbers of kinds of live fish in tanks of running water. All these fish are the products of the State hatcheries. In the numerous tanks can be seen bullheads, lake and brook trout, mud puppies, black bass, pike, perch, banded pickerel, big maskalonges, three and a half feet long; chain pickerel, brown and rainbow trout, large sturgeons, yellow and white perch, and beautifully speckled brook trout.

One of the surprises of the show yesterday was a boys' brass band from the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb at Fort Washington Avenue and 163d Street. It is said to be the first brass band ever organized in a deaf and dumb institute.

The anglers' tournament was continued during the day, the first competition being for the accuracy bait, the target being placed sixty feet from the platform. E. M. Gill was first with a score of 97 per cent., C. H. Higby was a close second with 96 4-5 per cent., while Walter McCuckin was third with 96 3-5 per cent. The judges were John J. McGee, Willett B. Gano, and W. J. Brennan.

There was keen competition among the schoolboy marksmen yesterday at the rifle ranges in the basement of the Garden. The first team match for the du Pont Cup was held, and the Morris High School team, consisting of Romeo, Fogg, Jaeger, and Pickett won first place in the first round with a total score of 239 out of a possible 280. De Witt Clinton's first team was second.

Several junior marksmen qualified in yesterday's round for the junior marksmen trophies. Ulmer of Commerce was the high marksman with 95 out of a possible 100. A score of 80 is necessary to qualify, and 16 boys were above that mark yesterday. For the Van Allen Cup, Donato Romeo, the star rifle shot from Morris High, was again in first place with a score of 131 out of a possible 140. A. De Castro of De Witt Clinton was the high man in yesterday's round for the Westminster Cup with a score of 187 out of a possible 200. The results were as follows:

Du Pont Match; Teams of 4—Highest possible score for team, 280; highest possible individual score, 70.—Won by Morris H. S., (D. Romeo, 64; W. Fogg, 58; L. Jaeger, 59; R. Pickett, 58.) Total, 239. De Witt Clinton, second; (R. Eversfield, 61; A. De Castro, 51; R. Glendenning, 58; H. Grossman, 64.) Total, 234. Stuyvesant, third, (B. Benson, 58; D. Curry, 66; H. Michaelson, 57; M. Neumaier, 53.) Total, 234. Morris High School, second team, fourth, (J. Furna, 61; C. Foshoch, 48; F. Rescorl, 60; F. McHugh, 60.) Total, 229. De Witt Clinton, second team, fifth, (W. Serling, 58; N. Welton, 58; N. Morway, 57; A. Rothstein, 54.) Total, 227.

The trap shooting continued among the professionals and amateurs, and during the day many of the gunners made excellent scores. In the professional qualifying round at 50 blue rocks H. C. Kirkwood of Boston was high gun with 49, while Sim Glover of Rochester was second with 48, tied with C. R. Dickey of Boston. Others who are in front in the professional ranks follow: P. E. Osborne, 48; J. S. Fanning, 47; Neaf Apgar, 46; H. H. Stevens, 46; Edward Banks, 46; W. W. Hassinger, 45.

P. E. Osborne of West Sommerville, Mass., lead the amateurs with 48 out of a possible 50 birds, while C. R. James of the Crescent A. C. had a score of 47, and G. H. Pompelli of Oswego was third with 46. Other topliners among the amateurs were: F. H. Schauffler, 45; H. T. Lee, 44; J. F. James, 44; F. P. Stephenson, 43; W. Simonson, 43; F. N. Reed, 43.

Vim Wins Ice Yacht Race.

Special to The New York Times.

RED BANK, March 4.—Three ice yachts sailed a race over a five-mile triangular course on the North Shrewsbury River at Fair Haven this afternoon. The boats lined up at 2:30 in the face of a stiff northeast wind. Henry B. Applegate's Vim finished in 12 minutes 5 seconds, William Conover's Comet came in second, Oliver Haviland's Marion third, and Wilber Weink's Polly fourth. The Vim got off first and held the lead until the finish. The Marion, which recently had her bow broken in an accident, had a new bow spliced on to-day, and she was making good time until the fifth lap, when she flirted in the wind and capsized. She was righted again and finished the race ahead of the Polly, thus beating the Polly for fourth place.

KEEP IS GOING OUT OF BUSINESS!

Six Months from Today
You Will Be Saying:

"Those shirts I bought at Keep's sale certainly have the quality. I wish he hadn't retired from business."

When a house carrying such a stock as that of the Keep Mfg. Co. retires from business a lot of people have an opportunity to buy the very finest quality of men's furnishings at the price of poor, imitation stuff. There is only one time to grasp it, and that is before the doors close forever.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1912.

RECIPROCITY'S VITALITY.

Canada is discovering that reciprocity is livelier than it thought when it congratulated itself that it had killed both it and LAURIER. The "old cock," as he calls himself, has just carried the first by-election since his defeat, and carried it after a contest arising from the breach of a bargain by his opponents. And the provincial Legislatures of the Northwest one after another are giving their adhesions anew to the idea which means so much to them. Reciprocity carried the Saskatchewan Legislature after a three days' debate, by a vote of 27 to 12, two of the opposition voting with the majority. This is more surprising than the fact that the Grain Growers' Association sitting in that province reaffirmed its support of reciprocity and disciplined its representatives in Parliament for their lukewarmness on the issue. That this is so appears. In the Manitoba Parliament last week a Liberal member declared amid applause that it would be better to withdraw from the Dominion rather than lose reciprocity.

Doubtless this is not to be taken seriously, but it should suffice at least to give pause to those Canadians who rejected reciprocity because of loyalty to England. It is a poor service to the Empire to inspire such feelings, which are so serious that the Dominion Senate has appointed a committee to inquire into the severity of the losses through the rejection of reciprocity. At the same time Premier BORDEN's Government is receiving delegations urging the reduction of the preference to British imports into Canada. It cannot be alleged that the United States is doing anything to foment this sentiment. On the contrary, it has given Canadian shippers permission to ship to England through the United States, and thereby has lessened the loss through the inability of Canadian farmers to move some sixty or seventy million bushels of wheat which they could have sold in this market if reciprocity had won. It is true, but not our fault, that this route leaves something to be desired, since it costs so much more to send to England than to sell in the nearer and better market. The more Canadians are not allowed to sell where their market is best the worse for the loyalty of which such boast is made. There is no novelty about the idea, the same thing having been prophesied which now is realized.

What adds piquancy to the situation is the assistance that the Canadians are giving to the mother country regarding the home rule problem. A mass meeting at Toronto last week hissed the Hon. WINSTON CHURCHILL and adopted resolutions condemning his exposition of home rule on behalf of the Government. It is the height of ingratitude that Canadians should assume to condemn "this first "step toward the separation of Ire-"land from the Empire," since it is the Canadian idea of home rule which chiefly blocks Ireland's way to the same state of contentment. "Home rule all round" is difficult because Canada assumes to be an independent nation, with a tariff and a navy. Canada's "loyal citizens" pass resolutions expressing their fear of the "creation of a Papal State within the Empire," but Ireland's close neighbors are more afraid of a Canada on their channel coast. "The canon law of the Papacy" in Ireland is less dangerous to the Empire than Canada's sort of loyalty in Ireland. The "loyal citizens" who protest that the Dominion and provincial Legislatures do not represent them on this issue fall into the same class with those who protest that they are misrepresented also by the legislators who were elected on the anti-reciprocity issue. It is a pretty tangle, and it may be understood by the Canadians. If their Legislatures do not represent them, and do not legislate according to their views of their interests, why do they not elect true representatives, instead of passing resolutions?

THE "MARSEILLAISE" AND THE SUFFRAGETTES.

The first time that the "Marseillaise" was heard in the streets of Paris it was sung by some 600 revolutionists from Marseilles on the 29th of July, 1792. On the 4th of August they plundered the municipal magazines of 5,000 rounds of ammunition. On the 10th they took part in the massacre of some 800 Swiss Guards of the Tuileries, officials, servants, cooks, &c., many being cut to pieces and their corpses burned. It was the first day of "The Terror." As M. MADLIN, the distinguished French historian, remarks: "The human Beast was unchained."

Probably very few of the refined ladies who have been smashing windows and destroying the property of unoffending shopkeepers in London to the air of the "Marseillaise" know of the incidents we have referred to. The analogy between their own lawlessness and that of the looters from Marseilles a hundred and twenty years ago is, however, though remote, too real to be ignored. In this case the creature unchained is relatively harmless and domestic, but unchaining of wild instincts is risky even in domestic creatures. And when it is not risky it is ridiculous.

A PLEA FOR THE DONKEY.

We are not surprised by the expressions of fear, in various parts of the country, outside of Missouri, that the donkey may be supplanted as the symbol of Democracy by the houn' dog, which is not, hereafter, if things turn out well for it, to be kicked aroun' town. But although Missouri is a large and important State, and a Democratic State, we do not believe it will have sufficient influence to substitute its hound for the donkey of tradition. The donkey deserves the affectionate esteem of the party it has so long and so faithfully represented in the cartoons. It has trudged bravely to many defeats. It has kicked up its heels in genuine glee, and thus denoted hope and buoyancy of spirit, in many a situation in which the best hound of Missouri breed would have slunk silently to a corner.

The Tammany tiger holds his own well. Age cannot wither him nor custom stale his striped variety. Defeat never subdues him. But he has never dared to try to supplant the donkey as a National emblem. Manifestly, he lacks the broadly representative qualities of the donkey, and, above all, the donkey's sense of humor. The Missouri hound is a welcome addition to the political zoological collection. But it will not supplant the donkey, which will trudge, cavort, and bray in its accustomed way between July 4 and Election Day, and keep the elephant guessing, part of the time, no matter what happens. Wherefore, Major HEMPHILL and The Macon Telegraph, and other representatives of Democracy, who have feared for the donkey's fate and looked askance at the Hon. CHAMP CLARK's symbol, may dismiss their fears.

THE CONTEXT.

Inasmuch as Col. ROOSEVELT has announced that he will accept the nomination if tendered him, since he is, in fact, a candidate for the nomination, and since the fight for Roosevelt delegates is going on, it is rather profitless to inquire how many times and with what varying degrees of solemnity he may have declared that he will not be a candidate for a third term. It is certainly profitless so far as the main fact is concerned, but these succeeding disclosures of positive assertions that he would not be a candidate do throw a light, always a stronger light, upon the Colonel's character or habit, or whatever you choose to call it.

For instance, when the concluding passage of the Van Valkenburg letter which was printed in the newspapers yesterday morning was shown to the Colonel at Oyster Bay Sunday evening, he said:

> I will say nothing unless the name of the recipient of the letter is given and the letter published in full. Probably the language is not correctly given. Certainly, all the context in which I said I would not refuse the nomination is suppressed.

The "context" is now available for study. The most careful reading of all that part of the letter which was not published yesterday morning reveals no phrase or word in support of the intimation that something was suppressed which would have shown that Mr. ROOSEVELT had said that he would not refuse the nomination. Into the controversy as to whether he ever told a member of the Cabinet that he would support Mr. TAFT for a second term, or whether he ever gave assurances that would lead anybody to suppose he intended to support Mr. TAFT. it would be premature to enter. Those passages of the letter which were not printed yesterday morning deal exclusively with that question, as anybody can see who reads the full text this morning. The concluding passage which was printed Monday morning is here reproduced:

> I have expressed myself perfectly freely to a large number of men in this matter, always to the same effect; telling you, for instance, personally, and those who were with you at lunch at my house, and telling GIFFORD PINCHOT, JIM GARFIELD and Congressman MADISON and BILLY LOEB and Secretary MEYER and Secretary STIMSON, all alike, just exactly what I have said, always that I would not be a candidate in 1912 myself, and that I had no intention of taking any part in the nomination for or against any candidate.
> Sincerely yours,
> THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Nobody can read into this extract from the letter anything save a refusal to become a candidate for the nomination. The Colonel mentions by name six persons besides the recipient of the letter to whom "all alike" he had said always "that I would not be a candidate in 1912 myself." And, further, that he had no intention of taking any part in the nomination for or against any candidate.

Any man can change his intentions from time to time, but this letter, like the Colonel's statement on the night of his election in 1904, was a definite refusal to enter the contest this year, and fully justified the friends to whom he had imparted his resolve in their private beliefs and more or less public assurances that he would not put himself forward or permit himself to be put forward against President TAFT as a rival candidate for the nomination. It goes far to justify, furthermore, those who, after studying carefully and with growing amazement Mr. ROOSEVELT's recent behavior, have with great regret reached the conclusion that in matters that concern his own plans and ambitions he does not know the difference between right and wrong.

HOBSON AND THE CANTEEN.

Mr. HOBSON of Alabama is fond of statistics. When he says that alcohol kills as many Americans every year as all the wars of the world have killed in 2,300 years he shows his capacity to make statistics interesting. How he makes his computation we do not know—or care. We have seen no tabulated statement of the number of lives lost in war since the year B. C. 388. There have been some notable wars in that period, but alcohol is, indeed, a demon. Statistics, too, are not easily obtained of the number of deaths yearly in this country, directly or indirectly due to the abuse of alcoholic drink. But we are willing to accept the computation of Mr. HOBSON of Alabama. Mr. HOBSON figures out that about 700,000 men have been killed in wars since the era of the Greeks and Phoenicians. He says he knows that 725,000 deaths due to alcohol occur in this country every year. He accuses the Army War College and the insurance companies of helping him to put together these figures.

These statements are all right. They are startling, but if they were not Mr. HOBSON would have no use for them. But they do not justify Mr. HOBSON's argument against the restoration of the canteens at army posts. You cannot make enlisted men sober by refusing to let them buy good beer in camp. On the contrary, statistics much clearer, more easily obtainable than Mr. HOBSON's amazing figures, show conclusively that the abolition of the canteen has increased drunkenness and increased the profits of the keepers of low groggeries. Mr. HOBSON's ideal is an army of total abstainers. Perfection may come in time in all human pursuits and endeavors. But violent, unreasoning, sensational arguments, like those of Mr. HOBSON of Alabama, whatever the subject that engages his fertile mind and voluble tongue, will not help mankind to reach perfection.

THE LAWYERS TO THE DEFENSE.

It is not surprising that the lawyers of the country should be considering a general organization to defend the independence of the judiciary against the advocates of the recall of Judges and the more amazing scheme of Mr. ROOSEVELT. Such a movement should heartily be upheld by members of the bar in every State and without regard to party. They are in principle officers of the court as deeply bound as the Judges themselves to secure justice for all under the law. They know better than any other class in the country the value of upright and impartial Judges. They know, too, the inevitable perils of the judiciary, the difficulties and—to put it plainly—the temptations to which the courts are subjected. They cannot help seeing that under our system as it is, politics and politicians already have some degree of mischievous influence upon the action of the bench. And they look with grave and well-grounded distrust and fear upon a change which would turn the minds of the Judges away from the standards of law and equity toward the shifting demands of a temporary popular majority.

Certainly it is not to be denied that our judiciary is far from perfect. It has grave defects, most of them due to the system that has grown up. The costly and oppressive delays, the extreme attention to technical considerations, the absurd confusion, duplication, and overlapping of jurisdiction, the tedious and practically harmful appeals, suspensions, and interventions among the courts, and the heaping up of costs that amount to a denial of justice to poor litigants—all these are substantially the product of our system of many courts and of ceaseless legislation affecting their duties and their practice. The tendency of this meddlesome and continual legislation has been to hamper, disturb, and forbid the exercise of sound judgment according to well-defined principles, wisely and fairly adapted to the conditions of litigation in varying cases.

For years the more intelligent and conscientious of the members of the bar, over the whole country, in all the courts, Federal and State, have seen the growth of these evils and have striven to find a remedy for them. The general aim of all these efforts has been to increase the independence, the discretion, and the responsibility of the courts. Underlying every serious suggestion of reform there has been the conviction, based on wide experience, that real justice is most surely to be had from a court empowered to get at the essential facts and the law bearing on them, and to pass judgment that shall be subject to appeal only on points affecting substantial rights. Greater simplicity, greater independence, and more direct and effective responsibility for the courts, these have been main objects toward which all the labors of the better members of the legal profession have been concentrated.

Now they must be redoubled. The movement for the recall and Mr. ROOSEVELT's audacious demand for popular review of Constitutional decisions are in the opposite direction. It is needless to dissect the motives of this reactionary movement, but it must plainly be noted that it is reactionary. It is a plan not to reform but to deform in the extremest sense. The degree of confusion that now exists would by this movement be worse confounded. The uncertainty would be deepened. The barriers to justice would be made harder to surmount. The perils of the poor would be more numerous and more hurtful.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Making a Lenten Sacrifice.

From Cleveland comes the curious story—not accompanied by affidavits, unfortunately, but so interesting as to be easily credible—that there many women of piety and fashion "keep" Lent by undergoing the operation of appendectomy. This is not done, as might be supposed, on the theory of "giving up something," and especially a luxury, for though the appendix vermiformis, if most surgeons can be believed, can, accurately enough, be so characterized, the owners of that vestigial organ, in spite of all its faults, do not, as a rule, so regard it.

The Cleveland idea, according to report, is that as Lent reduces social demands almost to nothing, one can then be confined to bed for a fortnight or so without losing much, if anything, except the appendix itself. Hence, if that loss must be suffered, then is the time to do it!

Of course, a really fierce attack of appendicitis demands, and in this country usually gets, immediate operation, out of the penitential season or in it, but these, if we understand the dispatches aright, are what the doctors call "interval operations"—that is, they are performed, not because of immediate necessity or present danger, but because more or less nippy pains in the right illiac fossa have in the past given warning that, some day or other, the small trouble is almost sure to become a big one, and the conditions for resort to the knife will then be much less favorable. European surgeons view these "interval operations" somewhat askance, and are inclined to let well enough alone. Their American brothers, however, regard this as taking needless chances.

The difference of opinion may be accounted for by the fact that both appendicitis and the operation for its relief were, one might almost say, invented in the United States, and both enjoy a popularity here which international jealousy has prevented them from gaining abroad. But that is a quarrel not for lay decision, or even lay discussion. With safety we can only wonder whether "the quality" in other cities than Cleveland are able to combine religiosity and the economy of time as it is done there—whether they can do it, that is, without seeing the humorous side of the situation thus created, and indulging in more or less scornful laughter at themselves. The thing is not impossible; indeed, anything is possible with the possessors of that precious treasure, the human mind.

Unnecessary and Obnoxious.

While the automobile is no longer the object of anything like the antagonism with which it once had to contend, and one hears now comparatively little about the "scorching" that formerly was the subject of constant discussion and denunciation, still the machine can hardly be said to have the love and admiration of all, and the large part of the public which doesn't do any riding in motor cars is resigned to, rather than contented with, the dangers and the annoyances created by them. It behooves the automobilists, therefore, to reduce both the dangers and the annoyances as much as possible. By so doing they will in time turn the mild dislike of non-users which has succeeded the old-time hatred into favor, and then will the motor folk escape from not a few restrictions that they have brought upon themselves by lack of consideration for others.

One thing they can certainly do, and that is to stop cutting out the exhaust muffler except in rare moments of grave emergency. Then only is the use of the cut-out justifiable, for then only can the very slight increase of power and speed thus attained be of any measurable importance. As a matter of fact, so slight is advantage secured in this way that cars of several makes, including some of the best, have no means of cutting out the muffler, and they get along just as well and as safely as the others.

The frequent or constant use of the muffler cut-out is merely a bad habit into which chauffeurs, both amateur and professional, have fallen. Some of them do it in order to get a clear track ahead by making people think they are coming very fast, while with others the purpose is to create in the uninitiate the impression that a low-powered machine is a racer. The first motive is insolent, the second silly; in either case the result is a lot of needless noise of a kind particularly offensive to sensitive ears and particularly trying to short tempers.

If automobilists are not more discreet in the use of their mufflers they are likely soon to find themselves compelled by law to have the cut-outs removed from their cars. Any city would have a good and sufficient excuse for passing such an ordinance—a much better excuse, indeed, than for passing, as many cities have, ordinances fixing speed rates absurdly or impossibly low.

Let Containers Show What They Contain.

What is known as "the Contents and Container bill," one introduced in the Assembly by FRANKLIN BROOKS, will have its third reading this week. At the recent public hearing strong opposition to it was expressed by those whom its provisions would affect, but not one of them was able to show how he would be hurt if he had to affix to the package, bottle, or other container of the wares he sold some label or mark definitely stating the weight or quantity that the buyer was getting.

There was talk at the hearing about present receptacles, in which much money had been invested, being made worthless, but that argument is really a confession that the containers now in use are deceptive. They do not say that they hold a pound, quart, or other quantity, but that is the general impression, and, beyond any question, this custom of selling goods in unfixed and unknown amounts lends itself too readily to secret price raising.

If a man wants to sell packages containing less than a pound, say, or bottles containing less than a quart or a pint, let him do so, and let him charge what he pleases for them, but that he should be able to sell sixteen ounces for a certain price one month, and then to sell fifteen or fourteen ounces for the same price the next month, without letting anybody know it—that does not conduce to the general welfare or raise the National standard of honesty.

It is most strange that manufacturers fight laws of this kind. They profit by them, in the end, even more than does the public. The undesignated container belongs to the era of the secret price mark, and it is incompatible with really fair dealing. The merchant who clings to it is either unenlightened or his honesty is not beyond suspicion. The object of the Brooks bill is certainly good, and if it has been well and wisely drawn, so as to attain that object, it ought to pass.

MEN TEACHERS' PAY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I call your attention to Assembly Bill No. 528, introduced by Mr. Coine? The aim of this bill is to correct the injustice done to the men teachers of the public schools by the so-called "equal pay" law. It is loudly proclaimed that the purpose of the Coine bill is to nullify "equal pay." Nothing is further from the truth. It was the avowed purpose of the Board of Education and the Legislature, as well as of Mayor Gaynor, not to disturb the status of men already in the schools. In fact, the men themselves at first did not realize the effect of the law upon them, but, when individuals began to figure out its application to their own cases, the injury was at once startlingly evident. The Coine bill merely aims to enact into law the declared purpose of the authorities.

The injury complained of arises from the fact that the Grady law, after apparently protecting the men in their existing rights, provides that "if any male member be advanced in salary after Jan. 1, 1912, his salary shall be that fixed in the schedule at the time of advancement." The result is that in many cases the Grady law protects the men only if they remain in their present positions, but not if they seek promotion. In other words, it puts a penalty upon industry, energy, and ambition.

(1) Men teaching below 7A are guaranteed the Davis law maximum of $2,160 so long as they remain in the lower grade, but if promoted to teach in the last two years of the course they must accept the salary "fixed in the schedule at the time of advancement," viz., $1,820, thus suffering a loss of $340 a year. The veriest dullard knows that if men are needed anywhere in the elementary schools it is in the last two years. This part of the law, then, might well be entitled "A provision to discourage the appointment of men teachers to the grades where they are most needed." Opponents of the bill have publicly urged its defeat upon the ground that its passage would prevent, in part, the appointment of women to the grades in question. The fact that its enactment into law would insure the appointment of a reasonable proportion of men to these grades is the very best argument in its favor. After all, the schools exist for the benefit of the pupils.

(2) Men now teaching in Grades 7A to 8A, inclusive, were eligible under the old law to a salary of $2,400. Under the new law they would receive $1,820, a loss of $580 a year.

(3) The initial salary of men promoted to the position of elementary Principal under the old law was $2,750 and the increment, $250; under the present law the initial salary is $2,300 and the increment $200. In December Mr. Curtis was appointed to a Principalship under the old law. In January Mr. King, whose grade was exactly the same as that of Mr. Curtis, was appointed under the Grady law. As a result the aggregate salary of Mr. King during the next five years will be just $1,500 less than that of Mr. Curtis. However, had his name been Baron, instead of King, his income would have topped that of Mr. Curtis by an equal amount!

The aim of the bill is merely to assure to the men in the system at the time of the enactment of the Grady law the rights of which they were assured upon entering the system, and, further, to enable the city to place men in the higher grades where they are most needed. Hundreds of men have been expending time, money, and energy in fitting themselves for advancement under the exacting conditions laid down by the city. Many of them now find themselves confronted by the fact that they can accept this advancement only at a financial sacrifice, which duty to their families forbids. The only possible relief for this state of affairs is the passage of the Coine bill.

HUGH C. LAUGHLIN.

"The Female of the Species."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The window-smashing in London will doubtless be used as an argument against women's fitness for suffrage. "Lest we forget," it will therefore be timely to remind the women's critics that when a bill broadening the franchise for men was temporarily held up in Parliament in 1832, there was widespread rioting and bloodshed. Dissatisfied men burned the castle at Nottingham, and burned the Custom House, three prisons, and 42 private dwellings in Bristol, besides committing much other violence, in comparison with which the women's window-breaking is a mere pink tea. In Portugal a few years ago men agitating for a republic showed their fitness for self-government by shooting up the royal family, and recent events in China and elsewhere prove that when the male of the species goes on the warpath for the right of suffrage he is several degrees more deadly than the female.

It is lucky for women—and for men, too—that American women have no need to resort to such methods.

Crotchetty Suffragettes.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Referring to the breaking of so many windows by the stone-throwing and hatchet-wielding suffragettes yesterday in London, why doesn't some physician give us an article on the physiological fact that the leaders of that party are generally women who have reached that period of life when they become cranky and filled with whimsies and crochets that make them do all the outlandish things that we see them doing from day to day, things that disgrace the name of woman and womanhood? Such leaders can always find some young women and some foolish women of other ages to follow their vagaries.

A Widowed Mother's Need.

To earn enough to feed her four active boys in addition to keeping an orderly home for them has proved all that a widowed mother can do without overtaxing her strength. She can save nothing from her wages as office cleaner, or from the sum which her brother pays her for his board, toward the $10 needed each month for the rent. The Charity Organization Society asks for $120 to pay this during the next twelve months, that the boys may continue to have their mother's care.

Gifts may be sent to the office of the society, 105 East Twenty-second Street, and will be acknowledged.

The Charity Organization Society acknowledges with thanks the following contributions received in response to previous appeals in THE TIMES:

T. J. R., $2; A. de P., $5; F. J. B., $1; Young Woman's Recreation League of Fort Washington, N. Y., $2; J. A. B., $1, and S. B. W., $1.

STRAUS CHARITY CHARTERED.

Incorporation to Give Permanence to Pasteurized Milk Work.

The certificate of incorporation of the Nathan Straus Pasteurized Milk Laboratories was filed to-day with the County Clerk by Robert H. Hibbard, attorney for the institution.

This is a step toward making this charitable work permanent, the charter making provision for the corporation to receive bequests and to extend the work to other cities and countries.

The charter sets forth that the work is to be conducted along the lines laid down by Nathan Straus and followed by him for the past twenty-one years in pasteurizing milk for infant feeding and dispensing it in nursing bottles, and expressly forbids the sale of the milk at a price that would yield a profit.

The articles of incorporation also set forth the purpose of the institution to promote the use of pasteurization as the proved method of making milk absolutely safe for infant feeding and reducing infant mortality, and provide for conducting campaigns of education to inform the public of the dangers of raw milk and the benefits of pasteurization.

Nathan Straus, the founder of the work, is Chairman of the Board of Directors, and his children joined with him in incorporating the charity. Mr. Straus is now abroad on a mission for President Taft, who appointed him to represent this country at the tuberculosis congress, which meets in Rome in April.

THALMANN LEFT $2,500,000.

Banker's Will Covers More Than 100 Typewritten Pages.

Ernst Thalmann, the banker, who died on Feb. 26, left charitable bequests amounting ot $25,000. His will was filed for probate yesterday in the Surrogates' Court. The Hebrew Orphan Asylum receives $10,000, the Mount Sinai Hospital $10,000, and the German Hospital and Dispensary $5,000. His two sons, Edward and Paul, and his wife get legacies of unknown values. The other bequests are Jennie Rosen, niece, $40,000; Mrs. Hedwig Neumann, governess to his son Paul, $5,000; Felix Rosen, $20,000, and Marie Thalmann, $10,000. It is estimated that the value of the estate is in excess of $2,500,000.

In the will Mr. Thalmann suggests that the banking firm of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co. be formed into a corporation or continued as a copartnership as at present, as the executors see fit. In conclusion, he says:

"I am desirous that my sons shall be mindful of the pride I have in the continuation of the business."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

After the referendum, iniative, and recall shall have been adopted, as the progressists seem to feel sure they will be, we will be in a greater hurry to get rid of them than we ever were to adopt them. When they are set a-going, life will be one long election day, a political nightmare. It will be found that the referendum did not touch the point "the people" supposed it would, or that they had "recalled" the wrong man, or that they had "initiated" a Frankenstein monster who would eat us all up.

After incalculable mischief has resulted, a new set of progressists would arise to demand the fining and imprisonment of any one who even said "referendum," &c., to the end that we might put forth some effort to the task of earning our daily bread.

American Men Praised.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

American women who like to believe (as almost all suffragists do) that American men are the best in the world will find confirmation for that opinion in the speed with which the Judiciary Committee at Albany reported out the woman suffrage measure, after the "Twin Angels" began their silent siege.

Mr. Asquith a year or two since refused to receive a deputation of suffragists, and let a large number of the most highly respected women in England stand at the gate night and day, in sun and rain, for a length of time aggregating more than 14,000 hours, rather than permit a delegation from their ranks to interview him for ten minutes. We said at the time that no public man in America would treat such women in such a way.

The Nurse's Salary.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Apropos of the letter by "New York Physician" in to-day's TIMES, I would like to state that I have been a graduate nurse for the last ten years and have been employed both as private nurse and hospital supervisor, but in that time have known of no graduate nurse of good standing who gave her services as private nurse at $21 per week, $25 for ordinary cases and $30 for contagious cases being the rule, and no "trust formation" is needed to raise prices to these amounts.

Ten years is reckoned as the average time that a nurse may work, as usually after that she is incapacitated by illness, death, or marriage, seldom retiring to live on the amount saved from her exorbitant salary.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

—It is of the utmost importance to people of my profession that Taft be nominated, for otherwise we shall be out of a job. There are lots of words that rhyme with Taft, but there isn't a thing in creation that rhymes with Roosevelt. For Taft we have waft, quaffed, raft, aft, draft, shaft, laughed, and a host of other thrillers that we can twist into shape somehow. But with Roosevelt we can't possibly ring in recall, nor Progressive, nor rhinoceros, nor seven Governors, nor even I.

In Touch with South America.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Let me congratulate THE TIMES for sending to South America so able a correspondent on Latin-American affairs as Mr. Bonsal. His mission is bound to be most beneficial to both—to the South Americans, who will have a chance to show that the word "manana" is no longer their favorite expression, and to the people of this country, who will be informed about the many opportunities those developing republics now offer.

TO PARENTS AND TEACHERS.

Say,
When you discipline a child—
By discipline is meant
Its training with the best intent—
What do you do?
Compel it by a fear of you
To lose its own identity?
To set aside its mind
And through you find
Some other self than what its own should be?
Is that true discipline?
Is that the plan
Which will evolve the individual in man?
Is that the training
Which will lead
A child to knowledge of its need?
Is yours the master mind
In which the child must find
The thought
By which its purpose shall be wrought?
Is not the child born with the gift
That needs but training to uplift
It into its own sphere—
Its individual right,
Which, large or small,
Is God's intention for us all?
Train it, but train it right;
Teach it, but teach it true,
And let it be itself,
Not you.

ART MUSEUM PLANS APPROVED BY STOVER

Metropolitan Trustees to Ask City for $750,000 for New South Wing.

TO RUN TO EIGHTIETH STREET

Second Lot of Morgan Treasures Here Thursday—New Natural History Museum Wing Started.

The plans of the Metropolitan Museum of Art for an extension of the main building to the south, which is to house J. Pierpont Morgan's $50,000,000 art collection, now being brought from Europe, have just received the approval of Park Commissioner C. B Stover. It is now expected that the Trustees will lay the matter before the Board of Estimate in a few days, asking the city for $750,000 to complete the extension. Mr. Stover declared yesterday that he had made a visit to the offices of McKim, Mead & White for the purpose of finding out exactly what the plans consist of, for, he said, there have been many mistaken statements and ideas as to what the Museum Trustees actually expect to do. He considers the plans admirable, and will not oppose them.

The Morgan collection, which the new wing will house, is arriving here in sections. It was learned yesterday that the second consignment, which is now on the sea in the Oceanic, arriving here Thursday, consists of Mr. Morgan's art possessions which have been kept at his Prince's Gate house. This is probably the most notable collection in existence of miniatures, gold enameled boxes of the eighteenth century and enamels of the Middle Ages, and will be stored in the Museum along with the enamels which arrived on the Celtic more than a week ago.

Paris Works Packed.

It was also learned that the work of preparing for shipment the art treasures recently acquired in Paris by Mr. Morgan has been completed, and they will be the next to be shipped to this country. The fourth shipment will consist of Mr. Morgan's silver art objects, and will come from London. No steps have been taken as yet to pack the ivories which were expected among the first shipments.

According to the latest plans of Mr. McKim, the architect, the new south wing, which will eventually be used to exhibit Mr. Morgan's treasures, will extend from the south end of the main building at Eighty-first Street to the north side of Eightieth Street, and not to the north side of the Drive at Seventy-ninth Street, as was at first proposed. The original plan did not provide for the extension of the new wing to Seventy-ninth Street, but only for an extension to the main extension. By running the building to Eightieth Street, the north extension, from Eighty-third to Eighty-fourth Street, will just be balanced. It was to establish this symmetry that Mr. Stover favored the latest plan.

The question of the right of the city to give park land to the Museum for this extension was discussed last night by Mr. Stover.

"While there was no contract," he said, "between the city and the Museum for any fixed amount of land in the Park, there was a tacit agreement between the two parties as to the creation of new buildings. I have made a careful study of the plans drawn by McKim, Mead & White, because I had heard so many different opinions as to what the plans were.

Extension to Eightieth Street.

"I find that the plans really call for an extension as far south as Eightieth Street and at the rear only a very narrow building, more like a hall than a building of rooms, which does not extend much beyond the present western line of the old building. I had heard that the plans provided for buildings as far back as the reservoir. But this is not the case. Provision is made for two large wings in the centre on either side of the old building. I think it was generally understood that the city was to permit the construction of these buildings as they were required."

Mr. Stover's attention was then called to the objections that have been raised against the proposed south extension. These objections are, first, that it is doubtful if the city has the right without a special act of the Legislature to grant land, which was acquired for park purposes, to the Museum. In answer to this it has been pointed out that on April 22, 1876, the State Legislature did authorize and direct the Department of Parks to make and enter into a contract with the Museum for the occupation by it of the building which was then being erected, and also "such other additions as may be made to it from time to time."

A second objection is that, with the new extension, the Museum would present a solid front four blocks long, cutting off the view of all the natural beauties of the park. It would be necessary, it is urged, to cut down between 200 and 300 trees, including some of the finest beeches in the park. The entrance for pedestrians, now at Eighty-first Street, would of course be wiped out.

Won't Discuss Objections.

"Inasmuch as the new wing is needed to preserve the balance of the building," said Mr. Stover, "and as I have already approved of the extension when the matter was presented to me by the Trustees, I should prefer not to discuss those objections just now."

The Commissioner has been considering many suggestions for the use of the old Croton Reservoir, lying just back of the Museum, which will lose its usefulness with the completion of the Catskill Aqueduct. Mr. Stover's own idea is that the land could be used for a sunken garden for outdoor statuary. Even if this use is not made of it, he declared, that it will be a mistake to keep the reservoir intact, as some conservative people have desired. In outline, his plan is to link up by means of the sunken garden, a drive, walks, and a plaza, the Museum of Natural History, at Central Park West and Seventy-ninth Street, and the Metropolitan Museum. The two museums can be connected, Mr. Stover said, either by a bridge over Eighth Avenue, or by depressing Eighth Avenue at about Seventy-ninth Street.

The new south wing of the Natural History Museum was begun yesterday. If the plans for that part of Central Park are carried out, the square will be completely filled with buildings, with only as much space around the outside as now exists along the main entrance at Seventy-ninth Street. The aim of Commissioner Stover is to make the Metropolitan Museum more accessible from the west side, and to make it possible for visitors to go from one museum to the other without following the winding paths of the park.

ADVERTISING CLUBS' DINNER.

It Will Follow Their Convention at the Waldorf Next Thursday.

The Eastern division of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America will hold its annual convention at the Waldorf-Astoria next Thursday, when it is expected that a large number of advertising men from New England and the Atlantic States will gather in New York. The division comprises nineteen clubs with a membership of 1,600.

There will be a business meeting in the morning, and in the afternoon papers will be read on subjects related to advertising by A. W. McCann and Herbert S. Houston of New York and H. B. Humphrey of Boston. S. E. Leith will speak on the plans of the National convention, which will be held this year at Dallas, Tex.

In the evening a dinner will be held at which Frederick T. Murphy will be toastmaster. The speakers will be Borough President McAneny, Don C. Seitz, the Rev. N. McGee Waters, and S. C. Dobbs. Lewellyn E. Pratt of 2 Rector Street has charge of the seating arrangements for the dinner.

"The Mysterious Miss Apache," the two-act musical comedy presented by the Columbia University players in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor last night, proved to be an elaborate production, even for a Columbia 'Varsity show. The scenic effects were pleasing, and the acting of the piece was quite up to expectations, the cast and chorus of more than fifty showing the effect of the months of drilling under Coach Frank A. Stammers.

A. A. Coates, '13, wrote the book and much of the music of the show, which included, also, interpolated songs by R. S. Erskine, '13; L. B. Boyd, '12; N. Salisbury, '12, L. and C. A. Cole, '13.

The action of "The Mysterious Miss Apache" is laid in a small Hungarian border town, to which the Colonial College 'Varsity Show, touring Europe, has come. The opening scene shows a country tavern on the mountainside, with the panorama of the distant valley in the background. Here the Colonial College boys are scheduled for a performance of "The Model Romeo." But trouble begins for the troupe when Edgar Allen Doyle, an American detective, gets on the trail of the show's leading "lady," whom he takes to be "The Mysterious Miss Apache," otherwise known as Liz, a Parisian criminal.

As there is a reward of 10,000 francs out for Liz's capture, Doyle sticks to the job, and gets in the way considerably. A Balkan Lieutenant, involved in a revolution, also has designs on the leading "lady," and between the detective and the Balkan, the leading "lady" is a much harassed creature.

To add to the traveling 'Varsity show's troubles the manager elopes with the pretty barmaid of the inn, W. V. Saxe, '13, being the barmaid. The company is now stranded, and Jim, the handsome leading man, "the Model Romeo," saves all hands by captivating the heart of pretty Emily Millbank, (A. E. Peterson, '14S.) Emily, being an American heiress in the play, finds no difficulty, of course, in supplying the stranded college actors with passage money for home.

The book has many humorous lines, and the comedians of the show, J. T. Blaber, as Detective Doyle; O. C. Isbell as Count Tobasco, and W. Spalthoff as Esmeralda, the maiden aunt of the heiress, handled their comic parts in good style. Jim and Emily were typical 'Varsity show lovers, and R. B. Roberts as Lieut. Castoff was a dashing soldier.

Even if the "girls" of the chorus did sing in heavy masculine tones, the audience thought none the less of their shapely figures and girlish ways. That was half the fun of the show. One of the chorus hits that featured the "women" was a turkey trot wedding in which the entire company of "girls" and men turkey-trotted to the tune of "I'd Like to See Your Finger in a Wedding Ring." There was also rag dancing in one of the numbers which illustrated the development of the terpsichorean art from earliest times to the present. The chorus numbers were the most elaborate parts of the show, and the costuming was on an extravagant scale.

There will be a performance at the Astor every night this week, with a matinée on Saturday. The proceeds of tonight's performance will go to the Stony Wold Sanitarium, and the profits of tomorrow night's to the Bide-a-Wee Home for Friendless Animals. Whatever profits are realized from the other performances will be used for the benefit of Columbia athletics.

"OEDIPUS REX" IN PICTURES.

Sophocles's Tragedy at Kinemacolor Theatre—Greet Reads Text.

"Oedipus Rex," the tragedy of Sophocles, was presented at the Kinemacolor Theatre, in West Fortieth Street, last night, with special music and a narration of the text of the play. The scenes were made in natural settings, following the locale of the narration instead of occurring in one place, as arranged in the drama. About 100 actors were employed in making the pictures, which were arranged in three acts, the first two being in the nature of a prologue to the tragedy proper.

The play, in Gilbert Murray's translation, was read by Ben Greet, whose company has presented the tragedy on several occasions, and the reading aided much in the understanding of the pictures. The audience was more than usually enthusiastic, and the pictures themselves surpassed even the Durbar pictures in interest.

WEEK'S BILLS AT THE THEATRES

"The Lion and the Mouse" was presented by the stock company at the Academy of Music yesterday, and will be continued throughout the week.

GALSWORTHY PUTS NOVEL ABOVE PLAY

DICKENS AS A REFORMER

Author of "The Pigeon" Does Not Think That Repertoire Theatre Can Succeed in England or Here.

John Galsworthy, the English novelist and playwright, who arrived in New York Sunday on the Campania, received a group of interviewers in the office of Winthrop Ames, at the Little Theatre, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Galsworthy does not like interviews, but he was quite willing to talk about literature and the drama, provided that no one asked him his impressions of America.

"I came with my mind hardened against impressions," he said, "and I have no intention of writing a book about America. I was here about twenty years ago for a short visit, and this time I intend to spend probably two months, mostly in travel. After my play, 'The Pigeon,' has been produced here I shall go to Virginia, and then through the South and to California. It will be the first vacation I have had in several years."

Although Mr. Galsworthy is best known in this country as a dramatist through his play, "Strife," that was done at The New Theatre, and his other play, "The Pigeon," that is to be seen next week at the Little Theatre, he prefers to be thought of first as a novelist. If he had to give up either, he said, it would be playwriting. His drama, "Justice," however, has been said to have brought about radical changes in the English prison system, and Mr. Galsworthy himself said that the play could be more immediately effective than the novel in changing public opinion about things.

The subject of the répertoire theatre was brought up. Mr. Galsworthy's play, "The Elder Son," was to have been produced at Charles Frohman's répertoire theatre in London, but that enterprise fell through before the production could be made.

"The piece will be put on at the Kingsway," he said, "as soon as 'Fanny's First Play' dies, but that comedy seems to be destined to run forever. In England, and perhaps in this country, I do not think that the répertoire theatre could be made to succeed. On the Continent we have successful répertoire theatres, but they are all subsidized, of course. There are many things that combine to prevent the idea from succeeding at home or here, however. One is the actual physical labor entailed. A stage director simply could not stand the constant rehearsals, the constant labor, of frequent changes of bills. Granville Barker, at the Court Theatre, kept it up for three years, but had to abandon the scheme. Of course we have our répertoire houses in Manchester, Liverpool, and Glasgow, but they are conducted differently."

Mr. Galsworthy believes in the power of the novel over the play for effect upon the people.

"I have just completed a preface for a new edition of Dickens," he said, "in which I speak of the tremendous changes that were brought about through some of this novelist's stories. It takes longer for a novel to have an effect upon the people, but the effect is more lasting and reaches a greater number. I should not say that my play, 'Justice,' was the cause of the changes in the English prison system, but it happened to come at a time when those changes were about to be made by Churchill, who is the sort of man who is not content to enter a department without improving it. A novel along the same lines would probably have effected the same changes without the aid of some one else's ideas."

Mr. Galsworthy has no formula for writing. Most of his work is done at his home in Devonshire, where he finds he can be more quiet than in London. He tries to write in the mornings, and again between tea time and dinner, but how much he writes depends upon his mood. His plays, he said, are generally completed in the city, where he goes to attend rehearsals.

"One of the differences between writing a novel and a play," he explained, "is that you know that a novel will be read as it was written, while you are by no means sure that a play will be produced as it was constructed. I have never yet written a play to suit any particular actor-manager, and I don't think I ever shall. In fact, play writing is secondary with me, and something of a recreation from my other work."

He is a suffragist, but not of the militant type. He thinks that the window-smashing suffragettes of the present day are not helping the cause now. They may have had their use at the beginning, he thinks, in so much as they helped advertise the movement, but now they are not needed. However, he did not condemn their methods.

Mr. Galsworthy does not expect to do any work while here, but to devote his time to rest and recreation.

Henry Miller Shows "The Rainbow."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4.—Henry Miller presented his new play, "The Rainbow," by A. E. Thomas, at the Columbia Theatre here to-night. The piece is in three acts and four scenes, and associated with Mr. Miller in the company are Hope Latham, Laura Hope Crews, Ruth Chatterton, Fania Marinoff, Ethel Martin, Charles Hammond, Effingham Pinto, Daniel Fennell, Robert Stowe Gill, and Robert Pierce. The piece will be presented at the Liberty Theatre, New York, next Monday evening.

Company for "Indiscretion of Truth."

The company engaged by Samuel Wallach to support Robert Edeson in "The Indiscretion of Truth," by J. Hartley Manners, will include Frank Cooper, an English actor; Anne Meredith, Beverly Sitgreaves, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, Katherine Emmett, Kate Wingfield, Irene Moore, Henry Mortimer, Edwin Holland, and Richard Purdon. The first performance will take place at Springfield, Mass., on March 18, and after a week in various cities, will go to the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, for a run.

Frohman to Produce New Thomas Play

Charles Frohman and Augustus Thomas signed contracts yesterday for the production of a new play by Mr. Thomas, to be called "The Point of View." The piece is a comedy in four acts, with the scenes laid principally in the vicinity of Washington Square and Fifth Avenue. Rehearsals will begin next Monday. There will be no star, and Mr. Thomas will have charge of the rehearsals. The first performance will be given in Baltimore on Easter Monday, and the play will come to New York immediately afterward.

Reumert's Recital of Fairy Tales.

Elith Reumert, an actor of the Royal Theatre of Denmark, gave a reading of the fairy tales of Hans Christian Andersen at the Berkeley Theatre yesterday afternoon. Mr. Reumert has learned to speak English almost perfectly, and his recital was given with scarcely a trace of accent. The stories selected were "The Butterfly," "The Princess and the Pea," and "It is Quite True." He was assisted by the Misses Oriska, Dorothy and Rosalind Fuller, who sang old English and Scottish folk songs.

Daughter to Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zabriskie Gray are being congratulated upon the birth of a daughter on Saturday last at their residence in Madison avenue. Both the mother and child are doing well. The newcomer is the first granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Gray having been Miss Marion Fish. Her marriage to Mr. Gray took place two years ago. Mr. Gray is one of the several sons of Judge John Clinton Gray and Mrs. Gray.

HANS KRONOLD'S CONCERT.

Pieces for Violoncello Played with Orchestral Accompaniment.

Mr. Hans Kronold, 'cellist, gave a concert last evening that was raised to more dignity than such affairs often are by the participation of a small orchestra from the membership of the New York Symphony Society, conducted by Alexander Saslavsky. Mr. Kronold played Max Bruch's concert piece called Ave Maria, Op. 61, Saint-Saëns's second concerto in D minor, and Boellmann's "Variations Symphoniques," Op. 23. He is a sound and accomplished player, and there was much that gave pleasure to a large audience in his performance last evening. The dearth of concertos for 'cellists is more embarrassing than that of concertos for violinists. Saint-Saëns's is not a favorable specimen of its kind. It is not enlivening in its musical content, and it falls into some of the most dreary of bravura passages for the soloist. These are hardly tolerable, even in a more brilliant and accurate performance than Mr. Kronold gave.

The orchestra played two movements from Schubert's unfinished symphony, Mendelssohn's "Fingal's Cave" overture, and the ball scene from Tschaikowsky's opera "Eugene Onegin."

A PIANO AND VIOLIN RECITAL.

Sigismond Stojowski and Arthur Argiewicz Play French Music Together.

The second of the three recitals, which Messrs. Sigismond Stojowski, pianist, and Arthur Argiewicz, violinist, are giving in the Concert Hall of the MacDowell Club in West Fifty-fifth Street stock place last evening, and was devoted to music of modern French composers. The two concert givers played together the sonatas for violin and piano, by César Franck and Gabriel Fauré. Mr. Stajowski played piano pieces by Pierné, Dubois, Diémer, and Godard, and Mr. Argiewicz Saint-Saens's "Romdo Capriccioso."

There was an excellent understanding between the two musicians in their ensemble pieces, and Franck's sonata was played with artistic taste and finish, not without poetic feeling. Mr. Stojowski gave the French piano pieces with sympathy and delicacy. They are of small calibre and light weight, perhaps Godard had most to say in his "En route" in which the pianist's wrists are much exercised. The audience was large and interested.

"THE STILL VOICE" ACTED.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew and Lionel Barrymore in Mrs. Drew's Little Drama

"The Still Voice," a one-act play by George Cameron, (Mrs. Sidney Drew,) was presented at Keith and Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre yesterday afternoon as a feature of the vaudeville bill. The company consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, Lionel Barrymore, Doris Rankin, S. Rankin Drew, N. Leonard Howe and Hugh Wynne, all of the same family except the last two. This was the occasion of Mrs. Drew's return to the stage after several years of absence.

The play was a little drama of a man's life, and the characters were the man, his sister, his daughter, his doctor, his secretary, his servant and the son of the other man. It was staged under the personal direction of the author.

RANG CHURCH BELLS 30 YEARS

Thomas Laurie Shearer, who for thirty years rang the chimes in the steeple of St. Ann's Episcopal Church in the Heights section of Brooklyn, died yesterday at his home at 67 Allen Street, Jamaica, as the result of a fall a year ago in the bell tower of the church, when he received internal injuries. Mr. Shearer was known to hundreds of Brooklyn churchgoers. When he commenced ringing St. Ann's bells thirty years ago he succeeded his uncle, who had performed the same duty for twenty years. His injury was such that he was not able to lie on his back, and had to sleep propped up in a chair. He frequently said he thought he would be better could he once more ring the chimes that he had grown to love.

EDWARD L. CONKLIN DEAD.

Ex-Postmaster of Newark and County Auditor for 17 Years.

Edward L. Conklin, Auditor of Essex County, died Sunday night at his home, 70 Heller Parkway, Newark, N. J., after an illness of more than a week of rheumatism of the heart. Mr. Conklin was County Auditor for seventeen years. In 1889 he was appointed Postmaster of Newark by President Harrison, serving one term.

Mr. Conklin was a member of the Essex County Republican Committee for forty-two years. He was a Director in the Franklin Savings Institution, a Governor of the Republican League, a member of Lincoln Post, G. A. R., Eureka Lodge, F. and A. M., and Union Chapter, R. A. M.

Mr. Conklin served in the civil war. He was born in Paterson seventy-one years ago. He is survived by four sons.

Sir Ormond Drimmie Malcolm.

Sir Ormond Drimmie Malcolm, for thirteen years Chief Justice of the Bahama Islands, is dead at his home in Nassau, the Bahamas, where he was born in 1830, and where he received his early education. He studied law in London and in 1868 was chosen the Speaker of the House of Assembly in his native islands. This office he held for four terms, resigning to become Judge of the Court of Pleas and later he served successively as King's Counsel for the Bahama Islands and as Attorney General. In 1891 Sir Ormond was appointed by the Crown as special Commissioner to the United States to confer with the authorities in Washington in regard to the proposed Florida-Bahama cable. He was married in 1863 to Anna G. Sands of Nassau, who survives him. He leaves one son, Dr. Percy Edwin Dunlop Malcolm.

Ex-Prime Minister of Denmark Dead.

Count Holstein-Ledrebord, formerly Prime Minister of Denmark, is dead at his home near Copenhagen. He became Prime Minister in August, 1909, and was holding that office upon the first arrival of Dr. Cook, whom he introduced to the King. He resigned with his Cabinet in October of that year, following a vote of lack of confidence and much sharp criticism for a large deficit in the budget.

Annie Yeamans's Funeral To-day.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Yeamans, who died at the Hotel Gerard last Sunday evening, will be held at the Little Church Around the Corner, in West Twenty-ninth Street, this morning at 11 o'clock. The interment will be at Woodlawn Cemetery, in the same grave with her daughter, Jennie Yeamans.

JUSTICE J. T. BLODGETT DEAD.

Rhode Island Supreme Court Jurist for Twelve Years.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 4.—John Taggart Blodgett, Associate Justice of the Rhode Island Supreme Court for twelve years, died at his home to-day after a long illness. He was 53 years of age.

The career of John Taggart Blodgett on the Bench began in 1885, when he was appointed Justice of the United States Circuit Court. Two years later he became one of the Justices of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. He became Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island in 1900. Justice Blodgett was born at Belmont, Mass., in 1859. He was graduated from Brown University and was admitted to the Bar in 1883.

Justice Blodgett was a member of the Rhode Island Historical Society, the Phi Beta Kappa, the Rhode Island Society, the Society of the Colonial Wars, and the University, Hope, Agawam and Hunt Clubs.

VICE ADMIRAL AUBRY DEAD.

Italian Fleet Commander Since the Start of Italian-Turkish War.

TARANTO, Italy, March 4.—Vice Admiral Augusto Aubry, who was in command of the Italian attacking fleet since the beginning of the Italian-Turkish war, died here to-day. He had been ill only a few days, and his death came from peritonitis.

Admiral Aubry won his way up in the navy of his country through bravery, merit, and force of character. He was the youngest of the Vice Admirals, having been born in 1846, the son of a cobbler. Admiral Aubry fought against Austria in 1866 and saw service in African waters in 1889. He was twice Under Secretary of the Navy.

During the present war he commanded the war vessels at the bombardment of Tripoli, Tebruk, and Bengazi. He will probably be succeeded by Admiral Faravelli.

Dr. Charles B. Converse.

Dr. Charles B. Converse, for thirty-six years County Physician of Hudson County, N. J., veteran of the civil war and brother of the late Rear Admiral Converse, died yesterday morning in St. Francis Hospital, Jersey City, after an attack of cardiac asthma and malcorditis. He was stricken a week ago in his home, 218 Palisade Avenue, Jersey City. Dr. Converse was born in Norwich, Vt., seventy years ago. He was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1863, served in the civil war with the Sixteenth Vermont Regiment and later held a position in the Quartermaster General's department in Washington. He was graduated from the Georgetown University medical department in 1870. Dr. Converse was a bachelor.

Born in Northboro, Mass., ninety years ago, Mr. Fiske received his early education in Quincy, Mass., and later entered the brokerage business in New York, and was an active Wall Street man until his retirement thirty years ago. Mrs. Fiske and three sons survive him.

APPLE ORCHARDS
ON THE HUDSON RIVER
FOR 39 MEN AND WOMEN.

Thirty-nine men and women (incorporated) will employ an expert horticulturist and establish a commercial apple orchard under the same scientific methods that are making Oregon orchards pay $1,200 per acre per year. 12,000 trees will be planted, and each 5-acre interest should pay a net income of at least $1,000 to $2,000 a year.

Berries and other interplanted crops will pay a good yearly income while the trees are coming into bearing.

Cost of 5-acre interest, including all planting and care, $1,170; $370 cash, balance quarterly. Send for particulars. H. R., 44 Times.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

KNIT GOODS TRADE CHANGES.

New Company Organized in Woonsocket, Old One Reorganized in St. Louis.

Advices received in the New York hosiery and knit goods market yesterday from Woonsocket, R. I., stated that a new knitting company has been organized in that city for the manufacture of jerseys, bathing suits, shaker sweaters, and knitted novelties. It is to be known as the Gold Mark Knitting Company, and the principal ownership is invested in Thomas F. Reilly, Thomas E. Sharkey, and William A. McCarthy. Mr. McCarthy, who is also Vice President of the McCarthy Dry Goods Company, will be Treasurer of the new enterprise.

A report also was received from St. Louis to the effect that the stock of the Watson Glasgow Hosiery Company has been purchased by the Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Company of that city. Plans for the reorganization of the Watson Glasgow Company, which are now pending, will probably be acted upon favorably by the Board of Directors at the next meeting. The sale price of the stock is reported to have been $150,000.

Receiver for Cafe Madrid.

Judge Holt appointed Robert C. Morris yesterday as receiver for the Madrid Company, proprietor of the Café Madrid, at 1,555 Broadway, bond $25,000, with authority to continue business ten days, on application of Yankauer & Davidson, who stated that circumstances have arisen since the petition was filed which necessitated a receiver. The settlement to be offered, it is said, is in such a form that it cannot be immediately acted upon by creditors. The landlord has notified the company that taxes of $9,000 and the rent for March must be paid immediately, or he will take dispossess proceedings. There are mortgages on the place, held by the Hudson Trust Company, for $23,000, as collateral for which it holds another mortgage of $75,000; Hannis Distilling Company, $12,000, and Maurice B. Mendham, $18,000. A meeting of creditors was held at 35 Nassau Street, at which a committee was appointed to arrange a settlement. The liabilities are $230,000 and nominal assets are estimated at $50,000.

B. Y. Tiffany Out of Bankruptcy.

Judge Holt granted a discharge from bankruptcy yesterday to Burnett Y. Tiffany, son of the late jeweler, in the bankruptcy proceedings brought against him on Oct. 28, 1904. He applied for a discharge in 1906, but final decision was delayed until suits brought by creditors in the State courts were settled. John J. Townsend, referee in bankruptcy, finished the case last week when he declared a dividend of 72½ per cent. to creditors who had proved their claims, amounting to $21,184.

Silk Dyeing Co. Gives Wage Increase.

The Weidmann Silk Dyeing Company of Paterson, N. J., one of the largest establishments of its kind in the United States, has announced a wage increase of $1 on the 55-hour week to all its men. This is the third voluntary increase given by the Weidmann Company within the past few years. It is said that 1,425 employes will be affected.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

Grains Lose Early Gains, While Cotton Develops Strength.

The grain markets all showed reactionary tendency, selling off after a firm opening with somewhat less bullish statistics, closing steady. Provisions were quiet and easier. Cotton values, following early heaviness due to apprehension as to the foreign strike, recovered to above last week's close. Unfavorable reports relative to the next crop with activity of the bull interest did much to offset the bearish early news.

WHEAT.

Wheat showed reactionary tendency and sold off in the early afternoon about 1c a bushel from the final of the previous day, closing with some recovery. The selling was due to somewhat disappointing statistics and a disposition to take profits in view of the recent sharp advance. The foreign markets were generally higher, but the foreign statistics were less bullish. World's exports were in excess of expectation, amounting to 10,208,000 bushels, against 8,624,000 bushels the previous week, and 12,352,000 bushels last year. The amount afloat for Europe increased 2,784,000 bushels. The second official Indian report was quite favorable, pointing to a good crop which will be harvested this month. The American statistics were somewhat bearish. The receipts were of good volume at the West, while the decrease in the visible of domestic wheat was only 493,000 bushels, and there was an increase in the stock of bonded wheat of 1,126,000 bushels, and wheat in Canada increased 1,527,000 bushels. The increase in the total American visible and afloat for Europe was 1,944,000 bushels. The weather conditions were somewhat more moderate. Cash demand was slow and prices were above an export basis. With the market up about 4c in a week, there seems to be a disposition to wait and even up for the Government report, which will be issued on Friday, March 8, at 2:15 P. M., showing the reserves of grain in farmers' hands. Cash prices were nominal, with No. 2 red quoted at $1.05½ free on board; No. 1 Northern, $1.23; No. 2 hard Winter, $1.14; No. 1 Manitoba, $1.18.

OTHER GRAINS.

CORN.—Trading in corn was active with the market strong at the opening at new high levels, but sold off 1c a bushel during the day, closing a little up from the low point. The visible showed a fair increase, 955,000 bushels, but the Western receipts for the day were small, being less than half of last week, and 400,000 bushels smaller than last year. Cash corn was firm, although the demand was reported somewhat lessened by the recent advance. An estimate of the farm reserves by a Western trade paper made a total of 835,000,000 bushels, against 1,169,000,000 bushels last year. The estimates now range from 780,000,000 bushels, minimum, up to 950,000,000 bushels, maximum. Cash corn was quiet, No. 2 was quoted at 73¾c free on board; No. 3, 73½c nominal, export basis; steamer, 73c.

OATS.—Oats also showed some reaction, although there was no special weakness. The opening was firm, but realizing orders developed in considerable volume, and the market sold off ½c, closing with a slight rally. Receipts were rather liberal at Western points, while the visible supply increased 374,000 bushels of domestic oats, 446,000 bushels of bonded, and 724,000 bushels in Canada, making a total gain of 1,544,000 bushels. Cash oats were quiet, with No. 2 white quoted at the elevator, and standards and No. 3 white, 60½c.

PROVISIONS.

The market for hog products influenced by liberal estimates of to-day's receipts of hogs sold off with light trading, closing with a little rally. Live hogs were steady.

COTTONSEED OIL.

In response to the recent advances in lard values, there appeared to be a large inquiry from the important bull interests of the West. The list showed a firm undertone, but the fact was again commented upon that outside inquiry was readily supplied at a small advance. This was in face of continued steadiness at the South, crude being quoted at 4.54@4.67 in the Southeast, and 4.67 in the Valley, which levels indicate rather reluctant selling. The late firmness in the cotton market was not without effect, although it is, of course, too early for new crop conditions to exert much influence on oil values. Tenders of about a thousand barrels were reported, but, as on previous days, met ready absorption. The gossip is that there have been rejections on several thousand barrels delivered to date, presumably due to inferior qualities.

COTTON.

With an increased volume of trading and less disposition to consider the coal strike situation in the United Kingdom as an immediate price-making factor, the undertone to the market was steadier, particularly in the late trading, when a gradual hardening of values occurred, serving to transpose early losses to small net gains. While it is realized that the labor difficulties abroad are still at a crucial stage, it seemed as though the advices pertaining to the new crop were an overshadowing influence yesterday. Several dispatches were at hand, particularly from Alabama and Georgia, reiterating previous claims that farm work was from two to four weeks late, and that fertilizer sales were decidedly under last year. The prospects of unsettled weather in the belt overnight were not calculated upon to hasten this new crop preparation, and under this stimulus buying of the far-off options was active, these deliveries displaying relative firmness as compared with other months. A prominent spot concern at New Orleans wired that in parts of Louisiana the acreage would be increased about 15 to 25 per cent., and there would occur a probable increment of about the same percentage in Southern Mississippi, although this same concern claimed that in Central Mississippi a small decrease was expected. Obviously, stress is being laid on the crop information of a bullish tenor.

The Liverpool cables furnished the incentive for declines of from 3 to 8 points at the opening, which losses were augmented to a small extent under the pressure of foreign sales, selling credited to Wall Street also to Waldorf interests. Spot sales at Liverpool continue small, and apparently strike news is exerting more effect in the foreign market than locally. There were private cables stating that several mills will close this week due to an insufficient supply of coal and cotton, although these cases were believed to be exceptional rather than general, inasmuch as conservative authorities argue that it would be inconceivable to believe that mills neglected their supplies during February, when the labor agitation began. Meanwhile there is a conference scheduled for to-day, and the more sanguine element believe that a settlement of the strike will be perfected late this week or during the early part of the ensuing week.

The support rendered by spot interests on yesterday's reaction tended to intimidate shorts, while the limited spot inquiry at the South does not encourage speculative bear pressure at present. This is also evidently held in check by the realization that holders are reluctant to make concessions while the parity of the future market is still below a normal basis. Southern spot markets, with the exception of a 1-16d decline at Augusta, and New York spot cotton was unchanged; middlings, 10.35c. Exports continue liberal and total approximately 8,015,000 bales, against 6,315,000 bales last year.

COFFEE.

COFFEE.—Trade was light, total sales amounting to 48,760 bags, and prices during the greater part of the session were easy. The close was 5 to 7 points net lower. Havre closed ¼@½ franc and Hamburg 1¼@½ pfennig lower. The world's visible supply showed a decrease during February of 570,909 bags, bringing the total to 12,580,247 bags, as compared with 13,346,553 last year, when the decrease during February was 227,661. Warehouse deliveries last week were 130,294 bags, against 92,373 the previous week, and 84,511 last year.

D. 1911, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned, Special Master Commissioner of said courts, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, on TUESDAY, THE NINTH DAY OF APRIL, A. D. 1912, at 12 o'clock noon, Standard time, of said day, at the former Delray Station building of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, on River Street, in the City of Detroit, County of Wayne, and State of Michigan, being on the property described to be sold, as an entirety in one parcel, all the properties by the said decrees directed to be sold, to wit: ALL the properties by the said decrees declared to be covered by the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage from the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company to The New York Trust Company, dated May 2, 1905, and by the said decrees directed to be sold.

The said Master Commissioner will accept no bid of less than $2,500,000, which minimum sum was fixed by the Court in the said decrees in order to prevent a sacrifice and to protect the interests of all concerned as the least sum for which the said property should be sold. He will not accept any bid unless the bidder shall forthwith place in his hands at the time of bidding, as a part of his bid and a pledge to make the same good if accepted and the sale confirmed, the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in cash, certified check or certificate of deposit approved by the Master, which sum shall be forfeited in case the bidder, if successful, shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decrees and of any orders thereafter, made as to future payments or otherwise. But the same shall be applied on the purchase price in case of such compliance, or returned in case the bid is not successful or the sale shall not be confirmed by the court. Nor will the Master accept a bid unless the purchaser shall, upon making his bid, pay to the Master for deposit in the registry of the said Court the sum of $11,769.80, or such other sum as shall be adjudged to be due to the Tiffin & Northwestern Railroad Company on the matters set forth in its intervening petition in the said suit; provided the said sum shall not have been paid by the receivers or other parties to the said suit prior to the said sale. If the bid of the purchaser is not accepted and the sale to him confirmed said last named deposit shall be returned to the purchaser; otherwise the said fund shall be held subject to such orders as the Court may make on the said intervening petition. The right of the court is reserved to reject any bid and to retake and resell the property or any part thereof upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to the payment of the remainder of the purchase price or any part thereof, or upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any condition of the sale or any order of the court in that regard.

There shall be paid in cash of the price at which the said properties shall be sold in addition to the amounts paid at the time of the sale, such further portions of the purchase money as the court shall direct. The remainder of the purchase price may be paid either in cash or in claims payable under Article 3 of the said decrees, or in receivers' certificates payable under Article 3 thereof, or in the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage bonds with overdue coupons thereof, or in Consolidated bonds with overdue coupons thereof at such proportion of value as the holders thereof would be entitled to receive thereon on distribution of the proceeds of the sale in case the purchase price were wholly paid in cash.

All taxes and assessments upon the properties sold and all said receivers' certificates, and all claims payable under said Article 3 of the said decrees will be allowed out of the purchase money where the purchaser produces proofs of such liens and claims and receipts for the payment thereof, or surrenders such certificates. The Special Master will, in his discretion, accept, temporarily, instead of the actual delivery of the said bonds and coupons or receivers' certificates, the certificate of any trust company, satisfactory to him, that it holds the said bonds and coupons or receivers' certificates subject to the order of the said Special Master, and will deliver them to him on demand for cancellation or other disposition.

The said Master, in pursuance and by virtue of the decrees of foreclosure in favor of Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant, made and entered by the said Circuit Courts of the United States in this advertisement of sale first mentioned, dated and entered on the same days and in the same places as the said decrees in favor of the New York Trust Company, complainant, WILL ALSO AT THE SAME TIME AND PLACE OFFER FOR SALE and in separate parcels all other lines of railway and additional mileage of the defendant Railway Company and other property of any kind and nature which has been constructed or acquired in whole or in part by means of said Consolidated Bonds or with the proceeds of the sale or disposition thereof; subject only to purchase money liens thereon as in said Consolidated Mortgage set forth, not including in said property, however, any property which is subject to the prior lien thereon of the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage (all of which said property subject to said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage is to be sold under and pursuant to the preceding provisions of this notice), one hundred shares of the stock of the Toledo Southern Railway Company and ten hundred and fourteen shares of preferred stock of the Ann Arbor Railroad Company, being certain property of the said Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company included in the mortgage or deed of trust from that company to Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant herein, dated May 2, 1905, to secure certain bonds designated as Consolidated Bonds. The Master will accept no bid for the said shares of stock from any bidder who shall not place in his hands or deposit with him at the time of making the bid, as a pledge that the bidder will make good his bid if accepted by the Court, the sum of twenty-five dollars per share in cash, certified cheque or certificate of deposit approved by the Master, which sum shall be forfeited in case the bidder if successful shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decrees, and any orders thereafter made as to future payments or otherwise, but which said sum shall be applied on the purchase price of the said stock in case of such compliance, or will be returned in case the said bid is not successful or the sale shall not be confirmed by the Court. The right of the Court is reserved to reject any bid and to resell the said stock, or any part thereof, upon the failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to the payment of the purchase price or any part thereof, in cash or otherwise, as may be directed. If either the said properties, not, as aforesaid, subject to the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage, or the said shares of stock shall be purchased by or on behalf of the holders of the said Consolidated Bonds, the remainder of the purchase price over and above the amount in cash required to be paid at the time of sale, may be paid either in cash or in receivers' certificates, or in claims payable under Article 3 of the aforesaid decree of The New York Trust Company, or in said Consolidated Bonds and overdue coupons thereon, at such proportionate value as the holders thereof will be entitled to receive thereon respectively on distribution of the proceeds of such sale, in case such purchase price were wholly paid in cash.

Any person proposing to purchase at the said sale either the said railway properties or the said stock, is referred to the said decrees in this notice specifically mentioned, and to the notice or advertisement of said sale heretofore published by the undersigned Special Master Commissioner upon the 15th, 22d, and 29th of August, and the 5th, 12th, and 19th of September, A. D. 1911, in the following newspapers, viz.: Detroit Free Press, Toledo Blade, and New York Times, for a more full and complete description of the property, rights, and franchises therein directed to be sold, which it is proposed to sell in accordance with the foregoing notice, and also for the terms and conditions upon which the sale of the said properties, rights, and franchises shall be made. The said three decrees in favor of The New York Trust Company, Complainant, are exact duplicates of each other, and the said three decrees in favor of Knickerbocker Trust Company, Complainant, are exact duplicates of each other, and all of the said decrees may be found filed and recorded in the offices of the Clerks of the United States Circuit Courts at Detroit, Michigan; Toledo, Ohio, and Columbus, Ohio, respectively, and which are subject to the inspection of the public generally. Certified copies of the said decrees will be in the possession of the said Special Master at the time and place of sale, and may be inspected by interested persons or bidders.

PENNSYLVANIA NEAR ITS EARNINGS OF 1910

Surplus Only $457,000 Less After All Fixed Charges Are Paid —Betterments, $4,000,000.

Connecting Railroad for Pennsylvania and New Haven to be Hooked Up for Freight and Passengers.

The sixty-fifth annual report of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1911, shows that the gross business done on all of the lines directly operated was $157,487,000, a decrease of $2,970,000 from 1910. Operating expenses were reduced by $1,584,000, but there was an advance of $451,000 in taxes, which amounted to $6,826,000 for the year. The net earnings remaining for interest, dividends, &c., amounted to $51,617,000, and the surplus after the payment of all fixed charges to $37,318,000. The surplus was only $457,000 smaller than at the close of the preceding year, owing principally to a reduction in interest effected by refunding operations.

Of the surplus, $2,266,000 was charged off for extraordinary expenditures, such as the revision of grades and alignment, new terminal facilities, and the abolition of grade crossings. Another $4,000,000 was set aside to provide for additions and betterments which cannot properly be charged to the capital account. The year's dividend of 6 per cent. on the stock called for the payment of $25,950,000, after which there remained a balance of $1,705,000 to the credit of profit and loss.

The Pennsylvania Lines carried a total of 68,058,000 tons of coal and coke last year, or 1,216,000 tons less than in 1910. Its total tonnage was 125,677,000, a decrease of 4,629,000. A large part of the decrease was in merchandise. Operating expenses and taxes consumed 78 per cent. of the company's gross revenues.

Regarding the electrification of the suburban lines out of Philadelphia, President McCrea says that consideration is being given to the separation of through and local train traffic at the Broad Street Station, and the question of whether the electrification of some of the lines would not afford material relief.

The management will make no decision on this matter until studies now being made by experts have been concluded. It is learned from the report that the New York Connecting Railroad Company, owned jointly by the Pennsylvania and the New Haven companies, is constructing a railroad from a connection with the Long Island Railroad, near the boundary line between the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens, through the latter borough to and over the East River and Randall's and Wards Islands, to a connection with the New Haven, near Port Morris, and also a connection from the main line to the New York Tunnel Extension in Sunnyside Yard, Long Island City. Contracts have been awarded for the steel work for the East River Bridge, and its viaducts and approaches, on the north into Bronx Borough, and on the south into the Borough of Queens, L. I.

Upon the completion of the railroad the freight traffic interchanged between the Pennsylvania and New Haven systems, now transported by floats between the Pennsylvania terminals on the west side of the Hudson River and the New Haven lines at Port Morris, a distance of about 14 miles, will be floated from Greenville, N. J., to Bay Ridge, a distance of about 3½ miles, and thence moved by rail to Port Morris. The connection with the Tunnel Extension will permit a direct all-rail movement via the Pennsylvania Station for the passenger traffic interchanged between the two systems. The New York connecting route will materially increase the facilities for, and expedite the movement of the New England passenger and freight traffic, and will avoid congestion of the New York Terminals and Harbor, and the delays which often arise in float service due to fog, ice, tides, and the crowded conditions of the Hudson and East Rivers.

About three years will be required to construct the New York Connecting Railroad, including its East River Bridge and viaducts, and the cost, estimated at about $15,000,000, in addition to the $5,000,000 previously advanced in equal amounts by the two owning companies, will be provided for through an issue of its securities.

STEEL BUSINESS IMPROVED.

Lackawanna Company Reports Greatest Increase in Orders Since 1910.

In the pamphlet report of the Lackawanna Steel Company sent to stockholders yesterday, President E. A. S. Clarke tells stockholders that orders on hand "have increased since Jan. 1 and are now greater than at any time since July, 1910, and it is hoped that with the removal of existing political uncertainties better prices will obtain and general business conditions be more satisfactory."

He reviews the adverse conditions of 1911, after reciting the conditions of diminished business which prevailed in the last half of the previous year, saying: "The demand for your company's products continued small during the first half of 1911, and, though somewhat increased during the latter part of the year, was, as a total, unsatisfactory, as evidenced by the shipments for the year. During the month of May, 1911, there was a serious break in prices, so that the business done during the last half of the year was at the lowest figures, conditions considered, that have ever obtained in this country, being, in most instances, lower than those of 1909. The average price of $27.67 per gross ton received by your company for its products in 1911 is $1.25 per ton less than the corresponding price for 1910. This price, together with the reduced shipments and the greater costs of operation in 1911 over 1909 and 1910, accounts for the reduction in earnings against those years."

The earnings of the company, as previously made public, showed gross sales of $21,040,387, against $31,302,760 in 1910, and total income of $4,230,993, against $7,316,529 in the previous year. The surplus for the year was $82,803, against $2,533,104 in the previous year.

President Clarke calls attention to the balance sheet showing a reduction of $986,821 in current liabilities during the year, and to the position of the working capital at $16,107,783, figuring it as the surplus of current assets over current liabilities. He also points out the reduction in inventory of $2,244,922 and to the gain in cash of $2,081,346, making total cash on hand $4,623,224. There was an increase in sinking and reserve funds of $855,945.

INSPECTED PERE MARQUETTE

Newman Erb Thinks Road's Difficulties Can Be Remedied.

Newman Erb, who was put in charge of the Père Marquette Railroad with his election as Chairman of the Executive Committee ten days ago, returned yesterday from an inspection trip of that property firmly convinced that its difficulties are chiefly those of an operating nature which can soon be remedied. Mr. Erb says that with the moderation in the weather the road promises to make a much better showing this month.

At the new Chairman's suggestion, President Cotter will make some changes in the operating staff of the road and will receive some additional motive power. The physical condition of the road, as a whole, was found to be very satisfactory. Mr. Erb was unwilling to make any comment on the probable need for new financing to provide additional facilities at congested points until he has conferred with the bankers associated with him in the control of the Père Marquette.

Philadelphia Exchange Elections.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—Frederick D. Chandler to-day was elected President of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange. Horace H. Lee was elected Secretary-Treasurer, George W. Palmer Chairman, and Harry W. Bouveaum Vice Chairman. The vacancies in the Board of Governors were filled by the election of the following: Isaac T. Starr, William D. Grange, Charles H. Bean, William H. Elkins, F. Clarence Miller, Edward J. Moore, James Carstairs, A. Barker Mellor, and Malcolm A. Huey.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Application has been made to the Stock Exchange to list the following: $2,000,000 additional first mortgage 4 per cent. bonds, due 1959, of the Chicago & Great Western Railroad Company; $19,000,000 first mortgage 4½ per cent. bonds, Series 1, due 1946, of the New York, Westchester & Boston Railway Company, and $4,613,000 additional prior lien 4 per cent. bonds, due 1997.

Potter, Choate & Prentice are offering $100,000 New York Central Lines equipment trust 4½ per cent. certificates, maturing in 1924, at a price to yield 4.40 per cent.

The Denver & Rio Grande, in connection with the Utah Agricultural College, is operating a farmers' special industrial train over its lines in Utah for a period of three weeks. Two baggage cars are fitted up with exhibits and lectures are being made on agricultural matters by professors from the college.

Farson, Son & Co. have made arrangements with U. M. Reinach of Chicago, a member of the Chicago Stock Exchange, to be associated with them in their bond department.

LEGAL NOTICES.

IN THE DISTRICT (FORMERLY CIRCUIT) Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York.—CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Complainant, against THE THIRD AVENUE RAILROAD COMPANY and others, Defendants.

In pursuance of an order and decree duly made and filed in this cause on the 28th day of December, 1911, notice is hereby given that there has been filed with the undersigned, as Special Master, the accounts of Frederick W. Whitridge, the receiver of the mortgaged property herein, from September 1, 1911, to and including December 31, 1911, such being the accounts of said receiver from the date to which his accounts heretofore filed with the Special Master extended.

And take further notice that the receiver aforesaid has also filed with the Special Master a detailed statement of the mortgaged assets of the Third Avenue Railroad Company and of the other assets which have come into his hands as receiver, and which have now been transferred to the Third Avenue Railway Company, and of the liabilities of the receiver, which have now been assumed by the Third Avenue Railway Company, and a balance sheet showing the accounts of the receiver as of December 31, 1911.

And take further notice that included in such statement are statements of the property and assets that were in the possession or under the control of the receiver on December 31, 1911, and that further included in such statement is a list of the claims asserted by said receiver as existing against him or against the trust estate in his possession and a list of his unfulfilled contracts and other obligations.

And take further notice that all objections to the accounts aforesaid and all claims against the receiver or against the trust estate in his hands or that was in his hands, or any part thereof, and all claims against the moneys remaining in the hands of the undersigned as Special Master, must be filed with the Special Master on or before the 18th day of March, 1912. Said objections and claims must be filed at the office of the undersigned, Special Master, at No. 71 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

Notice and warning is hereby given that all claims against Frederick W. Whitridge, as receiver, or against the property or estate that has been in his hands, or any part thereof, or against any moneys in the hands of the Special Master, must be filed as aforesaid or else the same and the assertion of the same will be forever barred.

Take further notice that all objections to the accounts aforesaid of the receiver must be filed in the office of the Special Master on or before said date, or else the same will be forever barred.

And finally, let all interested parties take notice that on Tuesday, March 19, 1912, at four-thirty o'clock in the afternoon, a hearing will be had before the undersigned at his office, in regard to said accounts and all the other proceedings of the receiver aforementioned, and in regard to the condition of the trust estate in his hands and in regard to the disposition of the moneys in the hands of the Special Master, and that any and all interested parties may attend upon such hearing. Upon such hearing, or as the same shall be adjourned, the Special Master will proceed to hear and determine any objections or claims filed as aforesaid with him, and to adjust, settle and state the accounts, and to determine all matters in respect thereto and in respect of said trust estate and of moneys in the hands of the undersigned as Special Master.

SUMMONSES.

AT A STATED TERM OF THE DISTRICT Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York, held at the Court House, Post Office Building, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 17th day of February, 1912. Present: Learned Hand, District Judge.

FRANCIS CHILD, Jr., as Trustee in Bankruptcy of Harold R. Hare and Charles H. Seifert, individually and as copartners trading as "The Rubber Shop," complainant, against NATIONAL PARK BANK, HAROLD R. HARE, and "HENRY" N. BELL, said name "Henry" being fictitious and unknown to complainant, doing business under the name or style of "The Diamond Tire Company," respondents.—In Equity.

Upon the annexed subpoena and the complaint in this suit, a copy of which is hereto annexed, praying for a decree that a trust be declared in favor of the complainant herein as Trustee to certain moneys deposited with the respondent, the National Park Bank, in the name of the respondent Bell, upon the certificate of the return of the Marshal for the Southern District of New York, a certified copy of which is hereto annexed, and upon the annexed petition of Alexander Appel, verified the 16th day of February, 1912, by which satisfactory proof has been made, that after due and diligent inquiry and search, the respondent, "Henry" N. Bell, cannot be found within the Southern District of New York, and that the respondent, Harold R. Hare, is not a resident of the Southern District of New York, and that his present whereabouts are unknown.

Now, on motion of Messrs. Cohen, Creevey & Richter, solicitors for the complainant, it is ORDERED that the respondents, "Henry" N. Bell and Harold R. Hare, appear, plead, answer or demur to the complaint of the Trustee herein, on or before the 9th day of April, 1912, and that this order be served on the respondents "Henry" N. Bell and Harold R. Hare by publication, such notice of publication to be published in The New York Times, a newspaper published in the City of New York, once a week for a period of six consecutive weeks, and further that on or before the day of first publication, as aforesaid, the complainant deposit in the General Post Office, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, Southern District of New York, copies of the subpoena, complaint, and this order, contained in a securely closed, post-paid wrapper, directed to the respondent "Henry" N. Bell at his address, No. 413 West 56th Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, and that a copy of this order be served upon the respondent, the National Park Bank.

LEARNED HAND, U. S. D. J.

The number of tons of freight moved on the five general divisions east of Pittsburgh and Erie in 1911 was 125,175,068, a decrease of 4,683,285, or 3.61 per cent.; the number of passengers was 67,445,714, a decrease of 2,533,743, or 3.62 per cent.

The number of tons of freight moved on the lines west of Pittsburgh was 138,743,881, a decrease of 14,997,240. The number of passengers carried was 34,392,215, an increase of 399,781.

The operating revenue of all lines east and west of Pittsburgh for the year 1911 was $336,851,868.56; operating expenses, $261,210,277.67, and operating income, $75,141,590.89, a decrease in operating revenue, compared with 1910, of $9,863,630.41, and a decrease in operating income of $3,650,990.86. There were 413,184,812 tons of freight moved on the entire system, being a decrease of 28,030,405 tons, and 168,725,921 passengers carried, an increase of 680,046.

The Railroad Companies east of Pittsburgh and Erie in which your Company is interested show satisfactory results. Detailed statements of their operations will be found in their respective annual reports, as well as in the full report of your Company.

There were expended during the past year for construction, equipment, and real estate on the Lines West of Pittsburgh $12,350,447.84, of which $8,801,922.97 were charged to Capital and $3,548,524.87 to Surplus Income.

The expenditures were principally for new ore docks at Cleveland, and the elevation of tracks in Fort Wayne, construction of new yards at Moravia, and additional main tracks on the Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Ashtabula Railway, second track on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway and Vandalia Railroad.

GENERAL REMARKS.

It will be noted in the General Income Account that, while the revenue from passenger transportation shows an increase of $838,159.53 over 1910, it being the largest in the Company's history, the gross revenues of the railroad lines for the year show a reduction of $2,969,885.76, due principally to a decrease in merchandise freight revenue and a small decrease in coal and coke revenue. The decrease in gross revenues was partially offset by a saving of $1,584,235.19, or 1.38 per cent., in operating expenses, so that the decrease in the net operating revenue for the year, compared with 1910, was $1,385,650.57. The transportation expenses increased chiefly because the increased wage schedules were operative the entire year, as against only for about eight months in 1910.

Taxes, which have been continually increasing in the last few years, show a further increase for the year of $451,333.77, due principally to the taxes paid on the completed New York Tunnel Extension.

In rentals paid roads operated on the basis of net revenue, the decrease is due principally to the absorption by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company of the Allegheny Valley Railway on April 7th, 1910, when the payment of its leasehold rental consequently ceased.

The greater part of the decrease in fixed charges, compared with 1910, is due to the payment at maturity, in that year, of the General Mortgage Bonds and Short Term Notes referred to in the last annual report.

After meeting all liabilities, including the necessary payments to the Sinking Funds, the net income for the year was $37,318,351.05. The decrease in this item of only $457,133.03, compared with 1910, is due to the saving resulting from the retirement of your fixed obligations, as explained in the preceding paragraph, which was effected through the issue of capital stock. Out of the net income remaining, $319,756.11 was contributed to the Trust Fund of October, 1878, and dividends of 6 per cent. were paid aggregating $25,950,857.25, leaving a balance of $11,047,737.69, a decrease of $2,008,364.35, compared with 1910. Car Trust Principal payments of $3,076,853.00; Extraordinary Expenditures of $2,265,887.29 were also made, and $4,000,000.00 transferred to the Reserve for Additions and Betterments to provide such additions and betterments as in the judgment of the management should not be charged to Capital Account, and the remaining balance of Net Income, $1,704,997.40, was credited to Profit and Loss.

There were charged against Profit and Loss Account advances to branch and affiliated companies, as hereinafter stated, which, with adjustments made to sundry accounts, aggregated $1,351,651.04, leaving the balance to the credit of Profit and Loss on December 31st, 1911, $27,397,808.16.

As foreshadowed in the report for the year 1910, an allotment of ten per centum of capital stock, at par, was made to stockholders of record May 5th, 1911, and was fully subscribed for, realizing at par $41,261,600.

Awards under right of way condemnation proceedings on the Darby Creek Low Grade Line between Philadelphia and Paoli, and purchase of additional right of way between Colonia and Waverly, New Jersey, the eastern section of the relief line between Morrisville, Pa., and Newark, N. J.

Considerable progress was made in the rebuilding of the Cortlandt Street Ferry, New York City, which will probably be completed in 1912.

The new four-track elevated line and passenger station at Bristol, mentioned in the last annual report, were completed and put in service during the year, and all main line grade crossings in that city were thereby eliminated.

The Newark Rapid Transit Line, described in the annual report for 1910, which provides a frequent multiple unit electric service to and from the Hudson Terminal, Cortlandt and Church Streets, New York, via Manhattan Transfer Station to Park Place, Newark, New Jersey, was completed and placed in operation November 26th, 1911.

The construction of the eastern section of the six-track system between Morrisville, Pennsylvania, and Newark, New Jersey, was undertaken by beginning the construction of two additional tracks adjoining the present four-track main line from Colonia to Bay Way, West of Elizabeth, including the elevation of the existing main line tracks through Rahway. The extension of the six-track system through Elizabeth to Waverly, including line and station improvements, will be carried forward when the necessary municipal authority has been obtained.

The improvements at Greensburg, including a new passenger station and the revision of grade and completion of the four-track system, mentioned in the last annual report, were practically completed during the year.

The change of grade and extension of the track facilities in West Brownsville Yard, to reach the elevation of the new double track Monongahela River bridge at that point, were begun during the year, and contracts have been awarded for the construction of the bridge, to replace the present single-track bridge.

The Northumberland Classification Yard, also mentioned in the last annual report, jointly owned by this Company and the Northern Central Railway Company, was completed during the year and placed in operation.

The construction of a sixteen-span, double-track steel bridge over the West Branch of the Susquehanna River at Montgomery, to replace the present single-track bridge at that point, was authorized and begun during the year.

The aggregate expenditures made by the Company for construction and equipment during the year on its owned lines and those of the Harrisburg, Portsmouth, Mt. Joy and Lancaster Railroad Company and United New Jersey Railroad and Canal Company, operated under long term leases, comprising the main line system between New York and Pittsburgh (including $599,363.01 on account of water trust certificates,) were $14,319,530.65.

This sum was disposed of as follows:—

Charged to Reserve for Additions and Betterments appropriated out of Income of previous years	$4,700,000.00
Provided out of Equipment Depreciation Reserve		1,792,687.24
Charged to Capital Account:
Road	$1,889,499.17
		5,560,956.12
Total		$14,319,530.65

The charges to Capital Account were further increased $482,054.88 by the absorption of the Ridgway and Clearfield Railroad, making the total charges to that account for the year, $6,043,011.

Under the Balance Sheet prescribed by the Inter-State Commerce Commission, the Road and Equipment Account includes not only these capital charges, but also similar expenditures made out of Income since June 30th, 1907, on the roads embraced in the Balance Sheet. Therefore, of the foregoing $6,965,887.29, Income expenditures not properly chargeable to capital account $3,040,229.03 on the lines owned, and on the Harrisburg, Portsmouth, Mt. Joy and Lancaster Railroad Company, have been so included in the Road and Equipment Account for the year 1911, but the balance of $3,326,295.25, leasehold expenditures for the United New Jersey Railroad and Canal Company, and $599,363.01 for water supply Trust Certificates are accounts not dealt with in the Balance Sheet of this Company.

An offsetting liability appears on the credit side of the Balance Sheet, entitled "Additions to Property since June 30th, 1907, through Income," in which is carried not only the $3,040,229.03, but also the payments through Income on account of Car Trust Certificates amounting to $3,076,853.00 for 1911, and $637,644.07 for previous years, aggregating $6,754,726.10.

There is also included in the General Balance Sheet, in the Cost of Equipment, $1,792,687.24, covering the net expenditures for equipment purchased during the year 1911 out of the Reserve for Accrued Depreciation of Equipment, established under the regulations of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. From the total cost of equipment is also deducted the Reserve for Accrued Depreciation of Equipment, $10,489,877.77, so that the net book value of the equipment can be ascertained.

The accrued depreciation can be reduced only to the extent of the original cost of any equipment retired, but as the original cost is not sufficient to replace the retired equipment and provide for the accrued depreciation, the Company, in conformity with its established practice, will maintain the standard and value of its equipment, and the amount which remained unapplied, December 31st, 1911, viz.: $4,290,028.35, will be spent for equipment ordered but not yet received.

The improvement of the Company's passenger facilities in the City of Philadelphia, the necessity for which was explained in the last annual report, has been given most careful consideration during the year, and the Board of Directors have about concluded that it should be accomplished by increasing the tracks and platforms and enlarging the station facilities at Broad Street Station and North Philadelphia Station.

Consideration is also being given to the separation of through and local train traffic at Broad Street Station, and whether the electrification of some of its suburban lines would not afford material relief at that terminal. This decision will be announced when the studies now being made by the experts have been concluded.

The principal construction work on the other lines in which this Company is interested was as follows:—

On the Northern Central Railway in Baltimore, the construction of the new passenger station and the enlargement of facilities and re-arrangement of tracks, were practically all completed during the year, as well as the Orangeville round house, which was paid for jointly by the Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington Railroad and the Northern Central Railway Companies. The old round house at Mt. Vernon Yard was abandoned and the service is now performed at Orangeville.

There is practically no change to report in the status of the proposed lease by this Company of the railroad, property and franchises of the Northern Central Railway Company, which was fully explained in the report for 1910. The lease has been duly authorized by both companies and approved by the Public Service Commission of Maryland, and, but for the impediment occasioned by impending litigation, instituted by a small number of minority stockholders, in the United States Circuit Courts for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania and for the District of Maryland, respectively, said lease would have been promptly executed and delivered. Under its provisions the lease and the rental payments became effective January 1st, 1911, and therefore when the lease is fully executed and delivered, it will necessitate a just and equitable accounting between the lessor and the lessee, in such manner as will properly protect and preserve the rights and interests of each party in conformity with its terms and conditions.

Expenditures have been made by the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad for the extension of the four-track system at various points, and the construction of a car load delivery yard at New Jersey Avenue, Washington, D. C.

On the Delaware Railroad, a new station was constructed at Dover, Delaware, and the second track extended from Broad Creek to Laurel.

The Pennsylvania Tunnel and Terminal Railroad Company has issued its certificate of indebtedness for $84,861,420.44, to this Company in settlement for the construction of the New York Tunnel Extension and Station, including $1,896,004.92 advanced to that Company during the year 1911, for the completion of its railroad. This certificate, and $15,000,000 of its full paid Capital Stock, are included in the detailed List of Securities owned by this Company, and are carried on the Balance Sheet at valuations respectively of $37,461,419.44 and $1. The balance of its Capital Stock, namely, $10,000,000, is owned by the Pennsylvania Company. The results of funding this indebtedness is reflected in the General Balance Sheet.

The Company during the year made further advances, aggregating $4,531,000.00, to the Long Island Railroad Company for the improvement of its railroad and facilities and the construction of new lines and equipment, and will receive in payment therefor a four per cent. debenture of that Company.

In pursuance of action taken at last annual meeting of the stockholders, the Ridgway and Clearfield Railroad, whose capital stock had been previously owned and its road operated by this Company, was absorbed by and became part of The Pennsylvania Railroad on April 1st, 1911.

Effective May 1st, 1911, the Bedford and Bridgeport Railway Company and the Bedford and Hollidaysburg Railroad Company, two branch lines of the system, in central Pennsylvania, were merged and now constitute the Hollidaysburg, Bedford and Cumberland Railroad Company.

On the Cambria and Clearfield Railway, the construction of the Bear Run Branch was begun and it will be completed in 1912. The Burley Branch was completed during the year and the telephone system for train dispatching on the Bellwood Division was also placed in operation. This Company advanced $352,088.22 to meet these and other construction expenditures which the Cambria and Clearfield Railway Company could not pay, and charged the amount against Profit and Loss Account.

The work of improving the grade and alignment on the Western New York and Pennsylvania Railway, mentioned in the last annual report, was continued during the year. To meet its construction and equipment expenditures for the year, advances aggregating $888,790.81 were made by this Company to the Western New York and Pennsylvania Railway Company, which is substantially owned by and is leased to this Company, and that Company being unable to pay the same, this amount was charged against the Profit and Loss Account.

This Company has received a note for $107,111.28 from the New York Connecting Railroad Company to cover advances made to the latter during the year for construction and right-of-way expenditures.

The New York Connecting Railroad Company—the capital stock of which has been owned for many years one-half each by this Company and the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company—is constructing a railroad from a connection with the Long Island Railroad, near the boundary line between the Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens, New York City, through the latter Borough to and over the East River and Randall's and Wards Islands, to a connection with the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad near Port Morris, in the Borough of Bronx, and also a connection from said main line to the New York Tunnel Extension in Sunnyside Yard, Long Island City. Contracts have been awarded for the steel work for the East River Bridge, and its viaducts and approaches, on the north into Bronx Borough, and on the south into the Borough of Queens, Long Island.

Upon the completion of the railroad, and the exercise of trackage rights to be obtained from the Long Island Railroad Company between the said connection and its Bay Ridge terminals on New York Harbor, the freight traffic interchanged between the Pennsylvania and New Haven Systems, now transported by floats between the Pennsylvania terminals on the west side of the Hudson River and the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company's lines at Port Morris—a distance of about 14 miles—will be floated from Greenville, New Jersey, to Bay Ridge, Long Island—a distance of about 3½ miles—and thence moved by rail to Port Morris. The connection with the Tunnel Extension will permit a direct all-rail movement via the Pennsylvania Station, New York City, for the passenger traffic interchanged between the two systems. The New York Connecting route will materially increase the facilities for, and expedite the movement of, the New England passenger and freight traffic, and will avoid congestion of the New York Terminals and Harbor, and the delays which often arise in float service due to fog, ice, tides and the crowded conditions of the Hudson and East Rivers.

About three years will be required to construct the New York Connecting Railroad, including its East River Bridge and Viaducts, and the cost thereof—estimated at about $15,000,000, in addition to the $5,000,000 previously advanced in equal amounts by the two Owning Companies and represented by its capital stock and notes,—will be provided for through an issue of its securities. The principal and interest of these securities will be guaranteed by this Company and the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, and the line operated pursuant to an agreement between the two Companies, under which they will participate in its profits, or meet its deficits.

The securities held by the Company December 31st, 1911, at a valuation of $221,540,716.02, produced a direct income during the year of $14,450,593.95.

Under the provisions of the Pension Department the following officers were retired: Chas. E. Pugh, First Vice President, on February 28th, 1911, after a service of fifty-two years, the last eighteen as a Vice President; Theodore N. Ely, Chief of Motive Power, June 30th, 1911, after forty-three years' service, and Geo. V. Massey, General Counsel, December 31st, 1911, after thirty-five years' service.

These Officers carry with them the best wishes of the Board and their associates, that, after such faithful and able service, so fully appreciated by the Board and so well known to the Stockholders, they may enjoy for many years a well-earned relaxation from their arduous duties and responsibilities.

By order of the Board,

JAMES McCREA,
President.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Move Irregularly, but Close at Some Further Improvement.

STEEL LEADS THE ADVANCE

Though more irregular in its movements the stock market yesterday carried further the improvement which had been under way last week. Net advances of an even point in Reading and in United States Steel indicate the results of the day's trading in the leading issues, whose activity, notably in the case of Steel, was disproportionately large in comparison with the total dealings. The news of the day was not important, though such incidents as the dismissal of most of the counts in the Government's criminal case against the officials of the United States Shoe Machinery Company and January statements more favorable than had been expected from several Western railroads, including the St. Paul, were factors which contributed to improved market sentiment.

Within a few days the United States Steel Corporation will report its unfilled tonnage at the close of February, and these figures will throw some further light on the current course of events in that important industry. It is understood that the bookings last month averaged between 36,000 and 37,000 tons a day, which is of course considerably below the January average, and the still larger inflow of orders in December. The lessened volume of new business has not yet resulted in any material reduction in the output of the Steel Corporation's mills, and the trade is prepared, therefore, for a showing in the unfilled order statement of the Steel Corporation which will reflect these two factors, which point of course in the direction of a decreased volume of unfilled orders. Prices are even more unsatisfactory than the volume of business, for it is known that some products, even in the case of the Steel Corporation, are being sold practically at cost. The Steel Corporation, however, has the advantage of its profits from the transportation companies which it owns, which is not the case with the independent manufacturers. The fact that the Steel shares have recently been advancing notwithstanding the prevalence of conditions such as those in the steel trade, merely goes to bear out the view that the stock market recently found itself in a position where it would respond to a buying movement even without the help of much good news. The United States Steel Corporation, in a report which circulated on the Stock Exchange and which found its way into print yesterday, was described as ready to enter into negotiations with the Department of Justice for the settlement of the suit which the Government has brought against the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law. This was but a repetition in a slightly modified form of reports which gained currency last Fall after it had been intimated that the Government would bring suit, but before that suit was actually filed. The report called forth at that time a formal denial, coupled with the assertion in behalf of the Steel Corporation that it was confident of the legality of its position and contemplated no change in its form of organization. There is good reason to believe that the attitude of the Steel Corporation has not changed in the least in respect to this matter, and that it is as much disposed now as at any time to put the legality of its position to the authoritative test of a trial of the suit which the Government has instituted. The adjudication of this suit has been counted upon as likely to make still plainer the requirements of the Sherman law as interpreted in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco decisions of last Spring, and that result could hardly be attained by a compromise arrangement, which, so far as it represented concessions by the Steel Corporation, would reflect the views of the Department of Justice rather than the attitude of the courts. It is to the test of the latter that the Steel Corporation is believed to be most desirous of putting its organization and its practices.

From Germany bids are still being made which offer better opportunity for the employment of funds than those presented in our own money market, despite the slightly firmer tone which has lately developed. Bids of 4 per cent. for three months' dollar loans, and 4½ per cent. for mark loans were made to our bankers yesterday, and these continue to attract money from this centre. Partly in response to this bidding for money by Europe exchange rates were higher yesterday. In connection with this German bidding for money, interest attaches to the information which is reaching bankers here that the French market is not advancing money to German borrowers on quite as large a scale as was customary before the heavy withdrawals of French money from Germany, which occurred at the time of the diplomatic tension between those two countries last Summer. Thus one of the explanations of the German borrowing here is that Germany is turning to this market for some of the funds which were formerly obtained in Paris.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

January Bad for Railroads.

It is a fortunate thing for most of the railroads operating through the Northwest that there is but one January in the year. If the roads had to contend with several months of weather such as they experienced in the first part of this year they would have to be allowed to increase their freight and passenger tariffs by a substantial amount or soon stop running. The statement of the St. Paul and the Puget Sound line yesterday removed any lingering doubts which may have remained as to the necessity for reducing the parent company's dividend at the last meeting. Although the St. Paul management effected a decrease in expenses almost equal to the drop in gross earnings, it spent, for operating costs and taxes only, 94 cents out of every dollar taken in during January. As for the Puget Sound Extension, which suffered an increase in expenses as well as a loss in gross, its operating ratio for expenses and taxes was around 102 per cent. In other words, patrons of this line bought transportation below the cost of manufacture in January.

Loans to Germany.

When money became so easy in this country that it threatened to be a drug on the market Germany was bidding a high rate for funds. Naturally, a considerable sum of American credits soon accumulated in the banks of Germany. Besides leaving money deposited to their credit in Berlin or Frankfort undisturbed, to be loaned out by the German bankers, some Americans transferred money from New York and other centres. This transaction aroused an unusual amount of interest at the time it was first undertaken, but the loaning of American money in Germany has since become almost commonplace. As evidence of this it may be pointed out that the New York agent of a Berlin banking institution is now quoting a regular scale of bids for "dollar" and "mark" loans. These bids cover maturities for six months ahead.

The Sears-Roebuck Advance.

Sears-Roebuck made a new high record yesterday, not only for the year to date, but for all of the period since the stock dividend last Spring, going to 160¼. The close was at 159¼, which was a net gain of 1½. At the prices of yesterday the shares are about 20 points higher than the low prices in January. One of the factors in yesterday's showing of strength was the publication of the February earnings, with gross at $7,025,576, compared with $5,483,743 in February, 1911, a gain of $1,541,633. The highest price in 1911 was 192, reached before the 33 1-3 per cent. stock dividend disbursed on April 1 was taken off.

Heavy Buying to Come.

David R. Forgan, the Chicago banker, lays stress on the low stocks of merchandise in the West as a feature of potential strength when the business revival comes at last. "Seldom, if ever, in the past fifteen years," he says, "have stocks been so low, a condition assuring large buying when confidence is fully established." Although he reports that the West is preparing for good Spring business, he makes the qualification that merchants are going slow in restocking, preferring to await the developments of the next six weeks before going ahead on a big scale. "Money rates," he says, "show signs of hardening, and demand may soon reach a point that will offset the outflow of money to London and other foreign centres."

Stock Market Averages.

The averages of twenty-five leading railroad stocks and twenty-five industrials moved up again yesterday, the gain of the industrials being larger than that of the railroads. The swing between low and high was wider. The averages follow:

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN

GOOD DAY FOR INDUSTRIALS

Sears-Roebuck, Amalgamated, Illinois Brick and Others Share in Upward Movement.

There was more life to yesterday's markets in other cities and price changes were generally upward.

The recent strength of G. B. S. Brewing issues at Baltimore is attributed in part to plans being made to bring important outside interests into the management, for which purpose it is hoped to acquire a block of those securities at a little above the market price, but the moderate demand has advanced the price and checked the buying. The general market was firm.

The upward movement of copper shares at Boston made further progress in a broad and fairly active market, with a better showing of outside interest than for several months. Buying exceeded selling to a considerable extent, causing sharp advances in some of the more inactive issues of which the supply was short. A few favorites reached new high prices for the year and movement, among these being Amalgamated, of which buying was more general, partly on arbitrage accounts. The latter contributed heavily to the strength in Steel common and helped maintain American Telephone just under 146. Other industrials were firmer, as a rule, with United Shoe Machinery one of the strongest features.

Strength in Sears-Roebuck common on the Chicago Exchange was due chiefly to the gross earnings report for February, showing a total of $7,025,376, against $5,483,743 a year ago. After the stock had advanced to 160 a partial reaction took it back to 159. A considerable amount of this stock has been liquidated at these higher prices by those desirous of taking their profit, and it is estimated that some 1,800 shares were sold on the bulge of last week and about 1,500 shares more yesterday. In view of this the market for this stock holds remarkably well.

Illinois Brick was another stock that was conspicuously strong, the price advancing from 61½ to 63½. The demand seemed to come from inside sources. It is understood that the Directors plan to declare a semi-annual dividend on the stock at the meeting in May, this dividend to be paid in July.

On the other hand, there were also a few rather pronounced declines in prices, these being led by McCrum-Howell common, with a 2-point loss, and Booth Fisheries preferred, with a setback of nearly as much. Fractional betterments were effected in Can preferred, People's Gas, and some others.

Trading on the Philadelphia Exchange during the greater part of the day was lacking in definite trend and light in point of volume of transactions. The selling of Cambria Steel continued, and the price fell a fraction further, despite the assurances published broadcast that no changes were likely to be effected in the tariff for at least a year. Later the stock received better support and rallied. Electric Storage Battery also fell back on small offerings, as did General Asphalt, Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing, Pennsylvania Railroad, Reading, and Philadelphia Rapid Transit trust certificates. In none of these except Reading was the volume of dealings of any significance, however, and the stock rallied sharply in the afternoon. Lehigh Navigation moved irregularly, while Asphalt preferred declined a point on light sales.

Yesterday's transactions on the various out-of-town Exchanges, as reported to THE NEW YORK TIMES were as follows:

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

While the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange started with reactionary tendencies, the selling was readily absorbed, with the period of weakness a brief one. The subsequent advance in prices was accompanied by a broadening out of the trading list and an enlargement of activity. Transactions totaling 46,690 shares were distributed over a list of fifty-one different stocks.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

HOME RAILS ARE LOWER

Consols, Canadian Pacific, and Americans Also Decline—Paris Prices Heavy—Berlin Weak.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Tuesday, March 5.—The London Times, in its city article today, says:

"There was a fairly brisk demand for day-to-day advances yesterday morning at 3¼ per cent., but it was soon evident that this class of money was very plentiful and the terms for it continued to ease off until the close, when the balances were offered for what they would fetch. The rate for fixtures remained at 3¼ per cent., which was also the figure at which the India Council is renewing loans for about a month.

"The Bank of England held a good many bills which matured yesterday and the market met them without difficulty. The discount quotations were all raised, the inclination to lock up cash only for short periods having appreciably increased. The most marked advance was in the rate for six months' paper, which until lately has been a rather popular maturity. Very little was done in it yesterday at under 3 per cent.

"The outlook in public affairs is considered to have become generally more threatening. While it is argued more threatening. While its argued by some that the strike must, by interfering with business, check the creation of bills, the disposition to take them has been checked already.

"The Bank bought £50,000 in bar gold and received £12,000 in sovereigns from Australia, making since the issue of the last return a net efflux of £114,000. In the open market about £700,000 in bar gold was available, of which a quarter of a million was absorbed by Indian buyers and the balance will go to the Bank.

"The shadow of the coal crisis was over practically all sections of the Stock Exchange yesterday, and business in consequence was on a small scale. A further decline occurred in consols and other gilt-edged securities. Most movements in the home railways market were again in a downward direction and there were very heavy falls.

"The Paris Bourse appeared rather uneasy, owing to fears of a miners' strike on the Continent. Money is getting rather dearer there. This induced some selling of foreign stocks. Mexican shares were dull on account of news from El Paso of further fighting. Grand Trunk Railway stock fell heavily, owing to the unfavorable character of traffic returns."

LONDON, March 4.—The supply of money was better to-day and discount rates were firmer.

The Bank of England obtained the bulk of the $3,500,000 new gold offered in the open market.

On the Stock Exchange fears of trade paralysis and depleted traffic reports as a result of the coal strike made home rails weak, and despite a hardening of values in anticipation of Premier Asquith's statement in the House of Commons, prices closed from a half to a point lower. Consols also lost a quarter of a point, and the Continent sold its favorites, especially Canadian Pacific, Peruvian bonds, and copper stocks, completing the depression. Metropolitan Traction and Brazilian rails were the only steady issues.

American securities opened easy and about unchanged. The Continent sold during the first hour and the list declined under the lead of Canadian Pacific. Later prices hardened a fraction, and the market closed quiet.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3½ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 3⅝@3 7-16 per cent.

PARIS, March 4.—Prices were heavy on the Bourse to-day.

BERLIN, March 4.—The strike in the British coal fields and the trouble in China caused extreme weakness on the Boerse to-day, and declines ranging from two to four points were general.

Logical Reasons

For two reasons we investigate most thoroughly every company the securities of which we offer to investors.

FIRST—Because we always purchase the control of those companies outright and must for our protection have complete knowledge of their condition.

SECOND—Because when we offer to the public securities of those companies we wish to be able to furnish absolutely trustworthy data regarding them.

Public Service Corporation Securities

—are in popular favor, and yield an excellent return. To judge the suitable issues properly the service of an experienced banker is necessary.

The investor should know the value of the franchise underlying each offering. Is the security dependent on one industry or locality? As to the management? Its actual physical values, competitors and general prospects. We invite your inquiries on any investment, small or large, and depend upon our counsel and service to merit your patronage.

The Golden Mean

of conservative investment to-day is, in our opinion, represented by Public Utility Bonds.

They partake of the nature of Municipal Bonds in safety, but yield a higher income return.

They can be bought and sold as readily as many Railroad Bonds, but they are not subject to market fluctuations. Considering the degree of safety offered by the well-selected Public Utility Bonds, they yield the highest return of any securities in the market at present.

THE OUTSIDE SECURITIES.

Trading Sluggish and Price Movements Narrow.

Except for special activity in some of the low-priced mining issues, the Curb market was sluggish yesterday, and prices moved within the narrowest limits. British-American Tobacco, the sales of which are usually numbered by thousands, reported transactions yesterday of only 500. Activity in the bond list was well distributed, but the volume was not unusually large in individual issues.

***

FEDERAL BISCUIT MAY PAY.

Receiver, Who Has Order to Sell, Thinks Chances for Creditors Good.

The fate of the Federal Biscuit Company, a thirty-million-dollar merger of eight cracker-baking companies in as many cities, which came to grief with the filing of a petition in bankruptcy on Jan. 6, will become known by the end of this month. Cornelius W. Wickersham of Greene, Hurd & Stowell, who has been operating some of the plants as receiver, has obtained an order from Judge Hough, sitting in the United States District Court for Southern New York, ordering the sale of all of the plants, singly or together, on March 25.

Of the $30,000,000 authorized stock of the Federal Company only $605,250 of the preferred and $3,821,950 of the common has been issued, while $1,478,000 of the common has been returned to the treasury. The company operated plants at Detroit, Bridgeport, Philadelphia, Montgomery, Ala.; Lawrence, Mass.; South Bend, Ind.; Providence, and New London. Its best-known factory was the Boss Bakery at the last-named city. There are secured claims of $54,200 and unsecured claims of about $115,000 more. Five of the plants have been operated by the receiver.

The receiver said yesterday that while on the face of the estimates it appears that the indebtedness is only about one half of the assets, the books are in such poor condition as to make it impossible to ascertain actual values. Mr. Wickersham thinks the outlook for the creditors is favorable and expects several bids for the company's assets, either collectively or individually.

New Capital for Chino Copper Co.

The Chino Copper Company's management is considering an increase in working capital by an issue of perhaps 50,000 shares of stock, to be offered to stockholders at $25. The company's authorized capital is 800,000 shares, of which 700,000 are outstanding, the remaining 100,000 being held in the treasury to provide for the conversion of $2,500,000 outstanding bonds at $25. The issue of new stock, for which a special meeting of stockholders would have to be called, would provide $1,250,000 additional working capital.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Two West Side Apartments in $375,000 Deal—Prince George Hotel Addition—Front Street Sale—Big Washington Heights Theatre Lease—Active Bronx Market—$150,000 Jersey City Purchase by Trust Co.

Renewed activity in investment buying of uptown apartment houses was shown yesterday in two good deals whereby the New York Real Estate Security Company acquired two additional houses in well-situated sites on the upper west side. From the Nethul Realty Company, D. B. Simons, President, the New York Real Estate Security Company acquired the six-story elevator apartment known as the Springfield, occupying a plot 100 by 100, on the northeast corner of Claremont Avenue and 125th Street, being 176 to 182 Claremont Avenue and 609 to 613 West 125th Street. It was held at about $275,000.

The second house was the six-story apartment at 506 and 508 West 135th Street, on a plot 45.10 by 100, bought from the Terrace Holding Company. It was held at about $100,000. The deal had the additional interesting feature in that no element of trade entered into the transaction.

Prince George Hotel Buys to Enlarge.

That the development of the midtown loft district, especially in the the Fourth Avenue locality, has caused an increased demand for hotel accommodations is illustrated in the purchase by the Prince George Hotel of a fifty-foot plot adjoining the hotel in Twenty-eighth Street for the purpose of erecting a twelve-story addition. A short time ago the Prince George Hotel Company, of which Charles F. Rogers is President, acquired the twenty-five-foot plot at 18 East Twenty-eighth Street, and the similar plot at 16 has just been acquired through S. B. Goodale & Perry and the S. H. Raphael Company from Dr. Louis A. Seaman.

The plot, which is occupied by a five-story building, has been held at $110,000, and about $200,000 was paid for the entire fifty-foot plot. With the new addition the entire investment will represent between $700,000 and $800,000. The property just acquired adjoins the hotel building on the east, the main structure covering 12 and 14 East East Twenty-eighth Street, a frontage of 50 feet, with a frontage of 93 feet on Twenty-seventh Street, covering 9 to 15 on that thoroughfare. The main Twenty-seventh Street entrance is within a few doors of the Madison Avenue end of Madison Square Garden.

Activity on Front Street.

Arthur P. Browning has sold to an investor, through the Charles F. Noyes Company, 205 Front Street, a store and loft building covering a plot of about 1,450 square feet, located between Beekman and Fulton Streets, and opposite the present fish market. The same brokers recently leased the property to John Applegate & Co. for a long term of years on a net basis.

Mr. Browning has held the property for less than one month. Several sales and resales have recently been reported in this neighborhood. The possible abandonment of the Fulton Market, with the result that the tenants located on the city property will need other premises in the section, is attributed as a cause leading to some of the recent activity.

New Washington Heights Theatre.

Another big theatre for the upper west side district is about to be commenced at once as the result of a deal just closed by which the theatrical firm of Moss & Brill have leased a plot of eleven city lots comprising the northwest corner of Broadway and 146th Street, 100 feet on Broadway and 225 feet on the street, with an extension 50 feet wide on 147th Street. The plot has been leased from the owner, Mrs. A. H. Alker, who acquired it in 1900 from A. J. Dittenhoefer, executor of the Sheridan Shook estate, for $70,000. The lease is based on a valuation of $300,000, and is for twenty-one years, with privileges of three renewals. John L. Parish was the broker in the transaction.

Work on the new theatre will begin this week. The theatre will accommodate about 2,500 persons and will have a large roof garden. On the Broadway corner plot will be erected, in connection with the theatre, a building, 75 by 100, with stores on the ground floor, a rathskeller in the basement, and assembly rooms for entertainments and offices on the upper floors. The lessees were the promoters of the Washington Theatre at Amsterdam Avenue and 149th Street.

Building Company for J. P. Morgan's Offices.

In connection with the recently reported purchase of the Drexel building on the southeast corner of Wall and Broad Streets by the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., interest was centred yesterday in the announcement that the Drexel Building Company has just been incorporated at Albany, with a capital of $1,000,000. The incorporators are Walter B. Horn, Thomas W. Joyce, and Edward S. Pegram, all of 3 Broad Street, which is the Drexel Building. Mr. Horn has represented Mr. Morgan for several years in realty transactions. Whether the new company intends to improve the site could not be ascertained. The property was bought many years ago by the late Anthony Drexel and has been owned by the Drexel estate ever since. The building is a seven-story structure, fronting 113.5 feet on Broad Street and 82.7 feet on Wall Street. It is assessed at $2,700,000, including the improvement, the land value being placed at $2,500,000.

A Loft Zone Transaction.

Resale on East 22d Street.

Alexander P. W. Kinnan has resold to Simon Newman 128 East Twenty-second Street, a three-story dwelling on a lot 20 by 98.9, 75 feet west of Lexington Avenue.

Resale of Church Property.

A quick resale of property in the Harlem colored settlement was reported yesterday by R. A. Bonime, who resold to the Baptist Church Mission 45 and 47 West 134th Street on a plot 50 by 99.11. For several years the building was occupied by the Mercy Seat Baptist Church, a colored congregation. About two weeks ago it was sold in foreclosure proceedings and was secured by Mr. Bonime as plaintiff in the action on a bid of $21,000.

A Bronx-Manhattan Trade.

Mrs. Sarah A. Albro has sold 240 West 121st Street, a three-story dwelling on a lot 16.8 by 100.11. The buyer gave in exchange the four-story double house, 611 East 179th Street, on a plot 38 by 115. Shaw & Co. negotiated the transaction.

East Harlem Deal Pending.

Negotiations are reported to be pending for the sale of the four five-story flats on a plot 80 by 100.11 known as 58 to 64 East 116th Street, owned by Bridget Gilson.

The prospective purchaser contemplates erecting on the site a theatre, and arrangements have been made to lease it to an out-of-town syndicate which operates a chain of moving-picture places.

Interesting Deal on the Heights.

Mrs. Frances L. Lee has purchased for investment from Joseph Haefelin 3,924 Broadway, a four-story flat on a lot 25 by 100.5. This structure was erected long before the building boom on Washington Heights began, and is now wedged in between the ten-story Bradley Court and Princess Apartment House, which occupy the balance of the block front on Broadway. James E. Barry & Co. negotiated the sale.

Bronx.

The Aqueduct Boscobel Company has sold the vacant plot 75 by 100 on Aqueduct Avenue facing Washington Bridge Plaza. The buyer is Frederick S. Myers, who owns the adjoining lot on the corner of 172d Street. The combined plot makes one of the choicest corners in this active section, which has already attracted the attention of many prominent builders. The plot will be improved with a high-class apartment house. This is an all-cash sale.

Coler & Co. have sold four lots on the east side of Briggs Avenue 205 feet south of 194th Street.

A. G. Bechmann has sold for the Tully Construction Company the premises 1,010 Intervale Avenue, a five-story apartment house, 37.6 by 88 by 100, to a Mr. Becker, who gave in part payment a plot 97.8 by 112 located on the southwest corner of 179th Street and Lafontaine Avenue.

Eugene J. Busher has sold for the Peer Realty Company the five-story brick flat on plot 50 by 100 at 380 and 382 East 155th Street, between Melrose and Courtlandt Avenues, to an investor. The deal was an all-cash transaction.

Frederick Van Wyck has purchased from W. S. Potter and J. L. Van Sant a plot 50 by 100 on the west side of Lind Avenue, 367 feet north of 167th Street. The buyer gave in part payment a dwelling at Valley Road and Woodycrest Avenue, White Plains. Slawson & Hobbs were the brokers.

Brooklyn.

Wood, Harmon & Co. have sold at Rugby two lots at the southeast corner of Linden Avenue and East Forty-fifth Street to Arthur C. Mead; one lot on East Fifty-third Street, near Winthrop Street, to Harry F. Burns; one lot on Troy Avenue, near Linden Avenue, to William Wesley Manning; two lots on Linden Avenue, near Troy Avenue, to Frank E. Smith; one lot on East Fifty-second Street, near Snyder Avenue, to Frank P. Blodgett, and one lot on Snyder Avenue, near Troy Avenue, to Chester C. Platt.

Long Island Sales.

Robert L. McElroy has sold to Michael Harrison of Manhattan a parcel 478 by 125, running to Jamaica Bay, with a frontage of 185 feet and a right of way of 12 by 461 feet on the southwest side of Mott Avenue, Far Rockaway, subject to a mortgage of $10,000.

The House and Home Company has sold to Leo Herrmann of Manhattan a parcel 40 feet on Russell Street and 40 feet on Whitlock Avenue, Locust Manor, Jamaica.

William F. Henchen has sold to Frank A. Archambault of Manhattan and he to Carrie Archambault of Manhattan a parcel 200 feet on the south side of Quince Street, 200 feet on the west side of Bowne Avenue, 200 feet on the east side of Robinson Avenue, 200 feet on the north side of Rose Avenue, Flushing.

The Somerville Realty Company has sold at Arverne a plot 60 by 100 on the east side of Remington Avenue, north of Elizabeth Avenue, to Marcus Miller; a plot 40 by 100 on the east side of Clarence Avenue, north of Morris Avenue, to G. C. Watt, and a plot 40 by 100 on the west side of Remington Avenue, north of Gouverneur Avenue, to Kate Kerwin.

Factory in Jamaica.

Blanchard Brothers, Incorporated, of Davenport, Iowa, have purchased on Norris Avenue, Jamaica, a plot of ground 200 by 200 feet, on which they will erect a building to manufacture advertising goods, and will employ 350 people. The property was sold by Joseph Einstein, President of the Tower Manufacturing Company of New York.

$150,000 Deal in Jersey City.

The largest real estate transaction in Jersey City for some time, involving the transfer of properties valued at about $150,000, has been closed by the People's Safe Deposit and Trust Company, which has bought from Mrs. Brautigan, widow of the late Finance Commissioner Henry Brautigan, the northwest and the southwest corners of Central Avenue and Bowers Street. The northwest corner, 50 feet on the avenue and 100 feet on the street, was bought for $60,000, and the southwest corner, 100 feet on the avenue and 90 feet on the street, for $85,000.

An interesting feature about the deal is that the larger southwest corner has been sold at the same price or leased on a long term to the grocer Oest, who is now located on the northwest corner. The People's Safe Deposit and Trust Company, which is now located at Central Avenue and Hutton Street, has been desirous for some time of securing a larger site, but it was impossible to buy more property adjoining its present site owing to the fact that a police station adjoins the bank building on both thoroughfares.

The company was desirous of acquiring the northwest corner of Central Avenue and Bowers Street for its new building, but discovered that a lease for several years held by the grocer stood in the way. To obviate the difficulty the company bought both corners under an agreement with the grocer that he would buy or lease the southwest corner for his store. As a result, he will soon move across the avenue, and the two single story buildings on the northwest corner will be torn down for a high-class banking and office building. The deal has given a decided stimulus to Central Avenue business property in the vicinity.

New Jersey Sales.

Louis Schelsinger & Co. have sold for the Union Building Company the four-story brick buildings 442 to 452 Orange Street, southeast corner of North Fifth Street, Newark, N. J., consisting of the Bon Air apartments, containing ten stores and thirty-eight apartments, to Herbert Lighthipe and others for a consideration of $175,000. They have also sold to Albert Mersfelder vacant plots on South Tenth Street, near Avon Avenue, who will improve the same by the erection of modern two-family houses; and the vacant plot 535 to 541 Clinton Avenue, northeast corner of Farley Avenue, to Herman & Co., who will also erect stores and apartments on the same.

The El Mora Land Company has sold a plot 50 by 128 on Park Avenue, near Summit Road, to John C. Spencer; 75 by 150 on Hillside Road, near Baldwin Place, to B. C. Ives, and 50 by 100 on Fernwood Terrace, near Galloping Hill Road, to Benjamin Jackson.

The Public Service Corporation has purchased through Joseph P. Day a tract of land on the Newark Meadows, extending from the Belleville Turnpike to the Hackensack River, paralleling the tracks of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, and in the vicinity of the large tract of land recently sold by the same broker to the Motor Speedway Association.

Leases.

The Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company has leased for a term of years the corner store and basement in the Hotel Lorraine, on the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-fifth Street, to a publishing company.

G. P. Butterly has leased for the Thomas A. Hill Company to the Ramado Cigarette Co., a subsidiary of the National Cigarette Company, two floors in the new loft now nearing completion at 555 and 557 West Thirty-sixth Street.

Recent Buyers.

Mrs. Pembroke Jones is the buyer of the William B. Isham property at 5 East Sixty-first Street. A new dwelling will probably be erected on the site.

E. Wittnauer is the buyer of the Beverly apartment house at 263 and 265 West Eighty-first Street, sold by S. M. Banner. Property at Elmsford, Westchester County, was given in part payment.

Fifth National Bank's Offices.

The Fifth National Bank of the City of New York has taken a lease of its new offices in the new loft just completed at Twenty-third Street and Lexington Avenue, being 181 and 183 East Twenty-third Street, from Charles Kaye for $22,000 a year. The lease is for twenty-one years from Feb. 1, 1912.

To Sell Property for Unpaid Taxes.

Ten clerks have been assigned to the office of the Bureau for the Collection of Assessments and Errors in the Municipal Building in Long Island City to prepare the lists of property to be sold in the First, Second, Third, and Fourth Wards of the borough for unpaid taxes.

The Third Ward property will be offered second, then the First Ward property, and finally the Fourth Ward property. All the sales will be completed, it is expected, before the end of this year.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

AT A STATED TERM OF THE UNITED States District Court for the Southern District of New York, held at the Post Office Building, Borough of Manhattan, New York City, on the 21st day of February, 1912. Present, Hon. Charles H. Hough, District Judge.—In the matter of FEDERAL BISCUIT COMPANY, bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.—No. 16,058.

A petition in bankruptcy, having been duly filed herein against the above-named bankrupt on the 6th day of January, 1912, and Cornelius W. Wickersham having been duly appointed receiver herein, and having duly qualified as such, and upon said petition and upon all the papers and proceedings herein, and upon the report and petition of Cornelius W. Wickersham, verified February 21st, 1912, and after hearing and upon motion of George F. Hurd and James N. Rosenberg of counsel for said receiver, and J. Howard Reber, attorney for the co-ancillary receivers in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, and sufficient reason appearing, therefore it is Ordered, That a hearing be had before the undersigned Judge of this court on the 25th day of March, 1912, in Room 47, in the Post Office Building, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, to consider the matters set forth in said annexed report and petition of said receiver, and to take such action thereon as may to this court seem just and proper, and to consider the sale of any or all of the properties of the bankrupt herein, in whole or in part, jointly or separately, whether for cash or credit, to consider any and all bids that may be received or submitted and any or all plan or plans for the administration of this estate or the disposition of the assets thereof or the reorganization of the whole or part of the business thereof, and

It is further ordered, That all persons be and they are hereby authorized to make any or all such bids or plans, the same to be filed in writing with Cornelius W. Wickersham, receiver herein, at his office, number 43 Exchange Place, in the Borough of Manhattan, New York City, on or before the said 25th day of March, 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, or the same may, in the alternative, be made in open court at the time and place of the hearing provided for, and

It is further ordered, That at such hearing all parties in interest shall have an opportunity to be heard, and

It is further ordered, That at such hearing, or thereafter, as to the court may seem best, the said receiver shall be authorized and directed to make, execute, and deliver any such bills of sale, transfers, deeds, or conveyances of any or all of the assets of this estate as to this court may seem just, lawful, and proper, or to make such disposition of any or all of the said assets as this court may then or thereafter order, and

It is further ordered, That the receiver be and he hereby is authorized to apply to the court of ancillary jurisdiction for orders of appraisal of the assets in such districts, and for such further order or orders as are necessary or proper in aid of the provisions of this order, and

It is further ordered, That, pending the determination by this court of the matters herein referred to, the receiver be and he hereby is authorized to continue the business as he is now doing, and in accordance with the authority heretofore granted to him, and

It is further ordered, That due, timely, sufficient, and complete notice of said hearing and of all matters to be considered at such hearing, and of the action of the court thereon shall be given in the following manner:

The receiver is directed to cause to be mailed to all creditors of the bankrupt known to him, at such addresses or residences as may be known to him, copies of this order, and of the annexed report, and, further, to cause to be published a copy of this order at least once in a newspaper designated for bankruptcy notices in each of the following districts:

District of Massachusetts.
District of Rhode Island.
District of Connecticut.
District of Indiana.
Eastern District of Pennsylvania.
Middle District of Alabama, Northern Division.
Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division.
Southern District of New York.

and the receiver is authorized in his discretion to publish a copy of this order once in an additional newspaper in any of the cities or towns in which the plants mentioned in the annexed report are located. The publication in all places shall be on or before the 20th day of March, 1912.

REFEREES' NOTICES.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 27th day of November, 1911, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 27th day of March, 1912, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Bryan L. Kennelly, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows: All that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, with the buildings thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, (formerly the Twelfth Ward of the City of New York,) bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the southerly side of One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, distant three hundred and thirty-five (335) feet westerly from the corner formed by the intersection of the westerly side of First Avenue and the southerly side of One Hundred and Sixteenth Street; running thence southerly, and partly through the centre of a party wall, one hundred (100) feet and ten (10) inches; thence westerly, and parallel with One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, twenty (20) feet; thence northerly, and parallel again with First Avenue, and partly through the centre of a party wall, One Hundred (100) feet and ten (10) inches to the southerly side of One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, and thence easterly along said last mentioned street, twenty (20) feet to the place of beginning.

PETER GATENS, Referee.

FIXMAN, LEWIS & SELIGSBERG, Attorneys for Plaintiff, 55 Liberty Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold, is two thousand one hundred sixty-seven and 50-100 ($2,167.50) dollars, with interest thereon from the 27th day of November, 1911, together with costs and allowance amounting to two hundred sixty-one and 45-100 dollars with interest from November 27, 1911, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is four hundred five and 83-100 dollars and interest. Said premises will be sold subject to a first mortgage for eight thousand dollars and interest from July 1, 1911, at 5% per annum, which mortgage is past due.

Dated New York, March 2, 1912.
PETER GATENS, Referee.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Although the entire area east of the Rocky Mountains is still covered by a high pressure area of great magnitude, the weather remains unsettled with low temperature and scattered rains or snows over all districts, except from the upper lake region eastward. The reasons for this departure from the usual type of weather resulting from this distribution of pressure are not apparent from surface conditions, and it is probable that it is due to disturbed upper air conditions, with a strong temperature inversion, of which some indications were afforded from the kite flights at Mount Weather, Va., during the last two days. Conditions continue unsettled also west of the Rockies.

Unsettled weather will continue Wednesday over the central and southern districts east of the Rockies, with snows and rains, except in the South Atlantic States. Local snows are also probable in New England, but over the interior districts to the westward the weather will be generally fair.

For Wednesday generally fair weather is indicated over all districts, except the South, where scattered rains are probable.

It will be colder by Wednesday in the East Gulf and South Atlantic States, and continue cold over districts to the northward.

Winds along the New England Coast will be moderate variable; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate, mostly northeast; South Atlantic Coast moderate north and northeast.

Steamships departing Tuesday for European ports will have moderate winds, mostly northeast, and unsettled Tuesday; probably fair Wednesday.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York and Southern New England—Local snows Tuesday. Wednesday probably fair; moderate variable winds.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Unsettled Tuesday, probably local snows. Wednesday fair; moderate winds, mostly northeast.

Northenr New England—Local snows Tuesday or Tuesday night. Wednesday probably fair; light to moderate variable winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

City Superintendent William H. Maxwell and Associate City Superintendent Andrew W. Edson were at their desks in the Department of Education yesterday, having returned from St. Louis, where they attended last week the annual meeting of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association. Mr. Edson said that it was the largest meeting ever held, there being no less than 2,000 educators, chiefly Superintendents, present. The meeting next year will be held in Philadelphia. Among the addresses was one by William H. Allen, director of the Bureau of Municipal Research. In the course of his talk he said that the investigation of the New York public school system, being carried on by Dr. Paul Hanus, is a lame one, and that some of the Principals faked the reports they handed in to him. When Mr. Allen ended his remarks Dr. Maxwell was called upon to reply. He said that all the Principals of the New York public schools, women and men, are honorable, and that the work being done by Dr. Hanus is excellent. Dr. Maxwell said that he believes when the investigation is ended Dr. Hanus will be able to give him suggestions tending to imprive the system, and that whenever practicable they will be put into effect.

An examination of applicants for licenses as teachers of drawing and constructive work in the elementary schools will be conducted by the Board of Examiners on May 6 and 7. Its novel feature will be that the examination will be open to men as well as to women. Hitherto only women have been admitted to the examinations for this position, but, as the applicants have been so few in number, it has been decided to give men a chance to compete. The teacher acts as a supervisor and has to visit from ten to twenty-five schools for the purpose of inspection.

President Winthrop of the Board of Education announced yesterday the following appointees to the special committee, which is to investigate the ventilation of the public school buildings: John Martin, Chairman; Miss Lincoln Draper, Patrick F. McGowan, W. Meyer, and Dr. Antonio Pisani. Mr. is Chairman of the Committee on and Mr. Meyer is Chairman of the Committee on Care of Buildings. Miss Draper is a member of the Committee on Special Schools and Vocational Schools and Industrial Training. Dr. Pisani is a member of the Committee on Athletics.

The Male Principals' Association has filed a protest with the Committee on Elementary Schools of the Board of Education against the assignment of women Principals to schools of any of the grades hitherto supervised by men.

A written examination for teachers of cooking in the elementary schools will be held on March 18, beginning at 9 A. M., in Room 422, in the Department of Education Building. No person will be eligible who is under 21 years of age, or over 41. The salaries are as follows: $820 for the first three years and an annual increment of $80 thereafter until the maximum of $1,600 is reached.

The following have been elected by the General Association of Curtis High School, Hamilton Avenue and St. Mark's Place, New Brighton, Borough of Richmond: William R. Hayward, Faculty Adviser; Thompson Doyle, President; Alice Bemis, Vice President; Joseph Curran, Secretary, and Francis E. Brewer, Treasurer.

Commissioner Henry P. Morrison, who is a member of the Committee on the Care of Buildings, was surprised the other day to come across a janitor in a Fort Hamilton public school named Livingston Beekman. He said yesterday that he doubted if the name was bestowed with any idea that its owner would become a janitor. Jefferson Davis, by the way, is janitor of Public School 146, Eighteenth Street, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues, Brooklyn.

This is the sixtieth birthday anniversary of City Supt. William H. Maxwell. He was born in County Tyrone, Ireland, on March 5, 1852. He came to the United States in 1874, was Assistant Superintendent of the Brooklyn public schools 1882-1887, and Superintendent of the same, 1887-1898. Since 1898 he has been City Superintendent of the public schools of Greater New York.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

Applications are now being received by the Municipal Civil Service Commission for the position of Court Stenographer, fourth grade, Borough of Richmond. The last date for the receipt of applications is March 15. The examination will be held on April 9. The subjects of the examination will be general and special dictation. The former will be given at the rate of 150 and 165 words a minute. The special dictation will consist of a five-minute exercise in taking note from testimony, question, and answer being read by diferent examiners, and taken at such rate of speed as the candidate desires, providing it is at a rate of not less than 150 words a minute and then being read back, no transcript of this part of the examination to be called for. Applicants must be residents of the Borough of Richmond. The minimum age is 21 years, and the salary is $2,000 a year.

Until March 14 the commission will receive applications for the position of Library Assistant. The examination will be held on April 11. The minimum age is 18 years. There is one vacancy in the College of the City of New York. The salary is $720 a year.

Applications for the positions of police doorman and prison keeper, grade one, will be received until March 14. A physical examination will precede the mental. The minimum age is 20 years; the maximum age 35 years. Eight vacancies exist in the position of prison keeper, Department of Correction. The salaries are: Police doorman, $1,000 a year; prison keeper, $800 a year. While the physical and mental examinations will be the same for these two positions, the position of police doorman carries a pension with it, while that of prison keeper does not. Candidates on this list who decline to accept the position of prison keeper, on the ground that no pension is attached to it, will still be eligible for the position of police doorman.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an examination at the New York Custom House on March 20, 21, and 22 to fill a vacancy in the position of electrical and mechanical engineer at from $1,800 to $2,000 a year in the Quartermaster's Department at Large, New London, Conn. The duties require that the appointee's residence shall be at or near the post where the work is being prosecuted, but, as necessities of the service demand, he may be detailed to serve in any part of the United States as required. The examination will consist of the following subjects: Mathematics, comprising problems in algebra and integral and differential calculus; practical calculations, comprising problems in mechanics, interpretation of formulae, and correct working out of practical problems in electrical and mechanical engineering; designs in electrical and mechanical construction, involving ability to draw neatly to scale, and to determine the sizes, makes, and types of electrical and mechanical apparatus best adapted for specific requirements; specifications, covering electrical and mechanical engineering, construction and testing of electrical and mechanical apparatus; training, experience, and fitness. Applicants who have not had at least five years' practical experience in mechanical and electrical engineering will not be admitted to this examination. Graduation in mechanical and electrical engineering will be consdered as equivalent to two years of this service. The age limit is 25 years or over on the date of the examination.

LAWYERS ATTACK SUBWAY CONTRACTS

SHEARN GIVES GLOOMY VIEW

Figures Interboro Will Clear $58,000,000 on Sinking Fund and Lines Will Not Earn Preference Payments.

Three taxpayer's suits were consolidated yesterday before Justice Blackmar, in the Special Term of the Brooklyn Supreme Court, in the hope of settling finally the constitutionality of the preferential payment provisions in the contracts which the city proposes to make with the Interborough and the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Companies for the enlargement of the subway system. The difficulty in the work of adjudication now is that these contracts have not yet been drawn up, but the city, the Public Service Commission, and the two railroad companies made such admissions in their demurrers as to make it possible, it is hoped, for the courts to take cognizance of the matter.

An imposing row of counsel filled the table before Justice Blackmar and overflowed to the next row of benches. Willard N. Baylis appeared for John R. Ryon, who is aiming particularly at the B. R. T. agreement; Daniel P. Hayes and Samuel Untermyer for the Admiral Realty Company, and Clarence J. Shearn for J. J. Hopper, whose suit concerns only the Public Service Commission, but raises a doubt of the entire subway agreement. To answer these advocates were Charles A. Collin for the B. R. T., Robert Reed Rogers for the Interborough, Assistant Corporation Counsel Hahlo and George S. Coleman and Leroy T. Harkness of the Public Service Commission.

The honor of opening the attack was conferred on Mr. Baylis, and he took the position that the plaintiffs wished the city to build the subway from the proceeds of the sale of its own bonds. He criticised the proposed contracts as unconstitutional and ultra vires they would be unconstitutional, he declared, because they violated Article VIII., Section 10, of the State Constitution, which reads:

> No county, city, town, or village shall hereafter give any money or property or loan its money or credit to or in aid of any individual association or corporation, or become directly or indirectly the owner of stock in or bonds of any association or corporation.

The Point at Issue.

The particular point he criticised in the Brooklyn Rapid Transit agreement was the preferential payments. By that the company is to receive from the pooled earnings of the old and new roads $3,500,000 to represent its present profit and the interest and sinking fund on any capital it puts up for equipment or construction before the city receives a cent on its investment. Moreover, Mr. Baylis contended though the city will invest $123,000,000 for the lines to be assigned to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit and the company will only provide $26,000,000 for construction and $24,000,000 for equipment, when the division of profits is made between the city and the company after all fixed charges have been paid, each party to the agreement will take an equal share.

Mr. Baylis referred at length to the leading case of the Sun Publishing Company against the city, in which the courts refused to enjoin the building of the present Subway, and asked the court to consider carefully the dissenting opinions on this case. He was followed by Mr. Hays, who reviewed in a similar manner the preference which is likely to be granted to the Interborough, namely a payment of $6,335,000, and the interest and sinking fund on its investment of $77,000,000 for new construction and equipment, before the city receives anything from the Subway to carry its own bonds.

He maintained that this was a guarantee of an unconstitutional sort, and that the city could not make such a contract, although it would be perfectly legal for it to carry on its own enterprise at a loss. Moreover, in the case of the Interborough the deficit of the company, if there is any, will be cumulative and must be paid by the city before it receives any profit.

Purpose of the Rapid Transit Act.

Mr. Hays went on to argue that, even if such an agreement as this did not violate the Constitution, it was ultra vires, for the whole trend of the Rapid Transit act is that the city build its own lines and then let them out to an operating company at a sufficient rate to take care of its bonds. That would insure the city against loss, but the present bargain, he argued, was absolutely uncertain in its results. Moreover, it proposed to give the subways, old and new, to the companies for forty-nine years, while the Rapid Transit act provided only for a twenty-five-year lease.

Mr. Shearn, for J. J. Hopper, followed on much the same line, but added some gloomy prognostications of his own. He pointed out that the Interborough would be able to include in the operating expenses, which had to be met first, all sorts of expenses, and that obsolescence, which is also preferred, is an entirely new charge of indefinite meaning.

The company is to get by the agreement a first payment of $10,950,000 before the city gets the interest and sinking fund on its bonds, yet Mr. Shearn contended the company would probably make a great deal of money out of the sinking fund. If that is 1 per cent. on $77,000,000 for forty-nine years, and is invested at the rate of 4½ per cent., it will at the end of the term amount to $135,000,000, a clean profit of $58,000,000.

Moreover, the object of the new subway plan is said to be to reduce congestion. Yet by 1924 the new enlarged subway, according to the present growth of population, will have reached the same condition of congestion as has the present Subway. Yet it is not Mr. Shearn declares, till 1924 that the new subway system can earn sufficient to pay any interest on the city's bonds so, that the unfortunate public must look forward to a return to indecently congested conditions in order to permit the city to get any of its money back. As a matter of fact, he said, at the end of 1923 the deficit on the company's new investment during the first years of the enlarged system will have mounted up so fast that it will be $25,400,000, which must be paid out of the subway earnings before the city gets any funds at all.

Answer of the Companies.

Mr. Collin led the defense of the plan for the Brooklyn Rapid Transit. He contended that at least under present conditions the construction of a subway must be considered a proper expenditure of city money for city purposes. To prove this, he went into the history of the Rapid Transit act and showed how again and again there had been no bidder when the city invited offers for construction as well as operation.

The hearing was adjourned till noon on Thursday, when Mr. Rogers, Mr. Coleman, and Mr. Hahlo will speak against the injunction and Mr. Untermyer will sum up for the plaintiffs.

B. R. T. ASKS ASSURANCES.

Finds Interborough Affects Vital Points of Its Agreement.

No action on the Interborough Subway offer was taken yesterday by the Public Service Commission. A meeting was held and it was understood that it had been called specially to consider the proposal, but Commissioner Maltbie had not returned from Chicago, and in his absence the commission adjourned without bringing the question up.

Chairman Willcox goes to Washington to-day to attend the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation as Chairman of its Welfare Committee. He may be back on Friday in time for the regular meeting of the commission, and no action on subways is expected till then at any rate. There seems no chance that the Interborough offer will come before the Board of Estimate on Thursday, as had been expected.

Col. Timothy S. Williams, President of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit, sent out yesterday a statement of the attitude of his company on subway affairs, and in it he said that "the pending offer of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, together with statements by members of the Board of Estimate and Public Service Commission favorable to such offer, give evidence that the city is preparing to ask this company to modify the programme mutually agreed upon last Summer for the construction and operation of rapid transit lines. This company has been aware that negotiations looking toward a return to the so-called dual plan of transit development have been in progress for some time, and we were asked to give, and did give, to the public officials concerned an informal expression of our attitude on the subject."

Col. Williams explains that his company assented to the endeavors of the city to reach an agreement with the Interborough that would provide for the completion of the "H" system in Manhattan and the Bronx, holding itself free, however, to withdraw from the situation, upon the facts as they might then exist, should it be asked to modify the arrangement agreed upon. Later the company thought it necessary to ask the city for assurances and the assurances came from Messrs. McAneny, Prendergast, and Willcox, publicly and privately. The pending offer of the Interborough raises, however, a final issue as to a number of special questions which the B. R. T. considers vital to its interests. Therefore, Col. Williams's company has asked that assurances covering these specific points be formally given and it has received Mr. McAneny's "informal promise" that the assurances will be forthcoming.

One of the points on which it is understood the B. R. T. is most anxious is that it should not be forced to take a tunnel under the East River from the Battery as far south as Atlantic Avenue. It is believed now that it will be able to run its tunnel to Borough Hall either by Pineapple or by Montague Street.

CITY MAY BUILD COURT HOUSE

An Injunction Against Such Use of Municipal Funds Refused.

Justice Marean handed down a decision yesterday in the Supreme Court of Kings County denying the application of ex-Alderman Drescher for an injunction against the construction by the city of a Court House for New York County. The principal point raised in the action was that it was illegal for the city to spend funds collected from the whole city for a County Court House.

Two bills are pending at Albany which, if passed, would override the court's decision. On Feb. 22 Assemblyman Hoff of Brooklyn introduced a bill providing that the new Court House in Manhattan shall be a county and not a city charge. This is now up for third reading in the Assembly. A similar bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Travis, but as yet has made no progress. Both are being opposed by the city.

The argument was made on the injunction suit, but briefs were prepared for the plaintiff and the city. The latter denied that the parts of the Supreme Court are agencies of the county, contending that they are in reality divisions of the judicial system of the State. On this ground the power to provide courtrooms and proper buildings is vested in the State and not in the county, and the former may delegate its action to a city or a county.

It was contended that there is nothing unconstitutional in the Legislature directing the raising the money for the courts by the city, although the city had no control over them, and that a large number of judicial buildings in the city have been thus erected and paid for with city funds.

RIOT AT A BARGAIN SALE.

Mobile Women Shoppers Hurt in Fight to Buy a Piece of Lace.

Special to The New York Times.

MOBILE, Ala., March 4.—At least four women were hurt and several others left with torn skirts and crushed hats to-day because two wanted the same piece of lace at a bargain sale. The sale was at a department store, and liberal advertising had brought a throng that packed the place. The lace was the last piece of a bolt, and was offered at a "liberal reduction." All the women in the store seemed to have spied it at the same time, and each made a grab. Words followed, and a blow seems to have passed. The woman who was struck immediately drew a hatpin and made a vigorous lunge, missing her opponent, however.

A stampede followed. Those who had been eager for bargains were just as anxious to get away from the deadly hatpin.

Three of those hurt seem to have been kicked or waited on. Mrs. M. J. Gardner suffered a sprained wrist and a Mrs. Holt was cut on the check by a hatpin. One of the other victims was struck upon the nose, which bled copiously.

After the rush was over the coveted bolt of lace was found upon the floor, too soiled and torn to be of use.

WALDO STARTS PEACE MOVE.

Commissioner Will Dump Thugs' Arsenal Into the Deep Blue Sea.

One of the police boats will be converted into a floating arsenal next Thursday morning. It will have as its armament a most unusual collection of weapons, for 1,500 revolvers, 200 shotguns, 100 rifles, 300 blackjacks, and knives of all sizes and shapes, from the heavy butcher knife to the stiletto, sword cane, and penknife, are to be carried out to deep water and dumped into the ocean.

These articles, confiscated by the police, have been accumulating at Police Headquarters during the past year. The intrinsic value of the collection has been placed at $8,000 by the property clerk. The revolvers range in value from 10 cents to $50, while many of the shotguns and rifles are of the latest and most improved models, some of them most expensively made and decorated.

It formerly was the custom of the Commissioner to have an annual sale of these articles. Commissioner Waldo, however, does not wish to come in conflict with the Sullivan law, and he has decided that the best way to avoid complications is to have the weapons thrown into the sea.

$5,000 FOR CHOICE OF PEWS.

Julius Rosenwald Highest Bidder at Sinai Temple Sale.

CHICAGO, March 4.—Spirited bidding among wealthy members of Sinai Temple for first choice of pews closed the formal dedication of the new edifice last night.

Julius Rosenwald, who was the highest bidder, paid $5,000 for the first choice, and immediately afterward gave $20,000 to purchase seats for others whom the congregation might select. Several seats brought $4,000 each, and many others $3,000. Numerous pews were sold above $2,000 each.

"Jack" Barrymore Fined.

"Jack" Barrymore, the actor, was fined $10 in the Morrisania Court by Magistrate Butts yesterday morning for violating the automobile speed ordinance. Mr. Barrymore, with a party of four men friends, was in a large touring car on the Grand Concourse and Boulevard in the Bronx. Motor Cycle Policeman Donovan says the actor was driving the car at 30 miles an hour. Mr. Barrymore said he was guilty, but that he did not know the law. He paid his fine.

Gain in Chemical National's Surplus.

The item of net profits in the detailed report of the Chemical National Bank on the call of the Controller as of Feb. 20 was $7,078,000, the gain in the interim since the report as of Dec. 5 last being $157,600, not $47,600, as stated through an inadvertence in a discussion of the National bank reports in Sunday's TIMES. The surplus account of the bank now stands at $6,000,000.

OROZCO TO MARCH ON MEXICO CITY

Dispatch from Chihuahua Says He Will Start This Week with 5,000 Men.

COWBOYS KILL MEXICANS

Rebels Attempt to Commandler Ranch Horses—Fifty Americans Marooned at Azarco.

EL PASO, Texas, March 4.—A special from Chihuahua to The El Paso Herald says:

"The tide has completely turned. It became definite to-day that there is almost a unanimous sentiment against Madero throughout the State of Chihuahua and that, using this State as the focus, the movement against the present Government is to crystallize. Briefly, the plans are as follows:

"In four days Gen. Orozco is to leave for Mexico City, the troops now in Chihuahua, reinforced by the rebels from the North and those being constantly recruited now at Chihuahua, make, by conservative estimate, 5,000 troops that will march on to the Mexican capitol before this week ends. All parties in Chihuahua have combined against the present administration. Men from the wealthiest classes, also professional and working men, are openly declaring against the present incumbent.

"These will join Orozco in large numbers, and march through to Mexico City.

"Order at Chihuhua is perfect. Banks and stores are open, and there is a spirit of greatest friendliness manifest. The railroads will be running through service from Chihuahua to Juarez shortly."

In the skirmish yesterday between Pascual Orozco's force of rebels, which hold the City of Chihuahua, and Col. Pancho Villa's Federals it is said that Orozco lost one man killed and one wounded. Villa's loss was not learned.

Col. Villa has been in camp at Fresno, about eight miles out of the city, on the railroad, where he has locomotives and rolling stock. He moved his force, said to number 1,260, to a cattle corral three miles from the city. It was on this field that the first brush between Federals and Maderistas under Orozco occurred shortly after the outbreak of the anti-Diaz revolution.

Orozco, with 600 men, deployed through the low hills to meet Villa. Firing was at long range, and Villa eventually retired. At 5 o'clock in the evening there was renewed shooting, but it is said to have been done by nervous sentries.

Americans in Chihuahua are in a predicament. They are as safe at home as in traveling south, and the only present means of moving north is by horse or automobile, and the supply of both is scant.

At 8 o'clock to-night Orozco was still in command of the City of Chihuahua.

Gen. Salazar said to-night that he would start running passenger trains on the Mexican Central between Juarez and Chihuahua within a few days to remove from the disaffected districts such foreigners as wished to leave.

COWBOYS IN MEXICAN FIGHT.

Americans Kill Rebels Who Try to Commandeer Horses.

LAREDO, Tex., March 4.—To day's rush of Americans homeward is in part due to President Taft's warning of Saturday.

About seventy-five Americans, mostly women and children, passed through here en route north. Some of them expressed alarm over the Mexican situation, but others said their only reason for leaving was that their husbands forced them to go. It is reported here that two American families will leave Monterey to-day, bound for the United States.

Col. E. Z. Steever dispatched Lieut. Hill of the Twenty-second Infantry and a squad of soldiers to Columbus, N. M., to-day, to investigate a report that American cowboys and Mexican rebels clashed on Saturday at Rancho Las Palomas, thirty miles from Columbus, on the Mexican side.

According to a report which was transmitted to Col. Steever for investigation by the customs officers, the horses of the Americans were killed, and they retreated on foot to Columbus after killing or wounding several of the Mexicans. It is not known which side took the aggressive nor why the Americans were on the ranch.

Cattlemen who passed through Columbus on their way to the Cattlemen's Convention here to-day say that Rancho Las Palomas was owned by Americans and Englishmen, and that the Americans in the reported fight were employed on the ranch.

According to this source of information, the Americans resisted when the Mexicans tried to commandeer horses from the ranch. The cowboys' mounts were killed and they retreated to the ranch house, where they resisted until the marauders rode away. They were exhausted when they reached Columbus yesterday. They said they saw seven Mexicans fall, and they believe four of them were killed.

E. S. Plumb and two companions, who left the City of Chihuahua by automobile at 6 o'clock last night, brought word that the purport of President Taft's proclamation requesting Americans in disturbed sections of Mexico to leave the country had been received there, and that a considerable exodus was in prospect.

50 AMERICANS MAROONED.

Mexican Troops on the Way to Azarco to Rescue Them.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Secretary Stimson left for Chicago this afternoon, and Gen. Wood will handle the Mexican situation for the present. A belated message dated Feb. 27 was received from the United States Consul at Chihuahua, Maddin Summers, who sent it by a traveler to be telegraphed from El Paso, stating that Orozco had resigned his commission in the Mexican Army on the 27th, and that he is likely to be taken up by the revolutionists as a candidate for President.

Gen. Villa was reported to be seventy miles to the west of Chihuahua, and approaching with a force of 600 men. Consul Summers denied that Villa had demanded the surrender of Chihuahua.

The Consul confirms the report that fifty Americans, including Eugene C. Blalock, are marooned in Azarco, having been cut off from all communication with the outside world since Feb. 26. All wires have been cut and the besieged party is kept under fire constantly from bandits. It is said that regular Mexican troops are on the way from Torreon to rescue the Americans, and another force is approaching from the South to help them.

The State Department has directed Consul Summers to make every effort to get into communication with these men and see what can be done to help them.

The insurrectos seem not to have any very definite policy except to oust President Madero. They express no purpose with regard to the future Government of Mexico, and have nothing to substitute for the present Administration. They manifest everywhere an insatiate desire to rob and loot, and are levying tribute from men of capital wherever they can get them in their power, even resorting to capture and demands for ransom from relatives and friends of their prisoners.

ART MUSEUM DIRECTOR ILL.

Edward Robinson, Director of the Metropolitan Art Museum, is suffering from a nervous breakdown from overwork, and the lectures on the "Principles of Greek Art," a course he was giving at the Museum, have been discontinued for a time. The lectures, which were illustrated, began on Feb. 26, and the second was to have been given last Thursday. Mr. Robinson was present, but was unable to give the lecture. This is a recent feature of the museum work, and the lectures are free to the public.

At his residence, 84 Gramercy Place. it was said last night that Mr. Robinson is improving and will be able to take up his work again after resting to the end of this week.

POULTRY DEALER TO JAIL.

Ten Days in Tombs and $150 Fine for I. S. Frank of Washington Market.

Isaac S. Frank of 75 East 110th Street, who owns several poultry stores in West Washington Market, was sentenced to pay a fine of $150 and to serve ten days in the Tombs Prison by Justices Russell, Zeller, and Deuel in Special Sessions yesterday after he had pleaded guilty to selling unwholesome poultry. Assistant Corporation Counsel Harry S. Sullivan requested that a long sentence be imposed on Frank.

Several other persons were fined from $50 to $100 after being convicted of violating the sanitary code.

Some Interesting Information
For Those Whose Aim Is To Be Correctly Attired
Browning, King & Co

The public has been taking an interest in the development of great commercial organizations. This Institution, which has always been very modest about its business achievements, now feels that the people are interested in knowing about its unusual New York Tailor Shops that supply Fashionable Metropolitan Clothing to its own Seventeen Retail Stores. They appreciate the fact that having retail stores in Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Kansas City, St. Paul, Omaha, Minneapolis, Brooklyn, Boston, Providence, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Pittsburgh, we are able to eliminate the high cost of doing business and to supply directly from our Superior Work-Rooms the very Best of Ready-to-Wear Attire for Men, Boys and Children at prices no higher than those charged for the ordinary kinds of clothing.

We are the Largest Manufacturing Retail Clothiers in America and invite those who have not already availed themselves of the many advantages this Institution has to offer to inspect our Spring Styles, now Ready. More than sixty years of experience is woven into every garment. Charge accounts are invited and your money is held on deposit until every transaction gives perfect satisfaction.

Clothing is our special hobby, but it is not amiss to say that we are the Largest Distributors of Stetson Hats and that the Standard we maintain in our Men's and Boys' Furnishings and Hat Departments must necessarily be on a par with our Clothing, for which we've had a national reputation for more than half a century.
